WELFARE BUREAU

Does Some Excellent Work in the Observance of Thanksgiving Day

Newton people and organizations were forehanded in their thought for families who might need Thanksgiving cheer, for some days previous to the holiday the following individuals and organizations, through the Welfare Bureau, had made plans for substantial Thanksgiving dinners for certain Newton families:

Flower Club, Newton Centre M. E. Church.

Intermediate Dept., Church school of the Abundant Congregational Church.

Miss Harriet M. Taylor's Sunday School class, North Congregational Church.

Miss Olcott's Sunday School class of the Newtonville M. E. Church.

Church school, Union Church in Waban.

M. E. Church, Newton Upper Falls.

Mrs. Fred Ford's Sunday School class of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church.

DeMolay Commandery.

Dalhousie Lodge of Masons.

Chestnut Hill School.

Newton Ladies' Home Circle.

Girl Reserves, Newton Y. W. C. A.

The Kappa Omega Phi Club, Auburndale.

Emblem Club, No. 8.

Auburndale Woman's Club.

Stearns School Centre.

Newtonville Girl Scouts, Troop 28.

Newtonville Girl Scouts, Troop 22.

Newtonville Girl Scouts, Troop 1.

Newton Centre Girl Scouts, Troop 23.

Waban Girl Scouts, Troop 4.

Mrs. George R. Whitten.

Mrs. Marcus Morton.

Miss Mabel L. Riley.

Mrs. P. C. Warren.

Mrs. L. H. Rogers.

Mrs. Leon B. Rogers.

The pupils of the Mason, Underwood, Horace Mann, Claffin, Adams, Peirce, Williams and Burr schools made Thanksgiving offerings, and these offerings of youthful generosity were given to the Welfare Bureau to distribute to Newton's needy families. Such a profusion of fruits, vegetables, canned goods, groceries and delicacies the teachers of the schools had never seen.

In addition, Vivian Taft of Grade V and M. L. Eddington of Grade IV, Williams School, sent cash, and Richmond Vanderwyk of the Claffin School sent a substantial dinner.

Always, Newton's rotarians remain true to their pledge to render community service when needed, so when Mr. Osgood of the Garden City Laundry was asked if he could collect the school supplies and later distribute them from the Welfare Bureau's rooms to designated families, he promptly replied that he would lend trucks and men for that purpose and added that the Welfare Bureau might count on the service every year.

All day from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., a Garden City Laundry truck was collecting loads from the schools and unloading them at the Welfare Bureau's offices. When all the good things were carefully stored, the staff of the Welfare Bureau wished it might have been possible to hold the supplies 48 hours and Newton's adult citizens be invited in to see and ponder on the generosity of its youthful citizens. The wish could not be gratified, for all that rich store had to be bagged and ready for delivery the next morning.

At 7 o'clock in the evening, promptly to the minute, seven gracious, gentle young women from the Blue Triangle Club of Newton Y. W. C. A. and 15 husky Boy Scouts from Troop 1, Newtonville, and Troop 7, West Newton, were in the Bureau's rooms ready to pack all the good things into the bags. For a few minutes, the entire group stood in admiration of the beauty and profusion of the school pupils' generosity. Then they fell to work. How the offices echoed with boyish laughter, with hurrying feet, with the bustle of well directed and joyful efficiency and activity!

In an hour's time, the supplies which had required nearly an entire day to collect were snugly stored and securely tied in burlap sugar bags.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

On Commonwealth Ave. Expected to Save City About $12,000 Annually

The three automatic traffic signals which have recently been installed on Commonwealth avenue at the intersections of Centre, Walnut and Washington streets, will, according to Chief Burke of the Police Department, save the city about $12,000 each year. These signals will make it possible to dispense with the services of the traffic policemen who formerly were on duty at the three points where the signals have been installed. The men have been assigned to other duties. Chief Burke hopes to have other signals of this type placed at points along the avenue and co-ordinated so that automobiles moving at the rate of twenty miles an hour, may, under ordinary conditions, travel along the entire length of the avenue without delays.

There is one spot in Newton where an automatic signal will not be practical: at Nonantum Square in Newton Corner. Traffic there approaches from so many different directions and at so many angles, that to attempt to regulate it with an automatic signal, would invite accidents. With thousands of persons crossing the square, alighting from, and boarding the electric cars, and with the uncertain schedule of the cars of the Boston Elevated, it would be impossible for an automatic signal to safeguard at Nonantum Square. A traffic officer is a necessity at this point, and he must be a good one.

It is a frequent occurrence each day to have a string of several Elevated cars arrive at Nonantum Square, due to heavy traffic conditions between Boston and Newton. It would be interesting to observe just how an automatic signal would handle a situation such as this. Neither would such a signal care for the "jay walkers," or for old folks with poor sight and little folks with poor judgment.

tagged and ready for delivery on the morrow. Fifteen minutes later the Bureau's offices were quiet and silent. The laughing, joshing, friendly, efficient Boy Scouts had gone on to other duties—home studies, Scout meetings, etc. The young women of the Blue Triangle Club, after inquiring solicitously if there were not "last things" they could help clear away, also had gone, but in every corner of the Bureau's rooms were stacked bags, bulging with good things to eat—the visible symbols of youthful generosity poured out in generous offering to the needy; of youthful efficiency in service.

The next morning (the day before Thanksgiving) the Bureau's offices had just opened their doors when two Garden City Laundry trucks with four men backed up to the doors ready for the task of distribution, and until late in the afternoon the loaded trucks traveled away from 12 Austin street to the various villages of Newton.

The staff of the Welfare Bureau wishes to publicly acknowledge their appreciation of the untiring, sympathetic interest Mr. Jason C. Hatch in charge of the Garden City Laundry (Thanksgiving Service) displayed in handling the collection and distribution of the Thanksgiving supplies.

One hundred and fifty families who might have had little or nothing were bountifully supplied—some with substantial dinners, including chicken or a roast, with all the "fixings"—other families with bags generously filled with fruit, vegetables, and delicacies of all kinds. So ended another Welfare Bureau Thanksgiving festival. The staff went home trusting that peace and plenty were in every home.

30TH BIRTHDAY

Sarah Hull Chapter D. R. Observes Its Anniversary

On Thursday, Dec. 1st, at 2:30 o'clock Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., celebrated its thirty-first anniversary, at the home of Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher, 260 Franklin street, Newton. The special guests of the afternoon were the members of the Williams Dawes Junior Chapter, several of whom, Jeannette Houghton, Robert Fernald and Grosvenor Calkins, provided delightful music before the entertainment by Miss Dorothy Berry Carpenter, whose wit and charm delighted her audience. As the affair was in the form of a birthday party all business was omitted in order to make it a truly gala affair.

Arabella, a beautiful doll which the chapter is to present to The New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children, was on exhibition during the afternoon. This doll is to go as a Christmas gift and it is hoped she will live long and give much pleasure to the little invalids.

Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, State Regent, Mrs. Sidney R. Porter, Chapter Regent, Mrs. John G. Moore, Junior Director, Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher, Hostess, Master Marshall Barnes, President of the Junior Chapter, and Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, Honorary Regent and the founder of Sarah Hull Chapter, were in the receiving line. In the dining room the table was presided over by Mrs. John G. Moore, assisted by Mrs. D. Adelbert Fernald, assisted by Mrs. D. Goodridge and Mrs. W. L. Ratcliffe.

The hostesses were Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, Mrs. Sidney R. Porter, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, Mrs. Raymond S. Everett, Mrs. Charles A. Durant, Mrs. Everett W. Crawford, Mrs. W. L. Ratcliffe, Mrs. John G. Moore, Mrs. Robert Estabrook, Mrs. Stephen W. Holmes, Mrs. Arthur C. Johnson, Miss Nettie Stone and Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher.

THE HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB

Together with a well-rounded program of choral music, the Highland Glee Club of Newton, Inc., will present at its concert this month Mr. Richard Burgin, a violinist who is well-known not only in this country, but abroad as well. Mr. Burgin is the concert master of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and has conducted the orchestra several times this season in the absence of Mr. Koussevitsky.

This year's concert by the Highland Glee Club will be given on Tuesday evening, December 13, in the High School Auditorium. The Club at present comprises some sixty active members, who have been rehearsing since early Fall for this appearance.

The Club is supported by associate memberships at $5.00 a year, and each associate member receives two tickets to this concert and to the Spring concert in March. All of the money received by the Club is devoted toward the improvement of the concerts given for the benefit of its members, and all music lovers who reside in Newton and vicinity are invited to become associate members. Names may be given to any active member of the Club, or sent to Mr. Sherman L. Smith, 159 Warren street, Newton Centre.

MARGARET SLATTERY HERE

Speaks at Newton Highlands on "Sons of Women and Daughters of Men" Before Men's Club

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, Margaret Slattery discussed the subject "Sons of Women and Daughters of Men" on Tuesday evening.

No one, from Miss Slattery's viewpoint, can pose as the answer to the problem of the youth of today. If models or examples are put before the growing boy and girl and they are told what "so and so" lectures, publishes, or broadcasts, on what they should do, they will not heed this advice. Even though times have changed, people have not changed. The circumstances under which this generation is growing up is the reason for most of the unrest in the modern home. The parents of today are no better than their sons and daughters, therefore, they should be fair to them and to the day in which they live.

We have a younger set of parents who are a product of the World War. When masses of men are with evil and wrong and then come back to civilization, it takes much time and many years to absorb all the things that were before the great turmoil. Dancing, drinking, gambling, and exchange of wives aren't anything new—they have always existed. Thrills are ages old but today or yesterday homes couldn't be built on thrills, and then a thrill isn't a thrill after a while. The conditions for the best life are usually found in an ordinary home with an ordinary father and mother.

Just as a physician never wishes to operate on members of his own family, so the parents never know or understand their own children.

It is the fault of the parents that made their youngsters live. They never asked to come into the world, their fathers and mothers made them. They had nothing to say about it.

The children of the past generations have followed creeds of religion or their parents and ancestors. If the parents were Protestant, Catholic or Jewish, so were the children that came after them. Likewise in politics, if Republican or Democrat so were the next in line. This is the first generation that has dared to break from the old idea of following like a flock of sheep. They are honest enough not to join anything or sign anything unless they intend to live up to that promise, and unless they believe in that promise.

Environment and heredity do not make character. It may be made with both or in spite of either. When mother and father give in to a child's whim the question of why they do is usually answered in this fashion: "It is so much easier to give him a drink of water than to have him holler for it for half an hour."

A disciplined will is lacking in many of the younger folks of today. Why—because they have always followed "the rest" or "the crowd" and die what they did because they did it, and not because it was something that an individual mind wanted to do. Individuality is going out, and they follow like a herd of sheep.

The difficulty in meeting this question is not in our great systems of education, not in our great systems of trade and commerce, but the difficulty lies in our comfortable chairs. "No" is very seldom the answer when Dad or Mother is comfortably settled in an easy chair and sometimes it is too late to think when they have given an answer to an evening's entertainment. Often great wrongs are committed which could have been avoided by a few stern words spoken earlier in life. The man or woman that goes through life without ever having "No" said to them are almost sure to make a wreck of marriage.

Times have changed and our children are more physically fit than ever before. Compare a girl in her teens today with one of yesterday. The freedom that she has and the health that is hers. If a girl of yesterday had anything exciting come into her life, she fainted. Imagine a girl of this age fainting or climbing upon a chair at the sight of a mere mouse.

"Sons of women and daughters of men!" Women have always shown more partiality to their sons. Fathers have always been more lenient with their daughters. The daughters are going to do everything that the sons have ever done. A girl of today demands that the same responsibilities in life be given to man and woman alike. If a daughter should break the ten commandments, the same standard that applies to the son should apply to her. He is no better or no worse. They do not think in sex terms but on human terms. The modern boy needs a chaperone as much as the modern girl. If the son of the house has a key and can come in at any hour, so has the girl a right to. She is just as able to take care of herself as he is.

The home should be the centre of fun and when it is the cleanest fun young life can adjust itself to it just as quickly as it can to a "frat" dance or a "College Hop." The social ambitions of parents, usually the Mother, are many times the cause of downfall in a family. For fear their sons or daughters are going to be "left out" of some social function, they will do anything and usually too much towards occupying the position of "social leader."

Motion pictures in the life of growing boys and girls, especially under ten, and between that age and sixteen are harmful. There are a few good educational films and a few historical novels that have been well screened, but they are in the minority. The only emotions stirred by seeing the others are the sex emotions, because they are all over-emphasized.

The sons and daughters of today are more honest, more daring, and talk about things their parents never thought of talking about. In closing Miss Slattery said, "Aren't they worth helping? I know their weaknesses and I know their greatness. I thank God for what they are going to be."

At the close of the talk Mr. Manning, chairman of the meeting, asked for questions and some of those asked were "Do the colored sections in the Sunday paper harm the children?" What are the advantages, if any, of the private school over the public? In answer to this query, the speaker said that there was no advantage except that the teachers probably have had more benefits in fitting themselves for that position than the public school teachers. Private schools make a definite class distinction which is wrong in a democracy.

CANDIDATES AT WEST NEWTON

The West Newton Business Men's Association has followed the lead of other similar organizations in extending an invitation to the various aspirants for political office at the coming city election to be their guests previous to the campaign and outline their platforms and attitude toward various public questions. Thursday evening, December 8, is the date chosen for the West Newton meeting and a cordial invitation has been extended to the respective candidates for mayor, and to all of the score or more aldermanic candidates, a sufficient number having already responded with their acceptance to promise an unusually interesting meeting.

President George P. Brophy of the West Newton business men's organization will preside. Either President Brophy or some other representative of the association will give a brief outline of the various matters of proposed legislation in which West Newton business men, and the residents of that section, are interested and the candidate will be invited to express their views on several specific topics. They will also be permitted to discuss matters of a more general interest as applied to the city as a whole.

All West Newton business men are invited to attend, whether or not they have yet become members of the association. The meeting will be held in Players' Hall, beginning at eight o'clock, with every indication that the program will be an extended and interesting one. The custom of setting aside one evening just prior to each city election for the purpose of listening to the various aspirants to public office, inaugurated several years ago at Auburndale, has come to be a popular one with other organizations and officers of the comparatively new West Newton Business Men's Association have received many requests that such a meeting be arranged in that village. The matter was considered at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors and arrangements made at that time for the meeting announced for December 8.

NEW PRESIDENT

Mr. Harry H. Hanson, for the past eight years vice president and general manager of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, has been elected president of the Company and took office on December 1st. Mr. Hanson succeeds Mr. Pitt F. Drew, who retires to become chairman of the directors.

Mr. Hanson will continue as general manager of the company.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The twenty annual sale of Christmas Seals for the prevention of tuberculosis opened on Thanksgiving Day and will continue until Christmas. With the funds derived from the sale, the tuberculosis associations throughout the Commonwealth, in close harmony with the state and local health officials, carry on an energetic campaign throughout the year to reduce the annual toll of human lives from this disease. Notable progress has been made in this field since the inauguration of the Seal Sale twenty years ago.

Success or Failure?

Successful men are the men who save. They have acquired the habit of laying something by. They stay inside their incomes by a safe margin. Early in their careers they build up a surplus that is later expressed in homes and independence. You can attain success by applying the same system in your own affairs.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

LETTERS AWARDED TO MANY ATHLETES

At a meeting of the athletic committee of the Newton high school on Wednesday afternoon, letters were awarded to the varsity, intermediate varsity, and junior varsity and numerals to the freshman football teams for the season past. Schedules for the three winter sports, hockey, basketball, and indoor track were also approved.

Varsity "N's" were awarded to eighteen players and the managers as follows: P. F. Andres, R. M. Bennett, S. C. Brown, Captain R. B. Cole, F. Duane, C. Gatchell, J. Gilligan, C. T. Hamilton, D. O. Gardner Reynolds was appointed manager for next year. Newton requires an athlete to play a set number of periods in scheduled games but in several cases this was waived because of the spirit displayed by several of the boys during the season. Wednesday, Feb. 23—Medford at Newton.

Saturday, March 3—State Meet at East Armory.

All the home meets will be staged at three o'clock in the afternoon in the old gymnasium building except the Alumni meet which will take place in the evening. The meet at Brookline on the fourth of February will probably be staged in the evening. Total points scored in both of the Brookline meets will decide the winner as in the past few years. This plan was inaugurated so that each team, which usually has a great advantage at home due to knowledge of its own track conditions, would not have an advantage over the other.

Much interest is being taken in basketball, resumption of which as an interscholastic sport will be resumed this winter after a lapse of a dozen or more years. Coach Raymond Green expects to see the squad to be strengthened next week when Dan. Harrington and Norman Payne, who have been taking a rest from athletics since the football season ended, report for practice. Last year in the intramural games they were two of the most likely looking prospects in the school. Other leading candidates are Spencer deMille, who took up the sport this year for the first time, whose height and reach should permit him to get the jump on any schoolboy center around. This week a series of junior-senior and freshman-sophomore games were begun. On Tuesday two teams of seniors and three teams of juniors were picked from among the candidates from these two classes. The varsity squad which opens its schedule on January 10th will be picked largely from these players. Each team has ten men so that when games are played there will be enough players on hand to play. Four teams of sophomores and four teams of freshmen were also picked and from these teams the intermediate varsity, junior varsity and freshman fives will be chosen later. Schedules will be arranged for all teams. At present it is planned to enter the freshman five in a league to be composed of four teams the other three of which will be the Levi Warren Jr. High, the Frank A. Day Jr. High and the Bigelow Jr. High. A round robin tournament will be staged. Frank Simmons will coach the intermediate varsity, Lucius P. Jones the junior varsity and Abner Bailey the freshman team. Herbert D. Tinker is assisting Mr. Bailey who at present has charge of the intramural games in the senior-junior and sophomore-freshman divisions. The varsity schedule follows:

Tuesday, Jan. 10—Rindge at Newton.

Friday, Jan. 13—Needham at Needham.

Tuesday, Jan. 17—Cambridge Lat. at Newton.

Friday, Jan. 20—Rindge at Rindge.

Wednesday, Jan. 25—Belmont at Newton.

Friday, Jan. 27—Everett at Everett.

Tuesday, Jan. 31—Beverly at Newton.

Thursday, Feb. 2—Watertown at Watertown.

Monday, Feb. 6—Camb. Lat. at Camb.

Wednesday, Feb. 8—Needham at Newton.

Tuesday, Feb. 14—Everett at Newton.

Saturday, Feb. 18—Beverly at Beverly.

Roy Atkinson, school sports editor of the Boston Transcript. The first is chosen only from the teams that played against Newton while the other is chosen from Newton and its 1927 opponents.

All home games will be played in the new high school gymnasium at three o'clock in the afternoon. The majority of games away from home will be played in the afternoon also although the games at Needham, Everett and Beverly will be played in the evening. The time of the game at Watertown has not yet been decided.

The hockey schedule which was printed in these columns a few weeks ago was approved as it stood. Since that time however two games have been filled in on open dates. On January fourth the sextet will face the Boston College freshmen on the Bul-loughs Pond rink while on the eighteenth they will meet Brighton on the same surface.

Several of the choices were selected by a narrow margin. Atwood, left tackle on the Everett team gave Jim Ryan the Brookline pride a close run for the position. Tremblay of Lawrence was a good centre but was so far overshadowed by the playing of Gatchell in the Newton-Lawrence game that Marshall of Medford was awarded the position. Clarke, the crack quarterback of the Lawrence was close to Fisher for the quarterback berth but the fact that the Newton team was watching Janis so closely probably gave the former the chance to shine in the game with Newton. Another close choice was made in picking Rollins over Walls of Medford. The latter was one of the best fullbacks to play against the orange and black but Rollins was such a star on both the offense and defense on Thanksgiving Day morning that the Newton mentor felt he was entitled to the berth.

In picking the team chosen from the Newton eleven and the team it met this season Mr. Atkinson placed the three Newton players who were named on the All-Suburban league team chosen by a consensus choice from the coaches of the league teams. Inasmuch as these three players stood out above their opponents in nearly every game of the season they were clearly entitled to such recognition. He also named Atwood at left guard in order to give the Everett star his due.

Scheinfain is High Scorer

Everett Scheinfain, left end of the championship Newton high school football team was the high scorer for the team this season. Of the 49 points scored by members of the team the left end tallied 24. The individual records follow:

Elect Captain Tomorrow

The election of the 1928 football captain of the Newton high team will take place tomorrow morning when the team and coaches will meet for the annual team picture.

Two Newton Boys Chosen

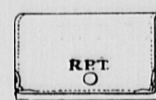

Two former Newton high school football players were chosen for the Transcript's New England Small College Selections. Robert Adams, former Newton end and captain and Bowdoin end for the past two years was given the left wing berth on the second team and William Alexander, a former Newton guard and present Bowdoin guard, was given the right guard position on the same team.

The All-Suburban Team

The Boston Transcript's All-Suburban league team for 1927 chosen from the consensus choice of the six league teams' coaches is out. Each coach names a team composed of players in the league circuit with the exception of players on his own eleven. In this way a player must get five votes to be a unanimous choice. The team includes Scheinfain of Newton at left end, Atwood of Everett and Ryan of Brookline as tackles, Cochran of Somerville and Shea of Newton as guards, Gatchell of Newton at centre, Fisher of Everett at quarterback, Hilliard of Cambridge and Murphy of Somerville as halfbacks and Rollins of Brookline at fullback. Thus Newton gets three places, Somerville three, Everett two, Brookline two and Cambridge Latin one. Three of the eleven were unanimously named. These were Scheinfain, Hilliard and Fisher. GIRL SCOUTS

The course in Red Cross Life Saving being given at the Lasell Pool for Newton Girl Scouts is working out very satisfactorily. Although the class was originally limited to 10 members because of the small pool, it finally expanded itself to 14. Thirteen of these girls have already passed the Red Cross Swimmers test which consists of swimming 100 yards using 2 different strokes, swimming 50 feet on the back, entering the water head first, surface dive in 8 feet of water, floating one minute motionless, and are now progressing rapidly on the Junior Life Saving Test. We hope that they may all become Life Savers by Christmas time and at the same time qualify for the Swimmer's merit badge. If there is sufficient demand for a new class and the pool is still available, a new group will start in after Christmas. The girls in the present group come from 5 different villages, Auburndale, Newtonville, Newton Highlands, Upper Falls, Waban. The course is given by the Newton Field Captain assisted by Marjorie Whitaker and Eleanor Burnham of Waban, both of whom are Red Cross Senior Life Savers and Girl Scout Golden Eaglets.

It is with great regret that the Newton Council Girl Scouts announces the resignation of Miss Joanne Kenrick as chairman of the Court of Awards. Miss Kenrick has served in this capacity for a number of years and it has been largely due to her unflagging interest and enthusiasm that the merit badge work done by the Newton Girl Scouts has been so efficiently organized and kept at such a high standard. At the rally held at the High School Gymnasium last April the Newton Girl Scouts presented Miss Kenrick with a gold Thanks Badge in recognition of the invaluable help that she had given to them.

Miss Kenrick will be succeeded by Mrs. Norman Bingham of West Newton.

The Newton Girl Scout magazine the "Treasure Hunt" has just made its maiden appearance. For a very modest sum one may subscribe for 8 copies of this publication which will appear monthly and will contain news of the troops as well as articles and stories by the Girl Scouts themselves.

RESTRAIN DOGS

At the meeting next Monday night of the Board of Aldermen Mayor Childs will recommend the passage of an order requiring all dogs in this city to be restrained from running at large for a period of 90 days. This action follows the suggestion made on Tuesday at a conference held at the State House by chiefs of police and health officers of Greater Boston.

Mr. Frank B. Cummings of this city, director of the division of animal industry in the Department of Conservation, has the authority to issue such an order but prefers to wait for action by local authorities.

At the conference Mr. Cummings declared that if the restraint order is put into effect within the communities being considered, and if all stray, unlicensed and unknown dogs are disposed of, the present situation will be overcome. He warned that if the local authorities don't put out a restraint order for 90 days the division "can and feels that it is its duty to do so."

Earlier Mr. Cummings said that if the local boards of health feel that the situation has reached a point requiring restraint orders, it would be an opportune time for the various officials to see that unlicensed and stray dogs be eliminated "without publicity and in a humane way."

Before the vote was taken as to the advisability of restraint orders, the conference voted unanimously in favor of the restraint of dogs rather than muzzling. It was agreed that muzzling is ineffectual and cruel. By restraint is meant keeping the dogs on the owners' property, and taken out on the street only when leashed.

Opening the conference, Dr. Bigelow declared that it had been called because of the "very alarming increase in rabies in dogs in the State, particularly in the area around Metropolitan Boston." He said that the number had surpassed any year since 1917. Through October of this year 639 cases of rabies in dogs were reported. For the same period 259 heads were examined at the State laboratory and found positive. For the entire year in 1923 there were 274, but this number will be surpassed this year.

Pais End Season Sunday

Sunday afternoon at Cabot Park, Newton, the Newton Pais and the St. Mary's Catholic Club of Waltham will play the football game which has been postponed twice on account of the weather. As this game will end the season for these two teams both are hoping to finish with a victory. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

Church League Opens Season At The Y. M. C. A.

Record crowd marked the opening of the Norumbega Church League Basketball tournament. Two games full of life and good plays gave to the spectators a taste of real basketball which will be in evidence throughout the entire season.

The Auburndale Methodists were defeated by the Needham Congregationalists with a score of 25 to 13. Taylor of Needham scored heavily for his team giving them 14 points of the 25.

The second game between the Watertown Baptist and the Whitney Class of the Methodist Church was the most closely contested game. Both teams have been preparing for this battle and they both claim to be the topnotch team. Bacon from the start outshot all players and the passwork of the Baptist boys was the outstanding feature of the game. From the start the Whitney class had the gain but with the steady playing of the Baptist team they soon left the Whitney team far behind and they were unable to recover. The final score was Comrades of Baptist Church 35, Whitney, Meth. Church 26.

Mr. R. B. Simmons, and V. A. Anderson, Physical Directors of the Y. M. C. A. were the referees, and umpires, with Joe Purcell and W. Thompson as scorer and timer. The next game of the league will be played Thursday evening at 8:15. These games are open to the public with no charge. Immanuel Baptist will play the Newtonville Methodist and the Elliot will play Central of Newtonville.

Thieves Try for Game Receipts

Through the foresight of faculty manager Fred L. Woodlock of the Brookline High School, the receipts of the Newton-Brookline game probably escaped the clutches of thieves. The high school was broken into the holiday evening and although nothing was taken it is believed that they thought the money from the game would be found in the building. Several desks were ransacked and the lunchroom cash box opened. Recently the building was broken into following the annual school dramatics and $20 was stolen. With this in mind, Mr. Woodlock had the proceeds of the game safely under lock and key elsewhere than in the building, thereby saving them from theft.

Several Former Newton Players Home

As usual, several former Newton High players and athletes were among the spectators at the Brookline game last Thursday. Alan Shaw, former star outfielder on the Newton nine and now of Bewdoin, was there with his roommate, Bill Alexander, Newton and Bowdoin lineman. Shaw received an injury in football which will keep him out of athletics until the spring, when he should have little difficulty making the Bowdoin baseball team. Phil Perry, a champion swimmer when at Newton, who is now attending the University of Vermont, was home for the holiday. Last year as a freshman at the Burlington college he made the net berth on a hockey team without any previous experience and in competition with a goalkeeper of considerable experience. One of his best games was against the Army sextet when he turned away shot after shot. He recently had an interesting but not too pleasant experience when the college students were sent into the flooded region to help dig out the flooded homes. Mike Gullam was also among the spectators who saw the Brookline game, as were many others.

Hardy Elected to Council

Philip DeC. Hardy, former Newton High track athlete and Y. M. C. A. basketball star, was recently elected to the M. I. T. student council as a member of the Institute committee. Hardy is a freshman at Tech and is planning to go out for the basketball five.

Fitzgerald on Football Dance Comm.

Warren Fitzgerald of Newton was a member of the committee in charge of the annual football dance at the Copley Plaza on Saturday evening following the Boston College-Holy Cross game.

missed out by one vote as did Atwood, Everett, Tackie, and Radins, Brookline fullback. Shea got three out of the five votes along with Cochran the other guard and Murphy at halfback. Rondina of Somerville got two votes to win the right end position. The only other Newton player to get a vote was Gligan who was chosen for a halfback berth by Hines of Brookline because of his dropping-kicking ability. Creighton Gatchell is the only Newton man yet to be mentioned for an all-scholastic berth. The Post picked him while the other metropolitan papers have yet to announce their teams. The Advertiser named Jaconski of Lynde as the pivot man on its all-scholastic eleven.

Harvard And Dartmouth Alumni To Meet

Next Thursday night the amateur ice hockey season will be opened at the Arena when the Harvard and Dartmouth alumni teams oppose each other. It is quite interesting to note that many former Newton high hockey players will take the ice. Harvard will be led by George Owen, the greatest hockey player ever turned out at Newton. He will have among those on his squad several former Newton high players including Clark Hodder, Joe Stubbs and Clem Cody. Bill Ellison, another Newton youth who prepared for college at Country Day school will be a member of the team. The Green will be led by Ted Learnard, one of the strongest goal tenders the orange and black produced.

A New Kind of Christmas Story

Christmas Eve, and dog tired, hungry as a wolf, the outlaw cautiously made his way up the arroyo. Suddenly he came upon that poverty-stricken camp where Jim Godfrey was making his desperate struggle to wrest from the desert a bare existence for his family.

A meal, an hour's rest for man and horse, an easy ride to the Mexican border—and then he would snap his fingers at that blunderer of a sheriff who rode just too late behind him. Those were Montana Joe's plans.

The soft murmur of childish voices, as the Godfrey children described to distracted parents the treasures that Santa was to bring them in the morning, threw Joe's plans into the discard—and, out of this springs one of the most stirring and appealing stories you have ever read.

Once again the order is forthcoming to restrain all dogs in this city from running at large. This action is due to an alarming increase in cases of rabies in Greater Boston and a desire to protect the community from further spread of this dread disease. We feel certain that there will be an occasional resident who will protest against this infringement of his right to do as he pleases but as a whole we believe the order will be obeyed in general. Let us suggest also that a city as large as Newton is no place to keep a dog.

Newspaper reports indicate that the Legislature will again face an initiative petition to allow Sunday sports with paid admission after two o'clock on that day. It is evident that this measure will have strong support in the Legislature and will, undoubtedly, if refused, go on the ballot next November for action by the voters. Organizations which are opposed to bringing the European Sunday into this country must prepare for a bitter fight at the State House and later at the polls.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Note carefully the above report. Effort to bring the Newton Welfare Bureau Campaign for Maintenance Fund to required $10,000 has been long and diligent. But there is yet more than $1100 to be secured. Residents of each locality should note the amount credited to that village and make every effort to bring up the total to amount required. Perpetual need for help comes knocking at the door. The Newton Hospital does not accept certain cases. The city can not give any hire. No church interested there, no family, no friends. What shall we do for our needy neighbors? The Welfare Bureau will solve the problem and accomplish the work, if it has the means to meet both immediate and future needs.

KIWANIS CLUB

At the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday, seventy-five members were present. President "Clem" Colburn praised the enterprise of the Newton Rotary Club in bringing Dr. Charles R. Barker to Newton to give his lecture. James P. Gallagher contributed a baritone solo for the enjoyment of the club. The speaker of the day was Rev. Maurice L. Bullock, the new pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church at Auburn. He delivered an eloquent address on "The Principles of Kiwanis," in which he urged men to have a definite object in life, to be broad and unselfish in their views, and to pay due heed to spiritual ideals.

opinion was that dancing in the home or dances properly chaperoned were all right. If the parents dance, why shouldn't the children? In reply to the question of women smoking, the speaker said "I hate to see women when they are getting freedom, handicap themselves with the fetters of men."

The Highland Glee Club added to the enjoyment of the meeting with several selections.

CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

The Newton Choral Society is giving its sixteenth concert Tuesday evening, December 6, at 8 o'clock, at Central Church. This concert represents the effort of a large group of singers and music lovers to produce the finest type of music as one of the institutions of our city. Many members of this chorus have been associated in it under the gifted director, Mr. William Lester Bates, for a good many years. As a result of the faithful practice of both old and new members, the society is again concluding its rehearsals with every prospect that it will again put on a concert with the same high level of artistic excellence that has been accomplished at the former recitals of this organization. The program is a particularly fine one. "The Call of the Muezzin," by Rheinberger, is a dramatic and thrilling in its descriptive power. Two selections from Sullivan, "Golden Legend," are compositions of superb beauty with inspiring climaxes. There are also notable selections from Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Handel, Moussorgsky, etc.

The society presents an unusually fine program of assisting artists, including Gladys de Almeida, soprano; who recently sang for the Boston Apollo club, also the Boston Orchestral quartette. These fine musicians will present a delightful program.

REMARKABLE VALUES IN MEN'S CLOTHING

The "Hudson Clothes" store which recently opened next to the Waldorf Lunch at Nonantum Square, already is being largely patronized because of the remarkable values it is offering in suits and overcoats for men and boys. Although the one and only price, $18.50, which this concern charges for its clothes, caused many at first to be skeptical that good clothing can be purchased for such a low price, many residents of Newton and vicinity who visited the store were convinced that the suits and overcoats were equal in value to clothes sold at much higher prices in the big Boston stores, and they became ready purchasers.

The unbelievably low prices at which "Hudson Clothes" are sold are made possible because this company makes its own clothing, it has a number of retail stores in various cities in New England, it buys in big volume, sells in large quantities, has a low overhead and is satisfied with a small profit.

LODGES

Tonight Newton Lodge of Elks will hold a whist party at its rooms on Centre street the proceeds of which will be devoted to swell the Christmas Charity Fund of the Lodge. Another such party will also be held on Wednesday evening, December 14. The annual Staff Party of the Lodge will occur on Saturday night, December 17. This party will also be held to assist in raising funds to provide Christmas cheer for the worthy poor of Newton.

JANITORS ASK MORE PAY

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night, a request was received from the janitors of the Newton schools for a flat increase in wages of 36 per week. Nearly fifty men are employed in this work. The petition was laid on the table and a study will be made of the matter. Secretary George Kellar of the School Committee provided each member with charts showing the comparative wages received by janitors in Newton and in other places in and around Boston. These charts also showed the comparative amount of work done by Newton janitors as contrasted with those in other cities, and the number of hours worked. The request for the higher wages was made in accordance with action recently taken by the school janitors of the state at their convention in New Bedford. The rate of wages in Newton ranges from $26 to $28 per week for janitors who do only cleaning work, and from $26 to $34 for janitors who have other duties in addition to such work.

BURGLARS AT NEWTON

MAYOR CHILDS NEUTRAL

For some weeks a report has been circulated "that Mayor Childs favors the candidacy of one of the three men running for Ward Alderman in Ward 1." Mayor Childs, upon being questioned regarding this report, emphatically stated "that it is not true." He said, "that all three candidates for the office of Ward Alderman from Ward 1, are friends of his; that he is absolutely neutral in this fight, and will remain so." He remarked also, "that he does not approve of cards or circulars being distributed which will give the impression that his candidacy for Mayor is teamed up with the candidacy of some one who may be running for Alderman."

The Mayor believes that all candidates for office should run on their own merits.

OWL VISITS NEWTON HOUSE

Miss Florence Hopwood of 181 Charlesbank road, Newton Corner, received the thrill of her young life, when upon awakening Saturday morning, her gaze rested on a queer object perched on the top of the dresser in her bedroom. At first she thought it was a gigantic bat and her screams quickly brought her mother, Mrs. James Hopwood, to her aid. Mrs. Hopwood, who is a native of New Hampshire, readily recognized the intruder as a young gray owl. It had flown in an open window during the night, and selected the top of the mirror frame on the dresser as a desirable resting place.

Mrs. Hopwood obtained a bird cage and placed the owl in it. She still has it and the bird has been an object of interest to many of her friends. The only time it shows any activity during the daylight hours is when a small dog, the pet of the Hopwood household approaches the cage. Then the owl suddenly awakens from an apparently sound slumber and shows a real "scrappy" attitude towards the dog. Mrs. Hopwood intends to liberate the visitor within a night, or two.

About

MORTGAGES ON HOMES

Continuity of a mortgage is often a valuable feature. Mortgages held by individuals or even by Trustees are apt to be called for payment and frequently are called at times when the borrower finds it inconvenient either to pay or to secure the loan elsewhere.

A mortgage held by this bank is not apt to be called for payment if the terms are complied with and the valuation of the premises has not decreased.

To help the thrifty, small payments are accepted at any time even as small as ten dollars.

"CRASHES" GARAGE DOOR

Murray Rowlings of 254 Watertown street, Nonantum, was in the Waltham court Monday charged with damaging the Watertown Garage at 52 Galen street. According to the testimony of Milton Reinhardt, manager of the garage, Rowlings had some repair work done on his automobile there which cost $39. He paid $29, and when Reinhardt refused to allow him credit for the balance, Rowlings backed the car against the doors of the garage until he busted them open.

Rowlings testified that he paid the full amount due on the repairs but that Reinhardt wanted him to pay money on an old account. He also testified that he opened the doors in the regular manner, but that Reinhardt closed them as he started to back the car out. He was found guilty and the case was continued until December 5 for disposition.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Only 40 of the 111 patients in the hospital for the week ending November 24 paid as much as the cost of their care, or more, of the others 45 paid less than cost of care and 26, including babies, were free patients. The out-patient department treated 89 patients, the eye clinic 5 and there were 13 accident cases. Nine babies were born, four girls and five boys. The social service department made 12 calls at the hospital and transferred four patients in its car.

At the Fireside Service in the Nurses' Home last Sunday evening Prof. H. K. Rowe of the Newton Theological Institution talked on "Current Events" after which there was a concert by the Stuntzner trio of which Miss Stuntzner, one of the pupil nurses is the pianist, while her brothers play the cello and the violin.

The nurses whose birthdays were in November had their birthday supper last Tuesday evening.

Dr. Sidney Dalrymple, pathologist, was in charge of the monthly meeting of the hospital staff on Monday evening.

On Thursday afternoon Miss Eleanor Jones, the record librarian at the hospital, acted as hostess at the meeting at the hospital of the Association of Record Librarians.

Miss Daisy Pillman of Newtonville is teaching a dancing class at the Nurses' Home this winter.

On Thanksgiving Day between 7 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon there were eight accident cases and four emergency cases treated at the hospital. Of the accident cases treated during the week six were automobile accidents, a girl's lacerated lip, a child's lacerated right eye, a man's bruised hand, forehead and knee, a woman's lacerated hand, a man's deep laceration between the left thumb and first finger and a man's lacerated lower right leg. Of the other accidents there was the case of a boy who cut an index finger with a bottle, a girl who cut her forearm in putting it through a window, a child's right hand crushed in an electric wringer, a man cut over the right eye and about the neck by being hit by a chain, a child who ran into a table and received lacerations of the forehead and a man who received lacerations at the base of his right thumb by being hit by a chair.

Pays Better

Many a young man who leaves college with the intention of reforming the world, changes his mind and hunts a paying job.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Over at Brookline on Thanksgiving Day, as we watched with pleasure the thrilling struggle between Newton High and Brookline High, a game like a scoreless tie until "Joe" Gilligan made that great drop kick in the last minute of play, we reminisced with a prominent citizen of West Newton, who is one of Newton High's most loyal alumni, about the days when we attended the school. The football team had no coach, no trainer and no equipment in those days, except the meagre equipment the players themselves furnished.

No well trained band, of large size, was prepared to instill enthusiasm in the team and afford enjoyment to the spectators. "Bill" Anders once did organize a band of about six pieces, which attempted to imitate the music rendered by the little German bands, once a well known sight on our streets. "Bill" was a "live wire." He had a lot of good ideas. And, like all persons with initiative, he was suspected of being responsible for many things. Among the educational equipment of Newton High School in those days, was a skeleton made of papier-mache, or some such material. It was used to assist the pupils in the study of physiology, and ordinarily resided in a closet in one of the rooms. One morning, when the teachers and the pupils started to arrive at the old school building, this skeleton was dangling at the top of the flag-pole. Suspicion, naturally, was directed at "Bill."

But, to come back to the football game. One of the spectators at it was "Dave" Duane, who, 30 years ago was a star half-back at Newton High. "Dave" was an expert drop-kicker and scored many points for his team by using this method to propel the ball over opponents' goal posts. When "Joe" Gilligan's first attempt at a drop-kick in the Thanksgiving Day game failed to go into the goal, he merely "taxied" down the field, the old grad from West Newton said to us, "Oh! if Dave Duane was only in there now." But, when Joe Gilligan booted the pigskin cleanly over the goal posts a few minutes later, we both agreed that even Dave Duane could have done no better.

We recall going to Chelsea one day with the Newton High football team. The Chelsea football field was located on a dump. This dump, like most dumps, was full of humps and hollows, so that the footing for the players was very uncertain. So, between stumbling and getting tackled, the Newton backs hit the frozen cinders many times. They were a sorry looking bunch when that game was over. And much court plaster was used in patching them up.

THE VOTE SLACKER

The vote slacker's pet alibi is, "Oh, politics is so rotten." But the rottenest thing about politics is the vote slacker. Any citizen of the United States who is entitled to a vote and doesn't use it is cheating himself of direct, personal benefits as much as if he deliberately throws away money which he has toiled to earn. It is easy to say, "Oh, politics is so rotten, I have to quit voting." It is harder to take an intelligent interest in public life and to do one's bit toward electing the best men to office. That requires both intelligence and honest endeavor. Any country will always get the officials it deserves.

If one says that politics is rotten, the shame is his. Enough of us have not cared enough to keep them unstained. To believe that "politics is rotten," yet to shirk the simple duty of voting with good judgment to make them wholesome, is to tacitly imply a preference for rotten politics.—Los Angeles Times.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

An unusual selection of pictures depicting home life in Japan will be shown on Saturday afternoon at the Children's Museum of Boston, Jamaica Plain, by Miss Marguerite Rand. The slides were obtained by her from a man who had spent three years in securing the intimate glimpses of Oriental life to be shown.

In Japan, says Miss Rand, where boys and girls are taught to worship many gods, there is an ugly little sacred image called the God of Wealth. To say a prayer to the God of Wealth, the Japanese chew up a wad of paper and spit it in the face of the image. It is considered a good omen if the spit ball sticks to the idol's face.

Pictures of a Japanese wedding, of many unique customs of Oriental family life, and of the quaint gods of the roadsides will be explained in a talk by Miss Rand on Saturday, December 3, at 3:00 p. m.

ANNUAL FAIR

The annual fair of the North Congregational Church will be held next Wednesday afternoon at the evening. Aprons, domestic articles, food, grab-bags, candy, flowers and Christmas greens will be on sale. In the evening at 7:45 a play "Sardines" will be given with the following characters—Mattie Eaton, an attractive woman of middle age—Mrs. L. E. M. Lamb; Mr. Carroll, her guest from N. Y.; Miss Gladys Farquhar; Lizzie Pike, whose voice is as sharp as her tongue—Mrs. E. O. Childs; Lucy Watkins, whose deafness has made of her a wistful little person, Mrs. J. Porter; Alfreda, Mattie's clumsy and melancholy helper, Mrs. W. J. Butler.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONFERENCE

All who attended the recent Young People's Conference, held last Friday and Saturday, with Elliot Church as headquarters, felt that they had indeed attended a unique event, interesting, inspiring and also full of life and good fellowship.

It was evident to all that the committees had done a careful job as to making and carrying out the plans. Special thanks are due the program committee, who secured Professor Smith and Professor Mayer as the chief speakers, and Mr. H. L. Stright as director of the conference.

Professor Smith made the church hymn book a living human thing when he showed the people back of the hymns, the poets, national ambassadors and other laymen, as well as church leaders, who wrote the hymns for special purposes. He also made the hymns colorful by showing the setting in different countries and different ages when hymns were written. The hymns were made to speak their message through story and picture, with explanations and sidelights told in Professor Smith's inimitable style. Miss Marion Greene of Newton Centre helped greatly in the music periods by presiding at the piano.

Professor Mayer talked to the young people in a way that would help them to "discover themselves." He said, among other helpful things, that a good motto for everyone would be "Do what you want to be." He raised and answered such questions as "How much are you worth?" "How may I judge values?" "How far may I have personal liberty?" "Am I responsible for my motives and acts?" In the closing talk at the banquet he explained how the laws of hoarding and squandering do not bring us the joy of living, but rather the law of investment in worthwhile causes is the law that brings the glow and thrill of accomplishment and happiness.

New officers elected for the Young People's Inter-Church Council for the coming year were: President, Alastair Fraser of Auburndale; vice-president, Miriam L. Lockwood of Waban; secretary, Dora Cummings of Newton Centre. The next Council meeting is to be on Saturday evening, Dec. 3rd, at the Church of the New Jerusalem. Plans for Council activities in basketball, Easter programs and other phases of community or church work will be discussed.

D. A. R.

The members of the House Committee of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., will have a Christmas Sale and Tea in the parlors of the Unitarian Church, Washington street, West Newton, on Tuesday, December 6th, from 1 to 5:30 p. m.

WANTS "GREEK" TAUGHT

At the meeting of the Newton
School Committee on Monday night,
Elliott B. Church, member from Ward 1 made a plea to have the study of the ancient Greek language re-established in the Newton High School, as an elective subject. He praised the language as an educational asset and read letters from prominent educators who favor the teaching of it. He asserted that the World War was responsible for a lessening of popularity in the "classics," but that the demand for them is now returning. He presented a list of names of twenty-three students at Newton High School who desire to study Greek. He also stated that some of the teachers at Newton High would like to have the language taught there.Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education in Newton, admitted that ancient Greek is a noble language, but he doubted the wisdom of restoring it to the curriculum at Newton High. He is willing to try the proposition, but doubts its success. He explained that students who begin to study Greek when they enter high schools, as a rule, lose their interest in the language, and when the junior year arrives, the classes are very small.

OIL BURNER EXPLODES

An explosion occurred Tuesday morning in the cellar of the building at the corner of Adams and Watertown siderable damage resulted; some windows being broken and the walls and partitions in one store being moved several inches. No one was injured.

The Willow Does

A Vancouver writer attempts to answer the question, "Do animals weep?" Certain poets describe a stag as doing so, but when pinned down they admit they have never seen a stag, either weeping or laughing. Virgil describes a horse that wept behind its master's bier, but at a time long antedating that at which the writer lived. In short, there is no trustworthy evidence of the phenomenon.
The weeping of animals would be improbable, if only because they do not comprehend what human beings are,
and what they are doing, well enough to grieve about it. The case of the crocodile is different. It might very reasonably break down and cry every time it realizes it is a crocodile.

"I find that you are suffering from an assorted crop of suppressed desires.

of three types of complexes: superior, inferior and ulterior. Your thyroid gland is slightly out of focus, which neurologically your reactions are very poor. I find definite traces of dual personality and chronic melancholia.
You live in a dream world and are mixed up in five or six interlocking personalities. I think you are perfectly sane. Go ahead. No jury will convict you.""Thanks, Doc," gratefully answered Handed. "Do you know where I can have a dagger sharpened?"

Coined in Coconut

In Honolulu may be seen two coconut fire baskets, woven to represent in edifying King Liloa, who reigned over Hawaii in 1500 A. D., and his great-grandson, Lono-kama Koihihi. Inside the baskets are the bones of the kings.
Such coconut fiber baskets, shaped somewhat like an Egyptian mummy case, are extremely rare. These were found in one of the ancient burial caves of Hawaii. The Hawaiians often secreted the bones of dead kings in inaccessible caves to prevent despo-sition by an enemy.

Herculean Viewpoint

A colored man who owned a large wagon and a small horse was hired to haul away some trash from a home.
The trash contained many bricks and made an awkward load. As he was ready to drive away, the owner of the house said to him: "If you intend to haul such large loads you need a larger horse." The colored man replied: "If you had to lift him up every morning like I do you would think he is heavy enough."

"Jingoism"

Jingo is supposed to be derived from the mountain soldiers of Basque, who were employed by Edward I in Wales. The common oath of these Basque soldiers was "by Jingo." The modern use of Jingo really dates from McDermott's music hall song of 1878, when war with Russia was threatening Great Britain. The first line of the song ran: "We don't want to fight, but by Jingo, if we do."

Romance and Flowers in Long Association

In the development of gift-making
1. courtship a certain amount of romance centers around the flower. The flower is the gift of lovers, and in early Greek times a flower was worn as a sign of the engagement, the full-blossoming flower suggesting love awakened. The Polynesian men, as well as the women, wear flowers behind their ears when they are in love.
The survival of another picturesque medieval custom centering around the flower is found in the bride's flower girls of today. In olden times these little girls, usually sisters, dressed exactly alike, carried garlands of wheat before the bride in the marriage procession as a symbol of fruitfulness and plenty. The very old and universally observed custom of throwing rice after the departing bride and bridegroom as a symbol of a fruitful union had its origin with the ancient Persians. Rice has always played an important part in the marriage ceremony of these people, while the wheat shower, expressing the same sentiment, was common among the early Anglo-Saxons, and certain other people employed corn. Another interesting tradition regarding the rice shower is that rice was thrown after the bride and bridegroom for the purpose of giving food to the evil spirits that were believed to accompany newly married people, and that it was to appease these spirits that rice throwing originated.

Hawaiian Island Has Many Claims to Fame

Maui, one of the islands of the Hawaiian group, has for its motto the phrase "Maui no ka oi," meaning
"Maui the First." The island authorities have just cited a number of historical facts in support of their boast.
Maui has Haleakala, largest extinct volcano crater in the world, the scene in 1823 of the first Christian funeral of a Hawaiian chieftain. The earliest island newspaper, as well as the first on the Pacific ocean, was published there in 1841. The paper was called Ka Ika Hawaii, meaning The Arm of Hawaii.David Molo, earliest Hawaiian historian, was a Maui man. The island also had the first telegraph line stretching between Hailu and Wailuku in 1878.
The first Hawaiian wheat was planted at Makawao, Maui, in 1845, and not long afterward the first potato plantation was started at Kula, where tu-bers were raised for the California gold miners.

Oxygen in Air

Normal air contains about 21 per cent of oxygen, says the United States bureau of mines. Man works best at this proportion of oxygen. A candle or oil flame will not burn in atmosphere containing less than approximately 16 1/2 per cent oxygen, yet man is sufficiently adaptable to get along fairly well in 17 per cent of oxygen.
He will breathe a little faster and a little deeper. But most men cannot work in air with oxygen below 13 per cent, the point where an acetylene flame is extinguished by oxygen deficiency. In an atmosphere containing between 10 and 13 per cent oxygen, men become dizzy, faint, have a rapid heart beat, and often suffer from headache; 8 to 10 per cent usually produces unconsciousness and ultimately death.

Trolope's Cigars

Lord Birkenhead recently boasted a lifelong devotion to cigar smoking, but he can hardly claim to have given more thought and time to his hobby than did Anthony Trolope, remarks
the Manchester Guardian. Trolope, as soon as his income was large enough to stand the expense, had one entire wall of his library equipped with sliding doors and numbered. These he kept filled with choice cigars, laid across and across like planks of timber, to get thoroughly seasoned. True to the Trolope tradition, he worked through the bins in methodical fashion, reeling each as it was emptied with special imports from Havana.
Thus, he declared, he attained the most perfect smokes in the world.

Porpoise's Fish Appetite

The porpoise has a great appetite, is feeding constantly as opportunity offers and lives principally on fish, and scientists were able recently to get a clew to the number of fish a lively porpoise may eat when a giant porpoise was caught and 15,193 otoliths were found in its stomach.
The otolith is the earbone of a fish, is very hard, supposed to be the last remnant of a fish that is reduced by the chemical process in the mamma's stomach, and the large number found may be far less than the number of fish served live and wriggling for the satisfaction of the porpoise. At any rate, it bids fair to hold first place as a fish eater.

The Arabian Nights

The author of the original Arabic work, and the period in which it was composed, is unknown. But the Arabian Nights, as it stands at present, is the work of many hands, and numerous references in the stories show that they were added at different times. The work was introduced into Europe from Syria, where it was obtained in the latter part of the Seventeenth century, by Antoine Galland, a French traveler. It was first translated and published by him between 1704 and 1717.

WILL ARREST ABSENTEES

Members of Company C of the 101st Infantry, the local company of the National Guard, who persistently fail to attend the weekly drills of the company, will be arrested and punished, according to Capt. Thomas Hickey of the company. He will act under orders from the higher officers of the guard.
Non-commissioned officers will make the arrests and bring the delinquents to the armory. Last Monday a number of members of Company C who had not appeared for drill, were located by telephone and warned that unless they came to the armory at once, a detail would be sent to place them under arrest. They came without delay. This method has been used in other cities in the state.

POLICE NEWS

Giacom DePuccio of Adams street, Newton, was fined $100 in the Newton court on Friday for stabbing Francesco Bianchi recently in a lunchroom on Adams street. DePuccio had formerly been in Bianchi's employ, and when the two met, one night recently, in the lunchroom, an argument started which resulted in DePuccio badly damaging his former employer with a knife.

Nicolo Civetta of 16a Middle street, Newton, was fined $25 in the Newton court on Friday for assaulting Patrolman John McGrath early that morning when the officer was placing him under arrest. He was also given a suspended sentence of one month to the House of Correction for drunkenness. McGrath and other policemen went to Civetta's home and arrested him, another man and a woman for drunkenness.

John McLaren of Nonantum was in the Newton court yesterday charged with assault and battery on Catherine Holden, twelve years of age. The girl's parents had McLaren brought into court on the charge that he had attacked her. McLaren denied the charge and testified that the Holden girl was one of a group of children who had bothered him by ringing his doorbell on Hallowe'en night. He stated that his wife and children were ill at that time and the persistent ringing of the bell annoyed them. City Physician Lowe testified that he had examined the girl two weeks after the alleged assault was supposed to have been made, and he found no bruises or marks on the girl's hip. The case was continued until December 3.

D. A. R.

The Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., held its last meeting on Nov. 28th at the Woman's Club "Workshop" at Newton Highlands. The subject for the afternoon was "International Relations" and the speaker, Miss Lucy E. Allen of West Newton, a past regent of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., told most charmingly of her visits to Geneva and attendance at the International meetings.

The Chapter was glad to welcome again Miss Doris Smith who sang several selections accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Raymond A. Simonds. The hostesses were Mrs. S. A. Smith, Mrs. S. H. Chamberlain, Miss Emily Fanning, Mrs. J. P. Freese and Mrs. H. W. Langley.

DOWST-KINGSFORD

The Rev. William Lathrop Clark officiated at the marriage Saturday evening of Miss Vivien Askew Kingsford, daughter of Mrs. Alice M. Kingsford and the late Arthur Kingsford of the Riverway, to Mr. Philip Butland Dowst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Dowst of Newton Centre. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Brookline, and Mrs. Kingsford gave her daughter in marriage. Miss Vera A. Kingsford was her sister's maid of honor, Mrs. Arnold Dickinson Brundage, Jr., of Salem acted as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Ruth B. Melvin and Ruth M. Walton.

The bride wore a gown of silver brocade lace and a duchess lace veil, held in shape by a cap-shaped head-dress of old duchess lace and orange blossoms that had been worn by her mother and had as her flowers a sheaf of Easter lilies. Her attendants were frocked alike in yellow transparent velvet, topped with hats of copper-colored velvet, with which they carried arm bouquets of chrysanthemums. Mr. Robert Dowst of New York was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Ralph Puffer, Newton; Lee O. Hodgkins, Robert A. Young and Nathan C. Morse. The reception at the conclusion of the ceremony was held at the College Club. Mr. Dowst and his bride will be "at home" after Jan. 1 at 77 Morton street, Newton Centre. He was graduated from Boston University in 1919.

SOMERSET FARMS CREAM AGAIN TAKES FIRST PRIZE

At the Maine Dairymen's Association convention held last week the Norridgewock Creamery, one of the three creameries furnishing the supply marketed by the Somerset Farms of Boston, captured the much coveted first prize for quality.

Each year Frank H. Turgeon, the genial manager of Somerset Farms, is pretty sure to receive a Thanksgiving offering in the nature of one of more prizes at the Dairy meet and it is becoming a custom among his many friends to expect a report of this nature. He, nevertheless, is receiving the hearty felicitations of his customers and friends on his latest prize award and the many Brookline residents who insist upon Somerset Farms cream for their table will be in this note of congratulations. Mr. Turgeon's slogan is "Cream for those who want quality," and each year he lives up to it.

ROTARY CLUB

The Newton Rotary Club were the guests Monday noon at luncheon of Bachrach, Inc., the president of which, Mr. Louis F. Bachrach, is a resident of West Newton and a member of the Boston Rotary Club.

After a delicious luncheon served by Percy Hicks, Rotarian, of Lynn, Mr. Bachrach gave a brief talk about photography, first stating that this business was established by his father in 1868.

The party were then shown all over the extensive plant which was formerly the home of the Stanley Automobile Company.

The Bachrach organization is said to be the largest portrait photograph business in the world, doing a business of over $1,700,000 annually. It employs 500 persons and makes 45,000 portraits annually. The organization has 42 different studios in all parts of the United States and all the finishing work is done at the Newton plant. Mr. Bachrach stated that last year at Christmas time, they shipped 28 trucks a day to New York alone.

SMITH-HAYES

One of the prettiest of the season's weddings was solemnized on Saturday, Nov. 26, at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton R. Hayes, 62 Hartford street, Newton Highlands, when their daughter, Gwendolyn Guy, was married to Mr. William Hooker Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fred Smith of Hopedale.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow of Newton Highlands. The music was by the Stevens Trio. Paxton of Newton catered. The decorations were from Anderson's Conservatories at Natick.

The bride wore white satin and tulle and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Two dainty little misses, six and ten years old, sisters of the bride, carried the rings in pretty flower baskets. Two other sisters, Phyllis and Miriam, also attended the bride, carrying bouquets of sweet peas. The attendants were attired in pastel shades of taffeta and tulle.

The groom was attended by Mr. William J. Turnbull, Jr., of Bridgewater, a former roommate of the groom at Staunton Military Academy at Staunton, Va.

After a honeymoon tour including New York, Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., and Staunton, Va., the couple will reside in Newtonville.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

COMING EVENTS

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

Tomorrow, Dec. 3, Mrs. Mildred Stratton, a Club member, opens her home, 15 Glenmore terrace, for the Shakespeare Club. Mrs. W. J. Bicknell is in charge of the Quiz on the fourth and fifth acts of Macbeth. Enjoyment of these delightful works of a master craftsman does not wane, indication, indeed, that modern so-called literature evolved by modern minds cannot compete with the real and eternal.

Newton Mothers' Club

On Monday, the 5th, comes the regular monthly meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club, at 3 o'clock, at Mrs. Henry K. Hallett's Highland street home, with Mrs. Stanley M. Bolster, president, presiding. The hostesses of the afternoon are Mrs. Ernest F. Lovejoy and Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd. The program promises to be a most attractive and instructive one. Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving of Grace Episcopal Church at Amherst will speak on "Our Boys." Constructive ideas are sure to be the outgrowth of a lecture of this kind for mothers.

Newton Community Club

Monday afternoon, the 5th, the Hunnewell Club parlors don gala dress for the festive bridge by which the Newton Community Club raises its funds for their various worthwhile philanthropies. Club members will vie in this donning of attire to match or harmonize with the floral and other decorations, and young girls will complete the attractive picture while they tempt with packages of candy and nuts.

The next regular Club meeting falls on Thursday, the 8th, when the Program Chairman, Mrs. Sidney Peterson, plays a trump card in presenting Prof. Kirtley F. Mather, who is just now so in the limelight in our city. Not only is Prof. Mather one of Harvard's most popular lecturers with his classes, and exceedingly popular in the Religious Forums held Sunday mornings at the Newton Centre Club House that are bringing forth the business men in keen interest, but he is about to assume stellar brilliancy, having been secured by the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the leading role in their play, "A Prince There Was," to be given the previous evening. These facts about him should bring out the Club members in force for Thursday afternoon, to hear his lecture on "The Path of Life." The lecture has the advantage of being illustrated by stereopticon. Appeal to the eye as well as to the ear always adds materially to a lecture. After the program there will be music, and tea will be served in a social hour that will give opportunity to meet Dr. Mather.

Waban Woman's Club

December 5th is for the Waban Woman's Club that pleasurable event, "Mothers' and Daughters' Day," when members are privileged to invite their daughters of high school age to share in their entertainment. The program is naturally one chosen to be of special attraction and one "good to look upon," rather than an informative lecture. Clarendon Thompson, contralto, known to Newton, will appear in a Folk Song recital, in costume, with Mary Shaw Swain, accompanist. Opportunity for further acquaintance with fellow-members' daughters and fellow-scholarships' mothers will be given in the Tea that will follow.

Waban is proud to claim as their own one of the broadcasters for the State Federation over WNAC on Wednesday morning, the 7th, at about 11 o'clock. Mrs. Joseph Congdon, 12th district director, will tell of the work of her district under title of "Radio Rumble." The appeal of the title will even more cause all who know her in the district to drop home affairs at that hour and "listen in."

Christian Era Study Club

Miss Susie C. Johnson of 84 Grove street will be hostess for the Christian Era Study Club on Monday afternoon, Dec. 5, at 3 o'clock. There will be a paper on "The Western Pioneer Movement" by Mrs. S. W. Dike, and one on "The Louisiana Purchase" by Mrs. Harry Perkins. This study of the Founding of a Government, which is the general topic of the Club for the year, is not only giving much valuable information in review, such as the history of the Louisiana Purchase, but is giving the romance, ruggedness, thrill and adventure, and alas! the tragedy, such as the story of the brave pioneers—altogether a worthwhile study topic.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Owing to the impossibility of getting together the chosen cast in time to start rehearsals for the December drama, the annual production has been deferred until February and in place of the program announced in the Year Book, Bessie Talbot Fosgate is to appear at the meeting Tuesday afternoon, December 6, in an entertainment of "Indian Lore and Tribal Melodies." Especial interest attaches to Mrs. Fosgate's appearance from the fact she was formerly a Newton Highlands girl and has maintained her membership in the local Club since her marriage.

In connection with the meeting Tuesday, the Philanthropic Committee is to hold the second of its series of food sales, which, like Mrs. Fosgate's appearance, is advanced two months from the Year Book listing. The Workshop is to be open Wednesday afternoon for the first of the series of winter Teas, planned by the Art and American Home Committees. In past years, these pleasant monthly affairs have been given solely by the Art Committee, in connection with unique exhibitions of handicraft, but this season, with enlarged quarters in which to entertain, the scope has been widened and the American Home Committee is very fittingly pledged to look after the tea table, while the Art Committee will devote its energies to collecting rare and worthwhile pieces for exhibition. The collection to be shown at the Tea next week is to be appropriate to the Christmas season.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Elizabeth Pooler Rice will read "Friend Hannah" before the Newtonville Woman's Club at the next meeting on December 6th. Miss Rice is a member of the faculty of the Leland Powers school and has the reputation of being one of the best women readers of being on the platform today. Miss Lucille Monaghan of the New England Conservatory of Music will play "Baldade in F Minor," by Chopin. Miss Monaghan won the 1926 Endicott prize for composition of three piano pieces. Some 25 women, under Mrs. Arthur Chamberlain as chairman, have been busy all the fall making garments and dressing dolls for the annual Christmas party of the Club to be held on December 20th. All other members of the Club are urged to bring their contributions of clothes, toys and money to the meeting on December 6th, or to send them to Mrs. Chamberlain as soon as possible so that she may know how much she has to do with.

There is one more chance for readers of mind them that they cannot afford to miss the play, "Adam and Eva," given at the High School Auditorium on December 2 under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On Wednesday, December 7th, at 8 in the evening, the Club play is to be given under the auspices of the Department of Activities. The Dramatic Committee is headed by Mrs. Everett W. Varney, from whom tickets can be obtained at $1.00 and $1.25. The cast of the play, "A Prince There Was," by George Cohan, includes the following: Professor Kirtley Mather as Charles Martin; Mrs. Montague Ford as Katherine Woods; Dr. Harold Frost as Jack Carruthers; Mr. Walter Holmes as Bland; Miss Alta Maloney as Comfort; Miss Katherine Wilkins as Miss Vincent; Mrs. Arthur Lewis as Mrs. Prouty; Miss Molly Draper as Gladys Prouty; Mr. Samuel Fuller, Jr., as Short; Mr. Norman Powers as Mr. Cricht; Miss Barbara Crosley as Della; Mr. Ross Newcomb as a messenger; and Mr. Richard Cummings as Eddie. On Thursday morning, December 8, at 10:30, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole will give the second of her always popular Current Events lectures.

Social Science Club

Wednesday, December 7th, is the day for the monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club, which will be at 10 a. m. in Hunnewell Club House. Following Mr. Lewis E. MacBryne, general manager of the Massachusetts Safety Council, will address the Club on "The Ways We Can Educate Our Children in the Rules of Safety." This timely topic should be productive of much good. Mrs. Charles S. Emmons and Miss Dorothy S. Emmons are to be the hostesses for the meeting.

State Federation

Newton is to hold honors at the Federation Broadcast of next Wednesday, the 7th, although not in the musical genius which your editor has been trying to spur forward to the "footboards." To the Newtonville Woman's Club falls the glory of having their noted clubwoman, Mrs. Harry Burnham, chairman of the Division of Homemaking in the American Home Department of the General Federation, speak on her specialty, "Homemaking," and to the Waban Woman's Club falls the glory of having their shining light, 12th District Director, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, give a "Radio Rumble" of the activities of her district. The broadcast is, as usual, at 10:30 over WNAC. Mrs. Mina G. Del Castillo, chairman of "Music in the Community," will give an organ recital from the Elks Hotel, and Herbert Liverage, baritone, will entertain with solos. This, with the two above distinguished speakers, and with Marjorie Mills giving "famous recipes," the Federation program will be rounded out to an excellent grouping.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The program for the 9th for this Club is to be a most entertaining as well as instructive one, planned by Mrs. Joseph Otis, chairman of the American Home Committee. The place of meeting is in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church at 2:30 o'clock. Folk songs will be sung and played by Mrs. Hugo Sharp. A skit, staged as an Employment Bureau, with Sarah Harding Hunter, lecturer of the Public Relations Bureau of Edison Company, as chief clerk; papers on Furniture Painting and Books for Homemaking, a comedy with Mrs. Corabelle Warren a blushing bride, a talk by Mrs. J. Porter Russell on the American Home Department in its relation to Club Life, and a poem appropriate to the program to be read by Mrs. Otis will make a decidedly instructive and amusing afternoon. Further details will be found in Tuesday's Graphic, the 6th.

Twelfth District

The Waban Woman's Club is working for the success of their hostesship over the Twelfth District Conference for Departments, on Monday, the 12th, in Union Church, and Mrs. Joseph Congdon, director of the district, is planning all manner of surprises and festivities for her big day. The morning session opens at 10:15; the afternoon session at 2 o'clock, with luncheon at 12:30. Further details of the Conferences for the Round Table and honored guests will be forthcoming in the Graphic of the 9th, but those who wish luncheon tickets should order them by sending check for $1.00 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. R. E. Clements, 10 Locke road, Waban, before that date.

RECENT EVENTS

The meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held on Friday, November 25th, was in charge of the Public Health Committee, Mrs. Willard Church, chairman. Mrs. William Jones, a Club member, sang most pleasingly a group of songs, "Birthdays," by Woodman, and "Daybreak," by Daniels, and as an encore "The False Prophet," by Scott. The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Frank Kiernan, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League, who gave a most enlightening talk on Public Health.

He spoke briefly on the history of public health, after which he told of the immunization campaign in New York to stamp out diphtheria, stating that in the city of Auburn no child had died of diphtheria in the last three and a half years as a result of this campaign. He also told of the great progress made in the stamping out of tuberculosis, saying that it is very easily curable if taken in its early stage, and urged people to have frequent physical examinations. Mr. Kiernan said that many factors make for public health, such as the public press with its health columns, public schools with health work in their courses, different clinics established in communities, the National Health Council, which guides all (Continued on Page 11)

MUST HAVE PROPER LICENSE TO DRIVE

Henry Ford is putting out a new car and at the same time he is giving to many hundreds of Massachusetts persons the problem of legal driving.

The Automobile Legal Association is issuing a warning to its members who hold licenses restricting them to the operation of vehicles having planetary transmission, that their licenses will not cover the new Ford. If such a restricted license is theirs, persons will have to take another examination before they can legally operate a gear shift motor vehicle.

Many persons have heretofore labored under the impression that the restricted license was for a Ford car. Such is not the case. The state makes no distinction in car makes, rather in car mechanism and the new car, differently classified, requires a different license.

Those holding unrestricted licenses will have no trouble and the others, if they take it in time will be saved much annoyance for the licensing department in preparing to take care of the examinations required and upon payment of the fee, remove the restrictions to those passing their tests satisfactorily.

In many states there is no question of license, but rather, as everywhere, it is a question of driving, and the new owners are reminded that a gear shift car is a very different vehicle to handle from one of planetary transmission. Being forewarned is forearmed and he who would drive his new Ford away from the sales room in the full glory of possession must be equipped with the knowledge and the ability to handle it.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mona E. Halloran, and Mr. William McAniff of Cohasset was the best man.

The dress worn by the bride was of embroidered georgette and satin and her hat was of silver metal cloth. She carried tea roses. The bridesmaid wore honeydew georgette trimmed with velvet in pastel shades and carried sweet peas and roses.

A reception was held at the Winter Garden, Hotel Westminster, Boston.

After a wedding trip to New York, Niagara Falls and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will reside in West Newton.

He is survived by his widow, Katherine (Browne) Rogers; a son, Dr. Horatio Rogers of Newton Centre, and a daughter, Miss Marian Rogers; a brother, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Rogers of Evanston, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Reginald Pearce, wife of the rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Dorchester.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, November 30—It is freely predicted that the Seventieth Congress, which convenes next Tuesday, will be a turbulent affair. A multitude of legislative measures have been drafted preparatory for introduction during the early days of the session.

Each faction believes that its project is deserving of first consideration. Therefore, the various committees must stand up under pressure from powerful groups and weed out the urgent and desirable measures for consideration. Assignments to committee places will be made within a few days.

The filibuster which marked the dying days of the Sixty-ninth Congress left many important measures "high and dry." House leaders, aside from giving the right-of-way to appropriation bills for the maintenance of government departments, are adjusting their calendars to handle the major bills caught in the filibustering jam. This includes the deficiency bill and the measure designed to settle certain claims of alien property owners.

Congressional leaders have a real problem on their hands in settling the controversy over proposed legislative remedies for the organized farmers. The approach of the 1928 campaign complicates the situation and makes it difficult to strike a compromise on farm relief. There are so many individuals and organizations purporting to speak for the farmer that the average legislator must exercise caution in making commitments for his vote.

Everyone expects Congress to engage in an orgy of investigations. Yet, those whose positions require them to look beneath the surface of political affairs know full well that the brakes will be applied whenever there is an indication of backfire. You will hear much about extravagance in the military and naval establishments, as a result of controversies provoked by publicity, but observers have felt that it will not go beyond the talking stage.

As an instance of Congress talking loud and long on the need of economy in the Navy, attention has been called to a quick change in the front when their home patronage was endangered. Last year there was a hue and cry for reductions in the upkeep of the Navy with the result that the Navy Department issued orders closing down expense of naval yards at three sea-coast cities. This policy would have fulfilled the demand of Congress for economy, but powerful congressional committees acting under demands from their home towns protested this evidence of thrift, with the result that the Navy Department was obliged to restore the items to their budget. Similar cases are reported from other government departments. It all depends upon who suffers from economy in government.

At the beginning of a new Congress the newcomers in their zeal to make a name for themselves back home and justify their selection, set out to reform official Washington. As an illustration, one Congressman coming from a rural district visited several government departments in the interest of his constituents and found that the high officials were strangely indifferent to the importance of his visitation. As a result he is now writing long letters to the various groups of voters back home criticizing conditions in the government. Another legislator, admitting his greenness, visited all the offices in the House Office Building seeking information as to ways and means of keeping his constituents thoroughly sold on the idea of retaining him in Congress. Instead of digesting the suggestions to fit his own case, this ambitious Congressman is flooding his district with pamphlets and other gratuities to keep him in the mind of the voter. The chances are that unless he mends his ways his constituents will be obliged to elect another man

Theological Institution Drive Reports Many Contributions

Following a meeting of the executive committee of the Second Century Fund of The Newton Theological Institution held Tuesday afternoon in Ford Hall, announcement was made that 972 gifts have been made to date, totalling $212,456. Plans were made to complete the Baptist Church campaign in New England by February 1, 1928.

In the reports that were made by New England states, Massachusetts headed the list with subscriptions amounting to $128,885. Connecticut was second with $20,967 and other states were as follows: Maine $13,021, Rhode Island $9,370, New Hampshire $2,591 and Vermont $1,915.

Dr. Everett C. Herrick, president of the seminary, announced large contributions that had been made by the leading Baptist churches in nearby towns as follows: Newton Centre $40,000, Wollaston $9,000, Fall River $9,000, and Medford $3,000. The First Baptist Church of Malden has reported $20,000 of its $100,000 goal, the fund to be used to endow a chair at the seminary.

The sum of $30,000 has also been raised by the Women's Division, which has set itself a $125,000 quota. Mrs. Everett C. Herrick of Newton Centre has selected state chairmen for New England states and associates, one for each ten churches, are being appointed. The organization has practically been completed and a canvass of the women of the churches is to be started within a few days.

President Herrick stated that reports rendered the executive committee did not include two contingent gifts of $100,000 each that had been made by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention, to be paid in the ratio of one dollar for every nine dollars subscribed. He also said that Newton's appeal was being carried to the Baptist churches throughout the country. To date $9,912 had been received from churches outside New England and $714 from foreign countries.

NEWTON TO GET WAR RELIC

Nine years after the war has been over, Newton will receive one of the big weapons with which the Germans bombarded their foes "over there." Within a few days it is expected that a 150 mm. mortar, captured from the Germans, will be transported from the Framingham camp grounds to Newton. It is of the rigid type and is mounted on a four wheeled carriage. The big "gun," which weighs three tons, will be stored in one of the city yards for the winter, and will be assigned a permanent location in the Spring.

CHORAL CONCERT

Musical Program Given Before Large Audience

The sixteenth concert of the Newton Choral Society was given at Central church Tuesday evening, and was one of the most successful the society has even given. A very brilliant feature of the occasion consisted of selections by the Boston Orchestral quartette. These musicians play with technical brilliancy and emotional fervor. They gave superb renderings of Sibelius' "Finlandia" and Friedman's "Slavonic Rhapsody," and the rest of their selections were charmingly done.

Also a very pleasing feature of the program consisted of the solos by Gladys de Almeida, soprano, who sang the solo part of Sullivan's "The Night Is Calm," also an aria and recitatives and solo part in selections from Handel's "Messiah." Miss de Almeida has a delightful voice which was heard with pleasure.

The chorus is not quite as large as formerly, but it obtained equally good artistic results. The director, Mr. William Lester Bates, has a gift for bringing out fine shadings of expression. The most interesting feature of the program was the selection called "Morning Call of the Muezzin," by Rheinberger. This composition was sung many years ago by the Boston Cecilia society, but it had not been done in this section since that time, so it was a complete novelty to those who heard it. It is a very brilliant and descriptive piece of music, set to words of romantic and poetic beauty. The composition involves some difficulty for an amateur chorus, since it was impossible to obtain scores showing all the parts, and each singer had only the music of his own part. It became necessary to send to Germany to obtain this music. The folk song from Russia, "At Father's Door," by Mousorgsky, was a very pleasing feature, characteristic of Russian temperament.

In accordance with the regular custom of the society, at its fall concert, the program closed with music appropriate to Christmas, including selections from "The Messiah," and the famous carol, "The First Noel," in which the audience joined in singing. The society will now enjoy a vacation until New Year's, soon after which it will resume rehearsals. Those desiring to become active members should apply to the secretary, Miss Theresa L. Cram of Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Special mention should be made of the work of Miss Lillian West as accompanist. She renders her piano part with brilliant effectiveness, and is a great help to the singers. Henry S. Wilder played the organ part for this concert, adding greatly to the beauty and thrilling power of several of those compositions by his artistic handling of that instrument.

CANDIDATES SPEAK AT RALLY

Political Meeting of Newton Business Associates Tuesday Night Is One of Several Throughout the City Prior to Coming Election

A gathering that taxed the capacity of the banquet hall of the Hunnewell Club, listened on Tuesday night to most of the candidates for office at the City Election to be held next Tuesday. President Harold Moore of the Newton Business Associates, under whose auspices the affair was held, welcomed the guests and introduced John C. Brimblecom, editor of the NEWTON GRAPHIC, as toastmaster. Mr. Brimblecom was in a happy vein, and treated all the candidates whom he introduced impartially.

Norman F. Pratt

Mayor Edwin O. Childs, who was to have been the first speaker, was detained at another meeting, so the first candidate to address the gathering was Norman F. Pratt of Grant avenue, Newton Centre, candidate for Alderman at Large from Ward 6. He stated "that he has been a resident of that Ward for twenty years, is serving his sixth year as an alderman, and favors a moderate tax-rate. The city should be carefully managed and men should not be elected to office just because they are 'good fellows.' He has supported the school building program and believes that every child should be provided with proper school accommodations." Mr. Pratt advocated the "pay as you go" method of financing city projects, a larger and better water system, independent of the Metropolitan system. He asserted that Newton should be governed according to business standards rather than political standards, and he pointed to his record in the Board as the reason he should be returned.

Robert A. Vachon

Robert A. Vachon of 1441 Centre street, who will oppose Mr. Pratt, remarked "that he ran two years ago and was not successful, but is willing to try again." He informed the assembly "that he has been engaged in business as a contractor and builder in this city for 35 years, and that his knowledge regarding this work will be of value to the city in view of the tremendous building problems it is facing."

Edwin O. Childs

As Mr. Vachon was speaking Mayor Childs arrived and he was presented to the audience following Mr. Vachon's remarks. The Mayor expressed the hope that after the election is over, that those who have been opponents will forget the strife of the contest and will be as friendly as he and John Brimblecom, who twice opposed him. The Mayor said, "that politics should not disturb friendships, and Walter Hodgdon and I will continue to be good friends." He remarked that he stands on his record and that the voters will decide "whether or not, he has held office too long." He alluded to the analogy drawn by Mr. Hodgdon at the meeting of the City Employees Union on last Friday, when the latter compared Mayor Childs with the obsolete model T Ford automobile, and himself with the new model. The Mayor brought down the house when he remarked, "The new model is not quite ready for delivery. Some must stick to the old Ford a little longer. It is not much on looks, but it gets us there."

Mayor Childs conceded that Mr. Hodgdon's contention "that the city should establish a purchasing department," is a good suggestion, but he asserted that this matter is the aldermen's job and not the Mayor's, as he has not the authority to take this step. If the aldermen see fit to institute a purchasing department, he will gladly co-operate with them. He concluded by saying, "If elected, I will do the best I can for all the people, all the time."

Walter A. Hodgdon

Walter A. Hodgdon of 24 Elliott terrace, Upper Falls, who is opposing Mayor Childs, answered the Mayor's allusion to the Ford by saying, "The new model Ford will be ready for delivery on January 1st. The old model got you there, but it always used much oil and was expensive to run." Mr. Hodgdon argued that "rotation in government is one of the biggest principles of democracy." He promised that if elected, he, too, will give all a square deal. He stated "that while he does not hold that only business men should be elected to the City Government, he thought it about time that one should preside over the city. Among other things which he has worked for while a member of the aldermen, he mentioned the improvement of traffic conditions at Newton Corner, and the bus line to Waban. He asserted that he believes parking conditions in Newton should be regulated not to benefit non-residents driving through the city, but should be made to furnish the best possible conditions to allow Newton residents to trade with Newton business men."

Mr. Hodgdon said "that although he might be considered foolish to touch the subject, he would go on record as favoring high grade apartment houses in certain districts of the city." He would not have then in restricted residential districts, nor would he have them on the main business streets over stores, but he believes that the city should have apartment houses of the better type to provide for the needs of those young folks of Newton who get married and who want this type of home, and for the old folks who must reside in apartments and who are forced to leave Newton because they cannot rent apartments here.

George H. Tracy

George H. Tracy of 264 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, candidate for re-election to the School Committee, opened his remarks by saying, "I am not a politician." He told his listeners "that he had 15 years' experience as a school teacher, school principal and superintendent of schools, and that for the past 15 years he has been a business man." He referred to the fact that he has served on the School Committee for three years, and the experience thus gained will be of value to the city in view of the big problems which the School Committee must face during the coming three years. He asked, "Is it wise to change horses?" He stated that Newton has 30 school buildings, over 500 teachers, 10,000 pupils, 2200 of whom are attending the High School. Last year an unprecedented increase in the number of pupils at Newtonville, 340, causing crowded conditions in all the schools of that village. Some of the children in the Horace Mann School are being taught in the garret of that building. He asserted that a Junior High School should be built on the South Side and also at Newton Corner. He stated that the present School Committee is doing excellent work, and that with the experience he possesses he is qualified to be re-elected.

Mr. Brimblecom, before introducing the two candidates for Alderman at Large from Ward 2, remarked, "I don't understand the situation in Ward 2. Two perfectly good men are running against each other. One will be lost to the city. Why are they running? He then introduced the first of these candidates, Alderman George W. Grebenstein of Lowell avenue.

George W. Grebenstein

Mr. Grebenstein said, "Many funny things happen in Ward 2. Some people there do not know when they get a square deal. I think this opposition to me is the aftermath of the contest six years ago. I have always gone by the 'Golden Rule.' I regret 'Gus' Wakefield is running against me. I have served as alderman for four years and have tried to be fair and square. I stand on my record."

Augustus L. Wakefield

Augustus L. Wakefield of 55 Prescott street, Newtonville, Mr. Grebenstein's opponent, said "that he is running because he has something to give the city in view of his training." He has been a resident of Ward 2 for 38 years, a graduate of Newton High School, has served as president of the Newtonville Improvement Association and has a reputation for integrity. He told of having been engaged in architectural work for 20 years, of having had charge of the expenditure of large sums of money, and of having had experience in building problems such as Newton must face.

William B. Baker

William B. Baker, candidate for re-election as Alderman at Large from Ward 3, stated that in the last five years the assessed value of new buildings in Newton has increased $45,000,000, which equals the total valuation of real estate in the city in 1900. Newton has grown more, proportionately than any other city in the state, and while this great growth has brought much increased revenue, the problems and the expenses it has brought have grown even faster. In the past 8 years eight new schools, costing $3,300,000 have been built, the expenses of the street, police and fire departments have largely increased and the cost of running the city has doubled in ten years. While the "pay as you go" policy has been pursued as much as possible, the debt of the city is increasing and its borrowing capacity is at a very low point. Problems to be faced include more schools and more water. Referring to the new City Hall, Mr. Baker remarked "that the special committee on this matter, of which he was chairman, held hearings in all parts of the city, consulted with an advisory committee of citizens, and after long deliberation, decided that the 'triangle' site will best serve the future needs of Newton."

William A. Potter

William A. Potter of 1565 Washington street, who will oppose Mr. Baker, told of his studies as a student at the Suffolk Law School, where he is in the senior class. He referred to his business experience gained as manager of a large automobile concern, and to his service in the World War. He stated "that he would make no promises calculated to catch votes, but, if elected, he will consider all matters coming before him as an alderman from a business standpoint."

John H. Gordon

John H. Gordon of 331 Auburndale avenue, candidate for re-election as Alderman at Large from Ward 4, stated that he has represented this ward for four years and has tried to do his duty faithfully for his constituents. He lauded the idea of meetings which bring candidates for office before the voters and praised the impartial attitude displayed by the city employees to all the candidates at their meeting last Friday night. He said "that

RESTRAIN DOGS

Ninety Day Restriction to Be Imposed From December 15th

In conformity with the decision recently made by the health authorities of the state, following a conference with the health and police officials of forty cities and towns around Greater Boston, the Newton Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Monday night, voted that all dogs in Newton must be restrained for a period of ninety days, commencing December 15. So, any owner of a dog in this city, who has consideration for his, or her, pet, can make no better Christmas present to the canine than to buy for it a comfortable muzzle of the cage type, or a long stretch of wire with the necessary equipment to allow the dog to have the run of the length of this wire. Or, better still, those who can afford it should purchase both the cage type muzzle and the wire.

In the past, when dogs have been restrained in Newton, or have been supposed to be restrained, most of the animals have worn strap type muzzles. For the most part these muzzles have been a farce. Either the owners of the dogs intentionally placed them loosely on their pets, or the dogs managed to work them loose. A strap type muzzle drawn tightly over a dog's mouth is cruel. And a strap type muzzle placed loosely on a dog does not prevent that dog from biting other dogs, or humans. Dogs with these loose muzzles which are allowed to roam have attacked and bitten dogs which are tied up by owners who try to co-operate in wiping out epidemics of rabies.

The Aldermen on Monday night were addressed by Dr. C. A. Boutelle, city veterinarian. He called attention to the restraining order of last spring, when the dogs in Newton were in restraint for 30 days. Good results followed. In July there were but five cases of rabies reported. During the two months of October and November 12 cases have been reported in the city. This year over 450 more cases of rabies than during the preceding year have been reported in Greater Boston. Dr. Boutelle said, "Fortunately no large dog has 'run amuck' in Newton, but this might happen tomorrow, and should it occur when the children are going to, or coming from school, disaster might result." He continued, "We are bound to go through on this. We must protect the people and the dogs. It will have to go into effect, even if the Aldermen do not pass an order. There are over 2500 dogs licensed in Newton."

Dr. Boutelle explained that the method used last spring had worked well. A policeman was detailed to go about the city in a Ford truck, and dogs found running unmuzzled, or without licenses and owner's names on their collars, were caught, taken to the pound on the grounds of the City Home at Newton Highlands. When dogs were found without muzzles, if the owner's name was on the collar, he was notified. Usually, even if the name was not on the collar, the owner came to the pound looking for his pet. Out of 200 dogs corralled, 150 were claimed by the owners. If, at the end of 48 hours, the dogs were not claimed, they were turned over to the M. S. P. C. A., which by law is authorized to take dogs for disposition. As a result of the restraining order last spring, 500 dogs which had been kept illegally were licensed. Dr. Boutelle said that "fifteen persons in Newton had been forced to take Pasteur treatment during the past year as a result of having been bitten by dogs afflicted with rabies." This treatment is expensive and painful. Neither are the persons bitten apt to have an improved nervous system.

MANY BURGLARIES

Police Suspect Thefts Made By One Man

As a result of numerous burglaries in different parts of Newton during the past week, the police of the city are making a determined effort to capture the thief who has been raiding houses. It is supposed that all the breaks have been committed by one man and the entire force, from Chief Burke down, have been endeavoring to apprehend the daring housebreaker.

The thief forces a porch window by using a screw driver or some similar tool and then searches the house entered for jewelry, silverware or other small articles of value which can be easily carried. In two cases he was surprised by persons entering their homes while he was at work, but he managed to make his escape. He picks out houses which are not lighted, assuming then that all the occupants are out, and he makes his breaks in the early part of the night.

Among the houses which have been looted are those of Horace G. MacGougan of 111 Hobart road, Chestnut Hill; Julius P. Dufour of 4 Garrison street, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Ada Stoddard of 88 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Alfred King of 99 Hancock street, Auburndale; Edward J. Kivell of 130 Prospect street, West Newton; William K. Corey of 1330 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.

DOG BITES BOY

Frederic Paul of 76 Freeman street, Auburndale, was bitten Wednesday, by a dog owned by William Bemis of Ware road. Dr. Boutelle was notified to examine the animal.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

Will find ideal conditions to choose from a selected stock of imported stationery and boxed handkerchiefs, leather goods, lamps, shopping bags, linen towels and luncheon sets, old and modern glass, greeting cards, dolls, toys, and novelties. Levinia Pennington's, 20 Highland street, West Newton. Orders taken for personal greeting cards.—Advertisement.

Dr. Boutelle informed the Aldermen "that it will be necessary to appropriate $450 for the salary of an extra policeman during the 90 days the restraining order will be in effect." An extra man will also have to be employed at the pound to care for the dogs.

Alderman Hodgdon expressed the opinion that "it will be an imposition on the old folks at the City Home to keep a number of dogs tied up close by with the disturbance they will create." He thought a better place might be found to locate the dog pound. Alderman Gallagher informed him that "he had visited the pound at the City Home grounds last Spring, and it was so located that had all the dogs in it barked at once they would not have disturbed the people in the City Home." Alderman Bail asked Dr. Boutelle, "Are the so-called 'police dogs' causing more trouble as to rabies, and scaring children?" Dr. Boutelle informed him that "police dogs are not causing more trouble as regards rabies, but do, because of their appearance and conduct, excite more fear to some children." He continued, "It is also true that this breed is more inclined to bite." Alderman Bail asked, "Do you call police dogs 'dangerous'?" Dr. Boutelle replied, "As individuals, some police dogs are dangerous. As a class, no."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Y FIVE LOSES FIRST GAME

Last Saturday night on the basketball court the local five lost its opening game to the Suburban division of the Two-State league to Chelsea by a score of 31 to 4. At half time the visitors were leading by a margin of one point, 17 to 16, but in the closing half went ahead by a comfortable margin. Chelsea brought over a large squad and injected fresh men into the game so that the pace was too fast for the local aggregation. W. Sprucklin, Chelsea right forward, and Arthur Kohler, Newton centre, were high scorers of the game with 13 points each. Sprucklin tossed in six baskets from the floor and one on a free throw while Kohler made four from the floor and five on tries from the foul line. Joe Purcell, Newton left forward scored eight points for Newton.

MANY ACTIVITIES AT NEWTON Y

The senior class basketball league is arousing much interest among the members of the class at the Newton Y. M. C. A. The class is divided into four sections, representing the city in which they reside. One team is from Newton, one from Watertown, and two from Waltham. At present the Newton and Watertown outfits are tied with two wins and one loss each while Waltham 2 has been on the short end of the count in both of its starts. The members of the Newton squad are J. Purcell, J. Hardy, D. Walsh, W. Thompson, J. Daniels, J. Lavalle, A. Lawrence, C. Hoyt and L. Purcell. Watertown has Elmer Colligan, J. Toohey, W. Seaward, J. McDonnell, Ray Wellman, T. Dwyer, W. Shields, F. Leonard, D. Quirk and Francis McCarthy. Waltham 1 is made up of F. McGuinness, Earl MacGillivray, K. Bergstrom, H. Bergstrom, C. Saunders, E. Carlson, G. Lord and J. Murphy. Waltham 2 is composed of W. Hammond, K. Smith, W. Hitchcock, H. Ferriek, L. Shaw, W. VanOrment, A. Paresky, H. McCormick, A. Winterhalter and C. Clarkson.

The association basketball team opened its season last Saturday night on the home floor. Next Saturday they make their first trip away from home when they go to Melrose to meet the Y five there. The remainder of the schedule follows:
Dec. 17, Gloucester at Newton.
Dec. 22, College Ave. M. E. Church at Davis square.
Dec. 28, Newton at Somerville.
Jan. 7, Newton at Everett.
Jan. 14, Newburyport at Newton.
Jan. 21, Newton at Chelsea.
Jan. 28, Melrose at Newton.
Feb. 4, Newton at Gloucester.
Feb. 11, Everett at Newton.
Feb. 18, Newton at Newburyport.
Feb. 25, Boston at Newton (tentative).

The wrestling team has a number of attractive meets on its schedule. It has already met the College of Osteopathy and the M. I. T. teams, losing to both but the closeness of the bouts insures those interested that the remainder of the schedule will offer good wrestling. Tomorrow the team, which is being coached by Dr. Simms, will go to Providence. The remainder of the schedule includes meets with Lynn, at home and away; with Boston, at home and away, and a return meet with Providence.

The Y also has entered a team in the Two-State volleyball league in a division which includes some of the larger associations in the eastern part of the state. The schedule of games began last Saturday when the Newton team lost to Cambridge by a score of two games to three on the local court. Tonight they play Boston at Boston. On January 5th Cambridge entertains Newton, Jan. 14 Lynn at Newton, Jan. 21 Boston at Newton, Jan. 28 Newton at Brockton, Feb. 9 Newton at Lynn, and Feb. 25 Brockton at Newton.

The team is captained and coached by H. E. Pelton. Other members of the squad are R. M. Patterson, R. M. Keeney, Rev. J. P. Dallinger, H. L. Tower and R. Beach.

In the business men's class the physical directors are conducting a volleyball league among four teams, Lions, Wildcats, Spiders, and Whales. Each team will meet the other teams three times in the first round of the round robin series which ends on January 20th. Rev. J. P. Dallinger is captain of the Lions, F. H. Williams captain of the Wildcats, R. M. Keeney captain of the Spiders and F. S. Bacon captain of the Whales.

"Y" Wrestlers Lose

Last Saturday evening the M. I. T. Wrestling team won a 19 to 9 victory over the Newton Y. M. C. A. team in the Tech gymnasium. Captain Jimmy Cullen of Tech scored a fall over Noonan of the Newton team in 6 minutes and 53 seconds and John Burke of Tech threw Gus Carlson of Newton in four minutes 15 seconds. Burke outwrestled Carlson by more than twenty pounds and it was decided that he would have to throw his bout in order to make the contest more even. After sparring for more than three minutes Burke got a headlock on Carlson and pinned his shoulders to the mat. These two falls, each scoring five points for the winners, were the only two of the evening, the rest of the bouts going to referee's decisions. Decisions counted three points.

The summary:
115-lb. Class—Perkins, T. defeated Santell, N. decision.
125-lb. Class—Capt. Cullen, T. threw Noonan, N. 6m. 53s.

ATHLETIC NOTES AT NEWTON HIGH

Mr. Clyde G. Hess, boys' secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., has been chosen coach of the Newton high swimming team. He coached the team two years ago and succeeds Albert S. Carling, who held the position last season while a member of the school faculty. The first practice session will be held next Friday afternoon, Dec. 16th, in the Y tank. Faculty manager Dr. Oscar Martin is arranging a schedule which will include several dual meets in addition to the annual interscholastics.

Hockey practice is being held daily and the early part of the week the candidates availed themselves of the opportunity to don the runners and get the feel of the ice which surfaced several of the smaller ponds in the Newtons. The daily practice sessions are held on the cement walks between the old high school and old gymnasium buildings where about thirty candidates are getting into condition by shooting the puck around. No regular practice will be held until there is good solid ice but Coach Dr. Martin meanwhile is getting a line on the various candidates. With but a few veterans, which include Captain Jimmie Brown, Frank Spain, Robert Bennett, Stephen White, and Langdon Powers, there is an excellent chance for good hockey players to win the positions left open through the graduation of Joe Thompson at goal, John Proctor and Harold Andres on the defense and Junior Stubbs, and Dick Powers on the forward line.

The basketball squad is having daily practice in the new gymnasium and with the approach of Christmas vacation it is expected that Coach Raymond Green will soon select the squad which he will concentrate on for the coming season which opens on January 10th.

Coach Donald Enoch of the track team has issued a call for runners and field men to report next Monday afternoon in the old gymnasium building where Newton high has one of the best indoor tracks in the state.

The track was built late last fall by a number of students in the vocational school under the direction of one of the faculty staff. Prospects for an excellent team this year are bright. Captain Malcolm Reid, a 300-yard runner and relay man, is but one of a number of veterans who will report. For dash men there will John Mullen and Romaine Cole. Mullen is probably the fastest man off the mark in school and should win many points for Newton this season. Cole was captain and coach of the football team and will compete in the hurdles and probably on the relay team in addition to the short dash. Frank Perry, Jr., will be another candidate for the dashes. Along with Reid in the 300-yard run is Dick Reynolds who was also a member of the relay team last year. The 600-yd. run will be well taken care of by Hamilton Kollmyer while Jimmie McCruden who was one of the best longer distance runners in the state last winter, will be available for the 1000-yd. run. In the field event Edward Ebel-hare should score many points in the high jump. During the fall outdoor season just past he was jumping in fine form and is capable of doing five feet ten inches consistently. He and Cole will also take care of the standing broad jump. The shotput in recent years has been the event in which Newton's opponents have usually cleaned up but another story is predicted this year with Phil Andres and Craigie G. Welch, football men who are expected to have the weight a considerable distance.

SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the Newton Athletic Association has been called for next Monday evening at eight o'clock at the Newton Club. The election of a president to the vacancy now existing because of the inability of the present incumbent to serve and the consideration of a banquet to the 1927 Newton high football team, champions of the Suburban league, are the chief items of business which will be considered.

SPORT NOTES

Dartmouth and Harvard will obtain a number of the present athletes at Newton high another fall. Among those who are planning to enter the Hanover college is Joe Fay, a track man at high school. Paul Shannon, one of the dependable golfers on the orange and black team, is planning to enter Harvard.

N. H. S. NOTES

Capacity crowds are expected to fill the high school auditorium tonight and tomorrow night when members of the faculty staff will stage the Shapereperian comedy, "The Taming Of The Shrew." The proceeds of the production will go towards the funds for the Dickinson Stadium.

Edgar W. Warren, '28 and Richard P. True, '28 have been elected editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, of the Newtonian, the senior year book. They were unanimous choices by the vote of the board of publications. Warren entered from the Mason grammar school, was president of his freshman class, a freshman delegate to the student council, an honor pupil his second and third years, a member of the staff of the Newtonite his second year, a varsity baseball player as a sophomore, junior and sub-senior, a delegate to the school legislature for three years, a member of the track team his third and fourth years, Newtonian and Orange Book staffs last year and president of the H-Y club this year. True belonged to the Science Club his first year, the Alpha Gamma Tau the second and third, manager of the hockey team his fourth, and a member of the Drama Club this year. He is also vice-president of the H-Y club this year.

Tryouts for the Senior Play will be held next week, Monday and Wednesday in the auditorium and on Thursday and Friday in the lecture hall. Monday tryouts are for all the girls' parts, Wednesday the boys will tryout for the hero and supporting man's role, and Thursday for the comedian's and other parts.

Edmund F. McLaughlin, '28 was elected to the presidency of the Drama Club at the first regular meeting to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jerry R. Angino, '28. The Honor Society has elected Virginia Willard, '28 president, Benjamin C. Bowen, '28 vice-president, Mildred Stuart, '28 secretary and Lawrence C. Jenks, '28 treasurer.

A committee has been chosen to take charge of the raising of the school's quota of $2300 for the Dickinson Stadium Fund. Norma Morgan, '29 chairman, Norman Payne, '29, R. Brandon Marsh, '28, and Paul Shannon, '28 compose the committee. The drive will be conducted soon after the Christmas vacation. It is probable that the student body will be divided into two groups to be known as the Army and Navy and competition means be devised. With a minimum subscription of $1.00 having been proposed the examples set by the pupils would assist the outside campaign which will take place next month.

Many girls have reported for basketball practice which is being held regularly in the gymnasium. The same system of teams will be employed this year as last when every class elected a captain-manager for every ten girls. The various teams will play practice games from which the varsity team will be picked at a later date.

On Monday, Dec. 19th, all the clubs of the school will combine to provide an all club Christmas party, similar to the one last year. A special program of entertainment is being arranged.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, December 7.—With the Seventieth Congress in session the political and social life in Washington is at a high tide. The President has sent two messages to Congress, read a speech at the dedication of a memorial stone in the Washington Monument and delivered a message of high political import before the Republican National Committee, in addition to starting the social whirl with a dinner to the Cabinet and a few luncheons with party leaders.

With all of the furor incidental to the official opening no one has had the time to carefully analyze the President's messages or the trend of affairs at the Capitol. With Republican leaders assembled here this week for conferences having in mind the 1928 Presidential campaign, many observers feel that pre-convention activities have been officially launched. It is expected that the various candidates for the Presidential nomination, especially among the Republican ranks, will openly announce their ambitions.

In this connection it is interesting to note that G. O. P. leaders have gathered the impression that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, a recognized power in Pennsylvania politics and having considerable influence elsewhere, is opposed to the candidacy of his fellow Cabinet member, Secretary Hoover. It is said that this development has much to do with the selection of a convention city. Politicians have claimed that the geographical location of a convention has considerable influence with Presidential candidates and their chances.

Speculation now centers on the real meaning of the President's speech before the Republican leaders in which he became unusually complimentary to William M. Butler, his campaign manager. Some felt that he was paving the way for Mr. Butler to make a graceful exit from active participation in party affairs while others insisted that Mr. Coolidge indicated he wanted Mr. Butler at the helm as his personal representative. Some of the old-timers were resentful that the President referred to the economies in conducting the 1924 campaign as against other Presidential election expenses. It is likewise declared that a few of the leaders are not so enthusiastic about drafting Mr. Coolidge for the Presidency.

There is some doubt as to whether the President made a grand stand play to the public or showed a bad temper in taking a slap at business organizations in his annual message to Congress. Regardless of the real intent the leaders charged with the responsibilities of raising campaign funds and putting over a winning ticket are frankly worried. Mr. Coolidge has had some differences with the National Chamber of Commerce regarding the amount of tax reduction, and has been particularly bitter in his attack against those who offered tax reduction suggestions at variance with his own pet ideas. He went out of his way to warn Congress against accepting suggestions from organized tax payers.

The report is current here that Mr. Coolidge is becoming unusually sensitive to criticism. In the early days of his Administration he was noted for the calm way in which he withstood the changing whims of opinion, but it is said nowadays he makes his opposition known in no uncertain terms.

Congressional leaders are having their troubles perfecting the organization of the Senate and House. They find that leadership is very difficult when the main spring of action seems to be political opportunism. The official stenographers at the Capitol are the hardest working men in Washington today. The Senators and Representatives are unloading their political speeches for publication in the Congressional Record. The vacation of nearly ten months afforded the legislators time to prepare speeches on every known subject for delivery whenever they can obtain the floor or permission to print in instances where they are doubtful of their oratorical ability.

The Senate is prepared to listen or read long speeches on states rights, constitutional law and election frauds. The contest over the seating of Senator-elect Vane of Pennsylvania and Smith of Illinois provides the loophole for evading action on important legislation by a long debate.

An idea of the money necessary to run the Federal Government may be gleaned from the budget message of the President presented to Congress Tuesday. The budget officials have estimated the expenditure for 1929 in excess of $3,849,000,000, including nothing for flood control with the exception of the five year allowance of $10,000,000 in the six year program authorized by Congress. These estimates do not include proposed major projects which may be subject to legislation in the next Congress. The President has been advised that the receipts of the Federal Government will reach more than $4,000,000,000, leaving an estimated surplus of $454,283,806.

OPEN MEETING

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs invites all citizens of Newton to be present at a meeting at 8 P. M. on December 12 (the night before election) at the New High School Auditorium, Newtonville, to hear the candidates for school committee, aldermen-at-large, and mayor.

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Twelfth District Conference

Monday, the 12th, is to be a full day for presidents at least of the Twelfth District, and for the district director. Not only is there the all-day Conference for department discussion at Waban, but Monday evening is a gala night for the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club as hostess for the presidents and other leading officers of the State Federation and the district in a program for Presidents' Night. The majority of women who will come from all over the State, from Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, president, from Greenfield; Mrs. A. A. Packard, vice-president, from Springfield; Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, officer of the General Federation, from Brockton; to those from cities nearer Newton, will stay over after the Conference to attend this evening Christmas Party at Upper Falls. Mrs. Herbert E. Child, chairman of the evening, and long prominent on the State Board, achieves the honor of this distinguished gathering in a Christmas celebration for the invited guests. She provides for their entertainment an Author's Reading by Emma Downing Coolidge in Christmas stories from her own writings, and attractive Christmas Carols by the Upper Falls Club Chorus between the various selections. The story in serious vein, with an all-year-round Christmas spirit of giving to all who need spiritually as well as materially, will be provided in Miss Coolidge's book, "The Dreamer." Comedy, and lighter vein, will be supplied in a play entitled "Christmas Presents." The party, as all well-regulated parties should be planned, ends with refreshments, and the more formal reception.

On Mrs. Joseph Congdon's capable shoulders rests the success and interesting information to be derived for the all-day session beginning at 10:15 o'clock.

By invitation of the Waban Woman's Club, women of the Twelfth District will hold their Conference at the Union Church, Waban, the district director, Mrs. Congdon, presiding. The morning session will open with greetings from the president of the hostess club, Mrs. Philip L. Warren, Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald, pastor of the church, Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, State president, Mrs. Axel A. Packard will discuss International Relations, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Club Institute.

Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, General Federation director, will bring greetings from the General Federation. Five-minute reports by Department chairmen will be followed by the Round Table conferences, 11:40 to 12:30.

Reservations for the luncheon at 12:30 should be made at once with Mrs. R. E. Clements, 10 Locke road, Waban.

In the afternoon the State Song will be given by a group of Waban Club members, and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader will speak on Headquarters, and Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., on Junior Membership. After further reports by department chairmen, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, recording secretary of the General Federation, will address the Conference. A question period will close the session. The train leaves South Station for Waban at 9:35 a. m.

Among bits of "personal news" of interest, concerning State Federation women, Mrs. Charles E. French, vice-chairman of the department of international relations, has been appointed delegate to the School of Politics to be held at Radcliffe College in January, and Mrs. Axel A. Packard, chairman of this department, will be a delegate to the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War in Washington, D. C., in January.

An outstanding method of showing the Christmas spirit is provided by Mrs. Paul A. Peters, chairman of the committee on co-operation with war veterans, who asks for records for the boys. These should be left at Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston, before December 21.

Details for the Federation Broadcast of the 14th will be found in next Tuesday's Graphic.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. Murt S. Wallace opens her home, 73 Fisher avenue, for the Christmas Social that is to be the program for the Monday Club on the afternoon of December 13th, at 2:30 o'clock. Readings appropriate to the day will be in charge of Mrs. C. D. Miller, and music under the same heading, will be in charge of Mrs. F. S. Fairchild.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Continuing their fascinating study of the "Middle Flower People's Country," the study topic for the year 1927 of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands, the special section for their meeting of Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, is "Chinese Drama," the presentation of which is in the hands of Mrs. Lyman P. Briggs. The Club will meet with Mrs. Hiram A. Miller, of 85 Erie avenue.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Travel Class which should hold its next meeting on the 12th, will not have its meeting until the 19th, owing to the Twelfth District Conference coming on the former date. Mrs. Wilson C. Dorr will open her home at 342 Otis street, West Newton, on the 19th, and Mrs. John R. McLean will read a paper on "Geology of the United States."

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

President's Night will be observed Monday evening, December 12, at 7:30 o'clock in the Emerson School Club rooms by the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club. Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, State Federation president, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Twelfth District director, and Mrs. J. Porter Russell, Newton Federation president, will be guests of honor. Mrs. Herbert E. Child, a Club director and past president, is chairman for the evening and will present to the Club and guests, for their pleasure, an author of note and one well known throughout New England, as well as Boston. Emma Downing Coolidge, who will read her own "The Dreamer," and "Christmas Presents," the latter especially adapted for the holiday season, and particularly a Christmas party.

The Club Chorus, under the leadership of Miss Madeline W. Cobb, will sing carols, introducing a novelty with the opening number. Following the program, the guests of honor, Miss Coolidge and the Club president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, will receive the Club members and visiting guests. The Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, chairman, is making arrangements for the social hour, when Mrs. Ernest Cobb and Mrs. T. E. Lees, past presidents, will "pour."

A whist party will be held Wednesday, December 14, at 8 p. m. at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, 69 Waldorf road, for the benefit of Club equipment. A large attendance is desired.

Auburndale Woman's Club Business and Professional Division

The Business and Professional women of the Auburndale Woman's Club celebrate their Christmas festivities on the evening of the 12th, also in the Auburndale Club House at 8 o'clock. Miss H. Edna Moir is chairman of this Division and Miss Agnes Strang is in charge of the evening's program. The program will consist of Christmas Stories by Mrs. Lorraine Foat Holmes, a Club member, a Christmas tree, and refreshments. The tree will be a work of art, and display with the clever fingers of the members of this Division who have fashioned all manner of animals, curiously and wonderfully and accurately made, and dolls that will delight the hearts of all who behold them. There will be charming favors for the ladies of Stone Institute. The members themselves will come dressed as little girls, and the merriment of this can be imagined. The contents of the tree will be sent to the crippled children of the Home at Canton, but first it will be displayed for the Auburndale Woman's Club at their meeting the following Thursday, for their pleasure, and they will then discover, if they have not already, what a talented Division they have in their Business and Professional Group. The evening promises to be a most enjoyable one.

CENTRAL CLUB

Clarence De Mar, the Marathon runner, says that he expects to run for the next twenty years. "And why not? Before I ran my last Marathon, the doctors told me I had a sounder heart than any girl at Wellesley College." De Mar was talking to the Central Club of Newtonville at their Father and Son night, which was held Monday night at the Congregational Church Club Room. In the course of an entertainment which was greatly enjoyed by an overflow attendance.

De Mar was a scoutmaster also has a class of boys in Sunday school. His talk was directed to the boys.

"There is only one thing that will stop me from running," said De Mar, "and that is the misguided attention which I receive along the line of the Marathon by the crowds. It doesn't do much good when you are putting 99% of everything in you, to have your friends shout at you 'to step on her,' 'give her the gas,' 'get going,' and so on. If any of you boys want to help me run, shout that at the other fellow, as a runner needs every ounce of concentration that he has got."

Another interesting feature was the address and demonstration of boy scout work by Harold Nichols, Eagle Scout, and son of President Nichols of the Central Club. He was very ably assisted by Eagle Scout Alfred Ziegler, Winslow Hartford and Winston Sharp. The tremendous applause that was probably heard far down Walnut street was the tribute paid to the marvelous voice of Mr. Franklin Field, who sang three numbers.

Gifts were given to Mrs. James Duffy and Mrs. Myles Sweeney of Providence. A synopsis of the year's work was read by the Secretary Mrs. Arthur Hyland. The evening closed with a banquet.

GIRL SCOUTS

The early winter rally of the Newton Girl Scouts will take place on Friday evening, December 16th, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the High School. The first part of the program will consist of selections by the Bugle and Drum Corps and the presentation of merit badges earned during the summer and other awards. Following this a health play called an "Adventure in Health" will be given. Troops that will take part in this play are as follows:

Good Foods Family—Troops 3 and 23, Newton Centre, 7, Upper Falls.

Cleanliness Clan—Troops 5, 15, 25, West Newton.

Stylish Set—Troop 10, Newtonville.

Tremendous Tooth Brush Brigade—Troop 14, Waban.

Recreational Relatives—Troop 2, Newton, and 11, Newton Highlands.

Sleep Fairies—Troops 1, 22, Newtonville.

The principal parts of a Girl, a Girl Scout, and Captain Milk will be taken by Barbara Randlett and Virginia Randall of Troop 13, Newton Centre, and Mary Stephen, Troop 14, Waban.

A training class being given in Waban by the Local Director, Miss Freeman, is proving most successful. The course was planned by the Waban Women's Club to interest women of the community in Girl Scouting and to fit them to give service to the troops when the need should arise.

The work is being given in 6 lessons and covers the tenderfoot and some 2nd class material. At the meeting held on Thursday, December 1st, at the Union Church, 12 of the women taking the course received their tenderfoot pins and were registered as Associate Girl Scouts. They were Mrs. R. K. Fletcher, Mrs. H. G. Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Wheeler, Mrs. W. A. Lane, Mrs. W. O. White, Mrs. Duncan Wright, Mrs. Edward Wood, and Mrs. Harry Klotz, all of Waban and Mrs. Ralph Riddle of Newtonville. Mrs. Gilbert Ross and Mrs. Eleanor Widger of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Edwin Smith of Newton.

Troop 8 of Auburndale spent a busy Thanksgiving week. Fruit and vegetables and many other goodies were collected at the meeting on Monday and on Tuesday were taken to Boston to the Benevolent Fraternity Fruit and Flower Mission, where they were distributed among families in Boston who are under their charge.

On Wednesday four fire building tests were given and on Friday ten members of the troop spent the day at Cedar Hill. After cooking lunch out doors in the unexpected snow storm, the girls played games, visited the maze, and the nature trail.

Christmas plans are well under way for sending plants and bulbs to the Flower Mission who will send them to various hospitals and houses.

Troop 25 has six new members. On Tuesday this week the following girls were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts by Captain Freeman: Betty Jane Dockstader, Rejane Harvey, Peggy Paine, Agatha Pickhardt, Margaret Cameron and Elizabeth Weston. A lighted candle, typifying the Girl Scout Spirit, was placed on a gold trefail and as her name was called each applicant placed her registration fee of fifty cents on the trefail showing her desire to help spread Girl Scouting over the country. All registration fees go to the Girl Scout National headquarters in New York and the money so collected is used for field work. After this the applicants gave the Promise and were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts.

Twelfth District Conference

Monday, the 12th, is to be a full day for presidents at least of the Twelfth District, and for the district director. Not only is there the all-day Conference for department discussion at Waban, but Monday evening is a gala night for the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club as hostess for the presidents and other leading officers of the State Federation and the district in a program for Presidents' Night. The majority of women who will come from all over the State, from Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, president, from Greenfield; Mrs. A. A. Packard, vice-president, from Springfield; Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, officer of the General Federation, from Brockton; to those from cities nearer Newton, will stay over after the Conference to attend this evening Christmas Party at Upper Falls. Mrs. Herbert E. Child, chairman of the evening, and long prominent on the State Board, achieves the honor of this distinguished gathering in a Christmas celebration for the coveted guests. She provides for their entertainment an Author's Reading by Emma Downing Coolidge in Christmas stories from her own writings, and attractive Christmas Carols by the Upper Falls Club Chorus between the various selections. The story in serious vein, with an all-year-round Christmas spirit of giving to all who need spiritually as well as materially, will be provided in Miss Coolidge's book, "The Dreamer." Comedy, and lighter vein, will be supplied in a family exposé entitled "Christmas Presents." The party, as all well-regulated parties should be planned, ends with refreshments, and the more formal reception.

On Mrs. Joseph Congdon's capable shoulders rests the success and interesting information to be derived for the all-day session beginning at 10:15 o'clock. By invitation of the Waban Woman's Club, women of the Twelfth District will hold their Conference at the Union Church, Waban, the district director, Mrs. Congdon, presiding. The morning session will open with greetings from the president of the hostess club, Mrs. Philip L. Warren, Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald, pastor of the church, Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, State president. Mrs. A. A. Packard will discuss International Relations, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Club Institutes. Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, General Federation director, will bring greetings from the General Federation. Five-minute reports by Department chairmen will be followed by the Round Table conferences, 11:40 to 12:30. Reservations for the luncheon at 12:30 should be made at once with Mrs. R. E. Clements, 10 Locke road, Waban.

In the afternoon the State Song will be given by a group of Waban Club members, and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader will speak on Headquarters, and Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., on Junior Membership. After further reports by department chairmen, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, recording secretary of the General Federation, will address the Conference. A question period will close the session. The train leaves South Station for Waban at 9:35 a. m. Among bits of "personal news" of interest, concerning State Federation women, Mrs. Charles E. French, vice-chairman of the department of international relations, has been appointed delegate to the School of Politics to be held at Radcliffe College in January, and Mrs. A. A. Packard, chairman of this department, will be a delegate to the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War in Washington, D. C., in January.

An outstanding method of showing the Christmas spirit is provided by Mrs. Paul A. Peters, chairman of the committee on co-operation with war veterans, who asks for records for the boys. These should be left at Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston, before December 21. Details for the Federation Broadcast of the 14th will be found in next Tuesday's Graphic.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Mrs. Murt S. Wallace opens her home, 73 Fisher avenue, for the Christmas Social that is to be the program for the Monday Club on the afternoon of December 12th, at 2:30 o'clock. Readings appropriate to the day will be in charge of Mrs. C. D. Miller, and music under the same heading, will be in charge of Mrs. F. S. Fairchild.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

Continuing their fascinating study of the "Middle Flower People's Country," the study topic for the year 1927 of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands, the special section for their meeting of Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, is "Chinese Drama," the presentation of which is in the hands of Mrs. Lyman B. Briggs. The club will meet with Mrs. Hiram A. Miller, of 85 Erie avenue.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Travel Class which should hold its next meeting on the 12th, will not have its meeting until the 19th, owing to the District Conference. Coming on the former date, Mrs. Wilson C. Dort will open her home at 342 Otis street, West Newton, on the 19th, and Mrs. John R. McLean will read a paper on "Geology of the United States."

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

President's Night will be observed Monday evening, December 12, at 7:30 o'clock in the Emerson School Club rooms by the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club. Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, State Federation president, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Twelfth District director, and Mrs. J. Porter Russell, Newton Federation president, will be guests of honor. Mrs. Herbert E. Child, club director and past president, is chairman for the evening and will present to the club and guests, for their pleasure, an author of note and one well known throughout New England, as well as Boston. Emma Downing Coolidge, who will read her own "The Dreamer," and "Christmas Presents," the latter especially adapted for the holiday season, and particularly a Christmas party.

The Club Chorus, under the leadership of Miss Madeline W. Cobb, will sing carols, introducing a novelty with the opening number. Following the program, the guests of honor, Miss Coolidge and the club president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, will receive the club members and visiting guests. The Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Raymond Capobianco, chairman, is making arrangements for the social hour, when Mrs. Ernest Cobb and Mrs. T. E. Lees, past presidents, will "pour." A whist party will be held Wednesday, December 14, at 8 p. m. at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, 69 Waldorf road, for the benefit of club equipment. A large attendance is desired.

Auburndale Woman's Club Business and Professional Division

The Business and Professional women of the Auburndale Woman's Club celebrate their Christmas festivities on the evening of the 12th, also in the Auburndale Club House at 8 o'clock. Miss H. Edna Moir is chairman of this Division and Miss Agnes Strang is in charge of the evening's program. The program will consist of Christmas Stories by Mrs. Lorraine Fort Holmes, a Club member, a Christmas tree, and refreshments. The tree will be a work of art, and display with triumph the clever fingers of the members of this Division who have fashioned all manner of animals, curiously and wonderfully and accurately made, and dolls that will delight the hearts of all who behold them. There will be charming favors for the ladies of Stone Institute. The members themselves will come dressed as little girls, and the merriment of this can be imagined. The contents of the tree will be sent to the crippled children of the Home at Canton, but first it will be displayed for the Auburndale Woman's Club at their meeting the following Thursday, for their pleasure, and they will then discover, if they have not already, what a talented Division they have in their Business and Professional Group. The evening promises to be a most enjoyable one.

Auburndale Review Club

Mrs. George St. Amant, 35 Hawthorne avenue, will be hostess for the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday, December 13th, at which time the club will take up a study of Scandinavian Literature. There will be a paper on "The Charm of Scandinavia," by Mrs. Dean Hanscom, one on "The Sagas" by Mrs. Charles Valentine, and one on "Hans Christian Andersen" by Mrs. Samuel Dike.

West Newton Junior Women's Educational Club

The third regular meeting of the West Newton Junior Women's Educational Club will be on Tuesday, December 13. The club will meet with Barbara Lester at her home on 95 Langely road, Newton Centre. Constance Hartwell and her committee will have charge of the entertainment, and a good time is in store for all. Members are urged to be present.

Newtonville Woman's Club

For the Newtonville Woman's Club the first of the Literary Afternoons will be held Tuesday, December 13, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. H. B. Sherman, 264 Mill street. The subject is "Prize Books of 1927." All club members are eligible to attend. Club members will be glad of another announcement, also. Tickets for the Current Events Lectures have been issued and may be obtained from Mrs. Samuel Thurber. The first meeting will be on January 23rd.

Social Science Club

Mrs. James Wright will speak on "Prints" to the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, the 14th. Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt and Miss Fanny M. Adams will be the hostesses.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Newton Centre Woman's Club is again this year enjoying their worthwhile study of art and books. On Wednesday, December 14th, in the morning, will be held at the Clubhouse the second of the five informal talks conducted by the Education Committee. The hour is changed from 10:30 to 10:15. Mrs. E. Ray Spence, Mrs. Everett W. Varney, Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton, Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock and Mrs. Charles L. Bird will each speak briefly, their subjects being "What to See and Hear" and "What to Read and Why." Mrs. Ralph G. Hudson is the chairman of the committee in charge.

The treasurer of the club, Miss Elizabeth P. Bartlett, is about to pay off another $2000 of the Club's mortgage for its new clubhouse, the proceeds of the bazaar held last month which netted over $2700 profit, with this payment, and one of $2000 last April, the Club will have paid off $12,000 in the last four years, through the efforts of its energetic Activities Committee.

The pleasure and satisfaction that the Club is having in such splendid achievement is shared by all Newton Clubwomen, who sympathize with them in their progress and congratulate them upon their attainments. There is no joy equal to having and owning one's own home, be it domestic or Club fireside.

Auburndale Woman's Club

On December 15th the Auburndale Woman's Club will bear Margaret Munsterberg give a "History of Christmas Customs," and Carols by the school children. Tea will be served. Miss Munsterberg is the daughter of Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, and is not only known as such, but is known for her own writings and lectures. The delightful Christmas tree decorated by the Business and Professional Division will be on display, with its dolls, and toys, and quaint stuffed animals, all made by the members of this Division.

Community Service Club of West Newton

December 16th is the date, and 10:40 a. m. the hour, for the next lecture on Current Events for members of the Community Service Club of West Newton, when Mrs. Claude U. Gilson continues her informative resumé in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church. This is the third in the course of ten lectures.

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

There has been a change in the program for the Shakespeare Club for Saturday, December 17. The program will be in charge of Mrs. A. L. Pratt, and the Club will meet with Mrs. E. P. Hatch of 275 Mill street, Newtonville.

CENTRAL CLUB

Clarence De Mar, the Marathon runner, says that he expects to run for the next twenty years. "And why not? Before I ran my last Marathon, the doctors told me I had a sounder heart than any girl at Wellesley College." De Mar was talking to the Central Club of Newtonville at their Father and Son night, which was held Monday night at the Congregational Church Club Room. In the course of an entertainment which was greatly enjoyed by an overflowed attendance.

De Mar who is a scoutmaster also has a class of boys in Sunday school. His talk was directed to the boys. "There is only one thing that will stop me from running," said De Mar, "and that is the misguided attention which I receive along the line of the Marathon by the crowds. It doesn't do much good when you are putting 99% of everything in you, to have your friends shout at you 'to stop on her,' 'give her the gas,' 'get going,' and so on. If any of you boys want to help me run, shout that at the other fellow, as a runner needs every ounce of concentration that he has got."

Another interesting feature was the address and demonstration of boy scout work by Harold Nichols, Eagle Scout, and son of President Nichols of the Central Club. He was very ably assisted by Eagle Scout Alfred Ziegler, Winslow Hartford and Winslow Sharp. The tremendous applause that was probably heard far down Walnut street was the tribute paid to the marvelous voice of Mr. Franklin Field, who sang three numbers.

EMBLEM CLUB

Emblem Club No. 8 of Newton had their second anniversary at Elks' Hall, Centre street, last Thursday. Over 200 members and guests were present. During the evening remarks were made by Mrs. James Duffy, the Supreme President; Mrs. Myles Sweeney, Past Supreme President; Mrs. Farrell, Past Secretary; and Mrs. John Kierman, Past Chaplain, all of Providence, Rhode Island. Mrs. Burke, President of the Lynn Emblem Club; Mrs. Quinlan, President of the Natick Emblem Club; and Mrs. Helen McGue of Watertown Emblem Club.

A telegram was read from Mrs. Laurence Kelly of the Peabody Emblem Club regretting that she could not be present. GIRL SCOUTS

The early winter rally of the Newton Girl Scouts will take place on Friday evening, December 16th, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the High School. The first part of the program will consist of selections by the Bugle and Drum Corps and the presentation of merit badges earned during the summer and other awards. Following this a health play called an "Adventure in Health" will be given. Troops that will take part in this play are as follows:

Good Foods Family—Troops 3 and 23, Newton Centre, 7, Upper Falls. Cleanliness Clan—Troops 5, 15, 25, West Newton.

Stylish Set—Troop 10, Newtonville. Tremendous Tooth Brush Brigade—Troop 14, Waban.

Recreational Relatives—Troop 2, Newton, and 11, Newton Highlands. Sleep Fairies—Troops 1, 22, Newtonville.

The principal parts of a Girl, a Girl Scout, and Captain Milk will be taken by Barbara Randlett and Virginia Randall of Troop 13, Newton Centre, and Mary Stephen, Troop 14, Waban.

A training class being given in Waban by the Local Director, Miss Freeman, is proving most successful. The course was planned by the Waban Women's Club to interest women of the community in Girl Scouting and to fit them to give service to the troops when the need should arise. The work is being given in 6 lessons and covers the tenderfoot and some 2nd class material. At the meeting held on Thursday, December 1st, at the Union Church, 12 of the women taking the course received their tenderfoot pins and were registered as Associate Girl Scouts. They were Mrs. R. K. Fletcher, Mrs. H. G. Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Wheeler, Mrs. W. A. Lane, Mrs. W. O. White, Mrs. Duncan Wright, Mrs. Edward Wood, and Mrs. Harry Klotz, all of Waban and Mrs. Ralph Biddle of Newtonville, Mrs. Gilbert Ross and Mrs. Eleanor Widger of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Edwin Smith of Newton.

Troop 8 of Auburndale spent a busy Thanksgiving week. Fruit and vegetables and many other goodies were collected at the meeting on Monday and on Tuesday were taken to Boston to the Benevolent Fraternity Fruit and Flower Mission, where they were distributed among families in Boston who are under their charge.

On Wednesday four fire building tests were given and on Friday ten members of the troop spent the day at Cedar Hill. After cooking lunch out doors in the unexpected snow storm, the girls played games, visited the maze, and the nature trail.

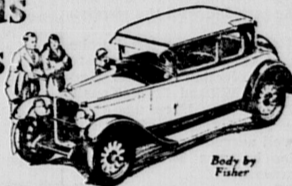

Christmas plans are well under way for sending plants and bulbs to the Flower Mission who will send them to various hospitals and houses.

Troop 25 has six new members. On Tuesday this week the following girls were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts by Captain Freeman: Betty Jane Dockstader, Rejane Harvey, Peggy Palmer, Agatha Pickhardt, Margaret Cameron and Elizabeth Weston. A lighted candle, typifying the Girl Scout Spirit, was placed on a gold trefail and as her name was called each applicant placed her registration fee of fifty cents on the trefail showing her desire to help spread Girl Scouting over the country. All registration fees go to the Girl Scout National headquarters in New York and the money so collected is used for field work. After this the applicants gave the Promise and were invested as Tenderfoot Scouts.

FURNACE heat for the cool days of Fall and Spring is an unnecessary expense.

Install a Radiantfire in your fireplace or in any part of the room. This marvelous development in gas heating burns for hours at the cost of a shovelful of coal. You can save a great deal of coal this winter by using a Radiantfire.

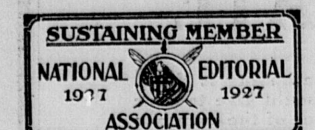

Glowing, comforting heat is instantly available. Saves bother — saves coal — beautifies the room — helps ventilation.

Have real living-room comfort this Winter—and right now during the cool Autumn evenings. Call and see a Radiantfire in operation. It will be a revelation to you. Do it today. Save furnace heat for severe weather.

EDITORIAL

With so many local contests for city office, the election next Tuesday should bring out rather more than the ordinary vote. In those cases where the voter has the option of a first and second choice we earnestly trust the full franchise will be exercised. The preferential plan is intended to give the voter a wider range than under the former one-choice system, and the more explicit the voter, the better chance there is for realizing his intentions.

For those voters in doubt as to the best candidates to support, we suggest that, as a general rule, the city's interests would be best served by the re-election of officials who have already served the city. This is particularly true of candidates for School Committee and the Board of Aldermen, where experience in office is a valuable asset. It generally takes at least one year for an alderman to adjust himself to conditions at City Hall and hence it naturally follows that continuance in office means better service to the city.

With this in mind, we recommend the re-election of Alderman William B. Baker in Ward 3, Alderman John H. Gordon in Ward 4, Alderman Norman F. Pratt in Ward 6 and Mr. George H. Tracy as School Committee man in Ward 2. The opponents of these gentlemen are all good citizens, but we should like to see them wait until there is a vacancy in the office to which they aspire.

In Ward 2 we are sorry to see two members of the present board contesting for the office of Alderman-at-Large. Both men have had the necessary experience in office and both should have been returned for further service. We believe that the interests of the city would be best served by the election of Alderman Wakefield, but the division line between Mr. Wakefield and Alderman Grebenstein is so close that we would be satisfied with the election of either.

In Ward 5 the vacancy left by the retirement of Alderman Hodgdon is to be filled by the election of either Herbert M. Bridey, Willard L. McKenzie or John Temperley. Here again we believe the best interests of the city would be served by making a difficult choice between Mr. Temperley and Mr. Bridey.

In Ward 7, two new men are candidates for the office now held by Alderman Hinckley. For this office we recommend the election of Mr. Joseph Murray. We have no objection whatever to his opponent, Mr. J. Edward Callanan, but Mr. Murray's experience in city affairs has been longer and more active than Mr. Callanan and in addition his service for some years as a trustee of the Newton Free Library has been most satisfactory.

For ward aldermen, we heartily endorse the candidacy of Mr. Edward H. Powers in Ward 1. Mr. Powers has had an unusual experience in city affairs and with the knowledge acquired in 30 years of close touch with City Hall, we freely predict he will make an able, conscientious and thoroughly independent alderman, beholden to no one for his acts or votes.

In Ward 2, the unfortunate condition caused by the contest between Alderman Grebenstein and Ward Alderman Wakefield has also created a difficult situation for ward alderman. Of the

Howard H. Murphy

Howard H. Murphy of 55 Pine Grove avenue, Lower Falls, who will oppose Mr. Gordon, related "that some of his ancestors first came to this country in 1607, and that he is a direct descendant of William Blackstone, one of Boston's first settlers." He stated "that his forebears for many years had been 'doers' in politics." Mr. Murphy informed the gathering "that he is a building engineer, has been erecting model houses in this city and that his practical knowledge will be of value to Newton." He has six children, and is therefore interested in Newton's schools. Being an alderman will not help his business, but he desires to be of benefit to the city.

Herbert M. Bridey

Herbert M. Bridey of 1295 Boylston street, Upper Falls, candidate for Alderman at Large from Ward 5, stated "that he is a practicing attorney with an office in West Newton. He has six children and favors ample playground facilities. He also advocates, so far as the finances of the city will permit, public golf links and tennis courts. He believes the East is behind the West in this respect. He promised to meet all problems fairly and clearly.

Willard L. McKenzie

Willard L. McKenzie of Richardson road, Upper Falls, the second of the candidates for alderman at large from Ward 5, told of having lived in Newton for 38 years and of conducting a trucking business for the past 14 years. He stated "that he knows Newton as few men know it, and is intensely interested in civic matters."

John Temperley

John Temperley of 85 Thurston road, Upper Falls, the third candidate for Alderman at Large from Ward 5 stated "that he has been interested in city affairs for many years and because of his work as a newspaper man, he has an intimate knowledge of them." He praised the aldermen for the unselfish service they give to the city, and remarked that while most citizens of Newton are in bed, the aldermen are solving city problems at City Hall. He commented "that the aldermen do not seem able to get money for all the needs of the city." Mr. Temperley was discussing the Boylston street bridge of the B. & A., when the gong rang to announce that his time had expired. Several candidates had their speeches cut short at the end of five minutes by this same gong, operated by "Bill" Pike.

J. Edward Callanan

J. Edward Callanan of 54 Playstead road, candidate for Alderman at Large from Ward 7, stated "that he has conducted a real estate business in Newton for 14 years which covers all parts of Newton. All his time is spent in Newton, so he has ample opportunity to observe the needs of the city." He asserted "that many matters coming before the aldermen need a man of my experience, and I believe I can be of valuable assistance." Mr. Callanan contended "that Newton's business men should be represented in the Board of Aldermen, that all city supplies, so far as possible, should be purchased in this city, that the streets in the business districts should be better lighted, and that parking restrictions which drive away business from Newton, should be changed. He asked for an opportunity to serve the city as alderman.

Joseph J. Murray

Joseph J. Murray of 184 Washington street, Newton, who is also a candidate for Alderman at Large from Ward 7, told of having served for ten years as a member of the Board of Library Trustees of this city; for the past two years he has been Chairman of the Board. He believes that as a life long resident of the city, and as one who has been closely in touch with city affairs, he is competent to represent his Ward in the Board of Aldermen.

John W. Blakeney, Jr.

John W. Blakeney, Jr., of 5 Washburn street, candidate for Ward Alderman from Ward 1, said "that he has resided for 31 years in the Ward, in the Nonantum section and believes he is peculiarly equipped to represent it. He favors a branch library for Nonantum and better lighted streets. He called the traffic regulations of the city "a makeshift." He deprecated Newton being considered as a suburb of Boston, and asserted "that Newton should bristle with its own guns." Mr. Blakeney advocated greater community spirit and argued that the various villages of the city should not be regarded as separate municipalities. He thought that each village should not be designated separately, but that all should be considered as one.

Charles Chasson

Charles Chasson of 93 Faxon street, also a candidate for Ward Alderman from Ward 1, stated "that he has been a resident of Nonantum for 35 years, and for many years has acted as unofficial alderman from Ward 1." He remarked "that he is a man of action, (Continued on Page 7)

CANDIDATES ADDRESS NEWTON BUSINESS MEN

and those who do not know him can find out how he is regarded in Nonantum by asking the people of that section. Mr. Chasson invited those present to attend a meeting to be held next Monday night in the hall of the Stearns School.

Edward H. Powers

Edward H. Powers of 27 Wiltshire road, a third candidate for Ward Alderman from Ward 1, said "that like his two opponents, he is a life long resident of the city, and has resided in the Ward for twenty-seven years, both in the Newton Corner and Nonantum sections of the ward. He is now a resident of the Nonantum precinct. Mr. Powers called attention to the fact "that for nearly five years he has attended every meeting of the Board of Aldermen in his capacity as a newspaper man, and that he must keep in constant touch with City Hall." He has intimate knowledge of city affairs and stated "that if elected he will serve all impartially and will do his utmost to promote the interests of both precincts of his ward."

Following the remarks made by the numerous candidates, President Harold Moore called upon John Madden, who for ten years has served as Ward Alderman from Ward 1. Mr. Madden was tendered an ovation by the gathering. Mr. Madden remarked facetiously, "that after having heard the candidates tell of the numerous qualifications they possess, he would disappear quickly from the limelight. "He paid tribute to the men with whom he had served on the Board of Aldermen; men who had given freely of their time for the city's good. "Other city governments," said Mr. Madden, "work for selfish ends, not Newton's." He concluded by saying, "It is better to be a 'has been,' than a 'never was.'"

Several members of the Board of Aldermen, who are not in the strife at the coming election, were called upon, and paid tribute to Mr. Madden.

Wednesday night at the Auburndale Club, the candidates for Mayor, Alderman-at-Large, School Committee and Ward Alderman for Ward 4 pleaded their causes. Chauncey Conn, president of the Auburndale Good Government, under whose auspices the affair was held, presided. The speeches were limited to four minutes, so the candidates had to be quite brief.

At West Newton last night, Players Hall was filled to listen to the candidates when President George Brophy of the West Newton Business Men's Association opened the meeting. The arguments presented were similar to those used by the candidates at the other meetings.

Other open meetings to allow the candidates a chance to present their views will be held next Monday night in the High School Auditorium, the Stearns School Hall at Nonantum and at Newton Highlands.

Independent of any other bank in Newton.

No doubt we all agree on every broad effort for development of the better emotions and sentiments.

Is it not true that the music of the great composers affords a means to that end?

Do the justly proud home-lovers of Newton know that one of our worthy institutions is an orchestra of fifty-five pieces, and that most of the members are experienced local musicians, who voluntarily devote one evening each week to the study of high class music?

The leader is Ralph Maclean, who combines to a rare degree a poetic sense of interpretation with a practical talent for development of ensemble effects.

Perhaps a member of your family is not taking advantage or giving the community the benefit of his or her training on some orchestral instrument, and would enjoy this association.

Would it not be a civic pleasure for you to support this home institution?

The next concert is December 15th, at High School Hall, Newtonville.

The first round of the Boston Pin bowling tournament was completed Wednesday evening. The second round will be started next week. At the next meeting of the Fellowship Club on Monday, Dec. 12th, Mr. Dudley Thorburn, special agent of the Santa Fe Railroad in Boston will be the speaker. Motion pictures of the Indian Detour and the Mexican Ruins along the Santa Fe route will be shown. All are welcome to attend. Mr. F. Sayford Bacon of Newton and Mr. Charles B. Floyd of Auburn were recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Association.

On the first of December the membership of the association totalled over 1020 men and boys. This is one of the largest numbers enrolled as members in the history of the organization.

CONFERENCE

Edgar Warren, of Centre street, Newton, was elected President of the Older Boys' Conference held in Malden, December 2, 3, and 4th. Warren was nominated from the floor and his election was of a majority, more than the entire vote of the two closest candidates.

Forty-eight boys from Newton and vicinity spent the week end in Malden discussing and listening to addresses upon the subject of "Youth at the Crossroads," by Dr. Grafflin of New York, Miss Margaret Slattery, and Dr. Henry H. Crane of Malden.

Plans are being made to give reports on this conference at Churches and other gatherings where men and boys are concerned.

On Monday evening Richard True, Edgar Warren, Brandon Marsh, and Frank Perry, Jr., gave a report to the Fellowship Club.

BENEFIT SHOP

The Hospital Benefit Shop at 5 Washington terrace, Newtonville, is open every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 to 12:30 and every Monday evening from 7 to 9. During the call for clothing for the flood sufferers the shop has refrained from asking for donations, but as Christmas approaches, the many calls from parents for children's clothes and children's shoes, as well as for dolls and toys for Christmas, make us realize that we have a large number of children depending on the Benefit Shop for supplies. We hope to have a special table the week before Christmas for dolls, games and children's books. Perhaps it will help interpret the spirit of Christmas to the fortunate children if they are allowed to send some of their toys to our Benefit Shop little folks. The gifts may be left at the shop on any of our open hours, or will be called for by notifying Mrs. Van Hosen, C. N. 1898-W.

WHIST BY NEWTON HEBREW LADIES AID SOCIETY

A Whist party was held by the Newton Hebrew Ladies Aid Society on Tuesday evening at the N. A. A. Club House.

A prize was awarded the winner of each table.

Refreshments were served. The Society's charity fund was enlarged by donations given by those attending. These donations were given at an opportune time so that we may further our charity work during the winter.

A pleasant evening was spent by a large attendance of members and friends.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

On one day in November the hospital had 118 patients in its care, another day as few as 84 with a daily average 102.07. During the month it admitted 307 and discharged 299. In the month the out patient department treated 481, the eye clinic 44. There were 52 accident cases, 204 operating room cases and 194 x-ray cases. Thirty-nine babies were born at the hospital during the month. The social service department made 25 calls at the hospital, 58 at homes and transferred 29 patients in its car.

Thirty-eight of the 113 patients in the hospital for the week ending December 3 paid as much as the cost of their care or more, 4 paid less than the cost of care and 29, including babies, were free patients. Ten babies were born, 3 girls and 7 boys. The out patient department treated 115 patients the eye clinic 8 and there were 11 accident cases. Five patients were transferred in the social service car.

Mr. Arthur Rotch, formerly business director of the hospital, gave a most interesting talk on the great flood disaster before the business meeting of the Nurses' Alumnae Association on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Francis L. Strickland, professor of psychology at Boston University gave a lecture on "Human motives or some of the hidden sources of conduct."

Miss Vera Holder of Newton Highlands has begun a course at the hospital as pupil technician in the pathological laboratory.

Last Sunday evening the speaker at Fireside service at the Nurses' Home was Mr. Ruben Marc of the Newton Theological Seminary who talked on Haiti.

An unknown man, a stranger in this part of the country and out of work, was brought into the hospital last week unconscious from cold and starvation. Of the accident cases treated a lacerated chin and a lacerated scalp were due to an automobile accident, a child was treated for a nose broken by running into a pile of boards and a man for abrasions on the head due to a stone falling upon him. A boy and a man were treated for fingers lacerated in a clamp and a boy's wrist broken by falling upon a curbing, was set.

DEDICATE MEMORIAL WINDOW

A beautiful stained glass window was dedicated last Sunday in the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton, which was a gift to the church from Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Moore. The window depicts Christ blessing little children and is executed after the manner of the best work of the Middle Ages. The glass used is what is known as English Antique glass, the colors of which resemble the colors of the glass used in the Middle Ages. The figure of Christ is robed in the traditional colors of ruby and white—ruby signifying Divine Love and white denoting Purity. Christ is shown in the attitude of blessing and the child with upturned face typifies Adoration. In the Lunette above the figure panel is shown the Lily, symbolic of Purity and the Passion of Our Lord. On one side is shown the Anchor, symbolic of Hope, and on the other side the Cross and Crown, symbolic of Victory and Reward.

This window is the work of Wilbur Herbert Burnham of Boston. He was assisted by Walter G. Ball of Boston. It is interesting to note that Wilbur Herbert Burnham has been commissioned to design and make the five great Clerestory windows for the Riverside or so-called Rockefeller Church, New York City, also a series of Aisle windows for the new chapel at Princeton University.

NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union convened in the Chapel of Channing Church on December 1st. Rev. C. A. Drummond voiced the welcome of the Church and followed with a most interesting account of its beginning and subsequent events.

Dr. Channing the saintly leader of his faith—with keen prophetic wisdom—laid the foundation of the religious belief that he founded some years before the women of vision were aroused to the needs of the world.

Miss Laura A. Jones, Vice-President of Massachusetts W. C. T. U., presented the subject, "What Church Owes State" and emphasized the importance of doing one's duty to aid in the election of the best candidates—having previously ascertained their records—and then follow their career with diligence.

Mrs. Carolyn King-Hunt again enchanted her audience with her artistic rendition of piano selections, "Du Bois," "Prayer," "Chorus of Shepherds."

AN APPEAL FOR ADVICE

How can it be possible that throughout Newton so many people have failed to hear about and understand the invaluable place which the Newton Welfare Bureau has taken for the good of all Newton, through many years.

Newton Associated Charities carried on relief work from 1889 until 1915.

That year the Newton Welfare Bureau was incorporated, and took over the office and responsibility of the Associated Charities, with funds remaining in its treasury, and elected several of the former officers.

As in many other cities, it was thought best to drop the term "Charities," and hence the new and comprehensive title.

Picture to yourself the discouragement of the many friends, long time workers, volunteers, executive board members, officers of the Welfare Bureau, when it becomes evident that all the painstaking effort of twelve years has failed to fix the attention of even old residents, to say nothing of the hosts of new comers.

Repeatedly from all parts of the City come such comments as these, "I never heard of the Newton Welfare Bureau? What is it for?" "Could I find there a maid, or a practical nurse, or a man to work about my place?" Very seldom comes the question, "Can I be of service?" "Can I, through the Welfare Bureau, help those who need care, sympathy, friendship?"

What can we do about it? We earnestly request suggestion, for adequate publicity methods.

Shall it be by letter, shall it be by house-to-house canvass, or shall it be by the spoken word, every one who does know the Welfare Bureau talking of its purpose and results, everywhere to all friends or acquaintances. This is a serious question. Suggestions are earnestly requested. Send advice to Enquirer, Newton Welfare Bureau, 12 Austin street, Newtonville.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

If You Cannot Do It Yourself, Let The Newton Welfare Bureau Do It For You

The Newton Welfare Bureau stands ready to take from your hands and your shoulders the tasks you would like to do yourself, if you had the time and opportunity to carry them through.

Every winter scores of families are needing relief—and friendly co-operation to help them with difficult conditions, and discouragement as sickness, lack of employment, those needing help which only an organization like the Newton Welfare Bureau can give them.

There is No Better Way of Helping than That of Giving an Opportunity for Self-Help.

If you cannot do it yourself, let the Welfare Bureau do it for you.

Your gift puts power into the hands of experienced executives "to carry on." We need more than a $1000 to complete our Budget for the year.

Have you made your contribution? Checks may be sent to the Newton Welfare Bureau, 12 Austin street, Newtonville.

As a further indication of their desire to better service patrons in the Newtons, the Watertown Upholstering Company has recently opened a most modern and complete shop in Newtonville. Centrally located at 967 Washington street, the new branch will make possible more rapid delivery and will be much more convenient for Newton householders. Established by its present owners in 1920, this large progressive firm has so satisfactorily served its hundreds of patrons that this new shop was an absolute necessity.

The workmen employed are experts in their various lines. Work is promptly attended to and estimates cheerfully and carefully given. They have never lost a customer from dissatisfaction, which is a proud record that speaks volumes for their business ability.

SUDDEN DEATH OF REV. JOHN J. WALKER

The Rev. John J. Walker, secretary of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, was found dead Sunday morning at the wheel of his motor car in the garage where he kept it parked in the rear of the home of Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, 69 Allerton road, Newton Highlands.

Associate Medical Examiner Thomas M. Gallagher of Newton made an examination and reported that there were indications that Mr. Walker's death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning, through the door of the garage and a door of the automobile were found open when the fatality was discovered.

Mr. Walker, a prominent Congregational clergyman, made his home with George H. Mellen, a well known Boston attorney, at 291 Lake avenue, Newton Highlands, and kept his car in the garage in the rear of the Hutchinson residence, nearby.

Having an engagement to preach Sunday in Fall River, he rose early and left the Mellen house about 8 o'clock to go to the garage for his car. About two hours later a member of the Hutchinson family went to the same garage to get the Hutchinson's car and found Mr. Walker dead at the wheel of his automobile. The engine of his car was running. Dr. Edward A. Andrews was summoned and Dr. Gallagher was notified.

Dr. Gallagher expressed the opinion that the clergyman left the garage door and a door of his car open in an effort to free the garage and car of the fumes of the gas while he was warming the engine, but that the northwest wind, blowing through the open doorway, prevented the gas from flowing out of the garage. He said he found no indications that Mr. Walker had been attacked by heart trouble.

The Rev. John J. Walker was born in Warren on May 17, 1858, and his father was a merchant in that town. After attending the Springfield high school, he entered Amherst College and was graduated in 1889. He obtained his religious education at Andover and at Union Theological Seminary.

His first assignment after ordination was as assistant pastor in Providence. Subsequently he held pastorates in Yarmouth and Westboro and in 1911 he became treasurer of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, 14 Beacon street, this city, and came to Newton Highlands to live. After several years' service as treasurer, he was appointed secretary of the society and held that office until his death. He was a member of Theta Delta Chi of Amherst.

His wife, Bertha Pierce Walker, died in 1919. He is survived by a son, William Pierce Walker, member of the senior class at Amherst, and two daughters, Mrs. George H. Mellen, Jr., of Hyannis, and Mrs. Lyndall F. Carter of Newton Centre, wife of the son of Horace A. Carter, former member of the Governor's council.

Funeral services were held at the Newton Highlands Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon and were attended by many of his associates in the ministry, by delegations from missionary organizations and by a representation from the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. During the afternoon the offices of the Home Missionary Society were closed.

Three clergymen officiated. Rev. Edward C. Camp of Watertown, delivered the invocation, there was reading from the Scriptures by Rev. Frederick E. Emrich, D.D., of Jamaica Plain, formerly secretary of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society; and the pastor, Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, offered prayer. At the request of the family no eulogy was given. Organ music was provided by Edgar J. Smith, the selections including "Elegy" by Lemaire and "Largo" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony."

The pallbearers were Rev. Frederick H. Page, president, and Rev. Asa M. Parker and Rev. Oliver D. Sewall of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society; Rev. Rolfe Cobleigh, representing The Congregationalist; Rev. Arthur J. Covell of the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply; and Rev. Enoch Bell and Dr. Mark Ward, representing the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

The ushers were Appleton Williams, Charles A. Clark, George W. Reynolds, Leonard Boyd and Albert Mellen, all of Newton Highlands. Burial was in the Newton Cemetery where Mr. Woodrow conducted a committal service.

MISS COPELAND DEAD

Miss Mary C. Copeland, who had been a school teacher for a number of years, died on Monday of pneumonia at her home, 22 Erie street, Newton Highlands. Miss Copeland was born in Abington, the daughter of Ira and Caroline F. Copeland. She was educated in the schools of Brockton, and prepared for teaching at the Boston Normal School. Following her graduation she began teaching in Braintree and later with the Brockton schools. Subsequently she gave up teaching and turned her attention to bookkeeping and for many years was thus employed by two different firms. Miss Copeland was a member of the Church of the New Jerusalem. She is survived by a sister, Miss Marion K. Copeland, who lived with her.

DEATH OF MISS BROOKS

Miss Margaret Brooks, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Brooks of Erie avenue, Newton Highlands, died suddenly last Monday while visiting a friend at Indianapolis. Miss Brooks has been a student at Wheaton but was compelled to leave on account of poor health, and previous to her visit in Indianapolis had been in New Mexico.

She was 24 years of age and a member of Wheaton College class of 1926, where she was captain of the riding team.

By Edw. H. Powers

Two of the candidates for the office of Alderman at Large from Ward 5 are friends of ours, and we wish that both could be elected. We have come in contact with John Temperley for years because of the fact that we both are engaged in newspaper work. He has always conducted himself as a gentleman, his honesty is unquestioned, there is no doubt as to his sincerity of purpose.

His opponent, Herbert M. Bridey, we knew years before he took up his residence in this city. As a poor boy he labored diligently to obtain the education necessary to fit him for his profession. He has always been a hard worker, and has taken commendable interest in civic affairs.

West Newton

Next Sunday, December 11, is "Second Church Day." The morning sermon will deal with the life and work of The Second Church. For the first time in a number of years, there will be an "Every member Canvass" in the afternoon. It is hoped that members will remain at home in the afternoon to receive the visitors from the Church.

The Vesper services at The Second Church which are being conducted from 4:30 to 5:10 on every Thursday afternoon, are proving to be a very helpful, restful and enjoyable service. Fuller Chapel was completely filled on last Thursday afternoon, with those who were anxious to avail themselves of this rare opportunity to absorb noble thinking and instructive ideas.

ARTICLE No. 30

When a player, as dealer, picks up his hand and finds that he has a short minor suit of four cards, headed by the ace, king, and a long major suit of five or more cards, headed by the jack, queen or king, there is still some difference of opinion as to the correct bid. There is really no choice, however, for an original bid should always indicate at least one sure trick in the suit bid. If both suits contain top cards, then bid the longer, but if the short suit has top cards, then bid that suit. For example, the following hand has just been submitted:

Hearts—J, 8, 7, 5, 4, 2
Clubs—A, 7
Diamonds—A, K, J, 6
Spades—K

What should the dealer bid with this hand? The proper bid is undoubtedly one diamond. Then, if overbid, show the heart suit. Of course, the hand should be played at hearts, but when a player makes a bid he has no guarantee that he or his partner will play the hand. For that reason he should show his defensive tricks first so that if the opponents win the final declaration, his partner will know what to lead. Suppose, in the example hand, the dealer opened the bidding with one heart and the opponent on left won the bid with four spades. Does the dealer want a heart opened? Not by any means. The only suit that he wants opened is diamonds and, therefore, that is the correct original bid.

Suppose the dealer, however, held the following hand:

Hearts—A, K, Q, 7
Clubs—A, K, 8, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—10, 6
Spades—7

With this hand the dealer should bid one club because the clubs are not only the longest suit but also because they contain a sure trick.

With the following hand:

Hearts—A, K, Q, 6
Clubs—K, 10, 8, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—10, 6
Spades—7

the proper opening bid is one heart. Let your original bid mean sure tricks and you will never get into trouble. Second day bids—that is, those made on the second or subsequent round of bidding—usually show a long suit without top cards and, therefore, warn one's partner not to lead them unless his own holding in the suit justifies the lead.

There is still a more or less wide divergence of opinion as to the type of hand that justifies a take-out of partner's original no-trump, second hand having passed. Here are two hands just submitted:

Hearts—A, K, Q, 7, 4
Clubs—A, 8
Diamonds—8, 2
Spades—K, J, 7, 5
: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump and A passed. What should Y bid?

Problem No. 36
Hearts—K, 8, 6, 5, 3
Clubs—9, 6, 5, 2
Diamonds—10
Spades—A, 9, 7
: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

No score, first game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump and A passed. What should Y bid? An analysis of these hands and the proper bidding will be given in the next article.

The following hand is a good example of clever play:

Hearts—3
Clubs—Q, 8, 6
Diamonds—J, 10, 8, 6, 5, 3
Spades—Q, 5, 2
: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

Hearts—J, 8, 5, 4
Clubs—A, K, 10, 9, 5
Diamonds—A, K, Q
Spades—7

No score, rubber game. The final bid is six clubs which A has doubled. If A played the king of spades and followed with the ace, how should Z play the hand? The answer is, that if the trumps are divided three and two between A and B, and if A and B each has two diamonds, or if the one who has three trumps has also three diamonds, Z can make his contract. Z should trump the ace of spades at trick two, play the ace and king of trumps and follow with the ace and king of diamonds; he should then lead his lowest trump, and let Y win the trick with the queen. Y should then play the queen of spades, and Z should discard the queen of diamonds. This unlocks the diamond suit and Y can make four more tricks, upon which Z discards his hearts.

The Story of the Realization of A Vision

Long ago, at Christmas, in a little town in Denmark, a young post office clerk, cancelling thousands of postage stamps on holiday greeting cards, visioned the world-wide message of Christmas cheer which those Christmas cards and letters carried. Also, he thought of the money paid to the government for all those postage stamps which carried the holiday greetings.

Out of that grew the belief that one more stamp, just a gay little penny sticker, would be added to the burden which the Christmas cards and letters and packages already carried; and thus a fund raised to help build a much needed hospital in Copenhagen for tuberculosis patients. The young post office clerk's name was Einar Hoelbel. Through his untiring efforts, the royal family of Denmark and influential officials became interested, and in 1904 came the first tuberculosis Christmas seal sale. Response was far beyond expectations. Other European countries adopted the custom, and it became a permanent method of raising money for tuberculosis work.

Later, Jacob Reis, who was one of our first social service workers, received a letter from Denmark, his mother country, on which was one of the bright colored Danish health seals. His interest was aroused at once, and he was so impressed by the new method of raising money for public health work that he wrote an article for the Outlook telling of the origin and success of the plan.

Miss Emily Bissell of Delaware seems to have been the only person actively interested in the plan as described in Mr. Reis' article. She organized and conducted the first Christmas seal sale in this country, for the benefit of a small tuberculosis hospital in Delaware. The income from that sale was $3000. Miss Bissell took her plan for financing tuberculosis relief to the American Red Cross, with the result that they conducted in 1908 the first national sale of Christmas seals. That sale brought in about $135,000. In 1909 the returns were $200,000.

In 1910 the Red Cross turned over the seal sale to the National Tuberculosis Association, agreeing, however, to finance the Christmas seal sale and allow its name and influence to be used. This combination lasted until 1919. Only the scarlet emblem of the American Red Cross had appeared on the seals. In that year the seals appeared with both the scarlet emblem and the double barred cross, international emblem of the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

Since 1920 the National Association has been the only proprietor of the Christmas seal. There have been many little pictures on the seals from year to year, with always the double-barred cross in the foreground.

And so has come true the vision of Einar Hoelbel. Billions of little stickers have gone forth every year, and hospitals, sanatoria, clinics, open air schools and public health education are able to carry on because of those gay little penny stamps.

Do not confuse the Christmas seal sale with the Red Cross annual drive, or emergency appeals.

Following are the results by villages of the sale of Christmas seals for the second week of the sale.

CHILDS RE-ELECTED BY BIG MAJORITY

Aldermen-at-Large Grebenstein, Baker, Gordon and Pratt Also Re-elected—Temperley And Murray Win in Wards 5 and 7

When to the usual indifference of the voters to the city election is added the weather conditions which discourage travel abroad, it is easy to predict that less than half of the registered voters of the city would take the trouble to go to the polling booths and mark their ballot. This was true last Tuesday when with contests for nearly every office, only 11,826 ballots were cast out of a registration of rising 22,000.

Mayor Childs, who has never been seriously in peril of re-election, again came through with flying colors notwithstanding the activities of his opponent, Alderman Hodgdon. The mayor polled 8840 votes to 2562 for Hodgdon and carried every precinct in the city.

Of the six aldermanic contests at large, the sitting alderman in every case was re-elected, Alderman Grebenstein in Ward 2, Alderman Baker in Ward 3, Alderman Gordon in Ward 4, and Alderman Pratt in Ward 6. Alderman William E. Earle in Ward 1 was unopposed. In Ward 5, in a three-cornered contest, John Temperley, publisher of the "Town Crier," was successful and in Ward 7, Joseph J. Murray won from J. Edward Callanan.

For member of the School Committee from Ward 2, George H. Tracy was easily re-elected.

What was expected to be a close contest for ward alderman in Ward 1 between Edward H. Powers, Charles Chasson and John W. Blakeney, Jr., resolved itself into a walk-over for Powers, who won on first choice votes. The three-cornered fight in Ward 2 for ward alderman between Fred W. Woodcock, William B. Arnold and Daniel O'Connell resulted in the election of Mr. Woodcock with Mr. O'Connell a close second. In this contest no one received a majority of first choice votes and the result was determined by adding second choices. It is said that Mr. O'Connell will ask for a recount.

Chester Prior was successful in his contest with Hugh E. Devine for ward alderman in Ward 3, and Alderman Noone won out in Ward 4 against Theodore W. Dearborn. Alderman Holbrook of Waban, Alderman Worth of Newton Centre and Alderman Hawkins of Newton were unopposed for re-election as ward aldermen.

The preferential system of voting was in operation in electing an alderman at large from Ward 5 and for ward alderman in Wards 1 and 2. This system provides that if no candidate receives a majority of all the first choice votes cast, the second choice votes received by each shall be added to the first choice votes and the candidates having a plurality of this combined vote is declared elected. In the three contests where the preferential system operated at this election, two were decided by first choice votes, and the third case, the candidate having a plurality of first choice votes also had a plurality of the combined first and second choices.

In Ward 5, Bridley had 550 second choice votes, McKenzie had 1050 and Temperley 868.

Tables are printed in this issue showing the vote by precincts.

WILL BE FOUND ON PAGE SIX

By Edw. H. Powers

Newton folks should congratulate themselves that they have not a Mayor of the types represented by Bauer, Gillis and Quigley.

One of our loyal friends who braved the inclement weather of Tuesday to come to the polls and vote is James Dunn of 85 Gardner street. Despite his 87 years he travelled to the voting place at the Newton Police station to do his bit.

Mud throwing and innuendo are effective political weapons in some places—but not in Newton. The voters of this city do not approve of such tactics, and candidates for political office who resort to such methods do not profit thereby.

Some persons have persisted in considering Mayor "Blah" a man of wisdom and ability. His latest bid for publicity by opposing the order of the state authorities to have dogs restrained, has caused many of his erstwhile admirers to become disgusted with him.

The storekeepers of Newton are indignant, and justly so, at transient vendors who come into this city for a week or two during the Easter and Christmas seasons to compete against them. Rents are high in Newton and the local merchants contend that when they contribute to the upkeep of the city by taxes which their rents help to pay, and by their personal taxes, it is unfair to have outsiders come here at the two seasons of the year when business is good. Business has been none too prosperous for the average merchant in this city. They pay taxes here, reside here, and render service the year round to our people. They should be afforded protection from outsiders who come in here to skim the cream. If it can be legally done, Newton should pass an ordinance levying a permit fee on transient vendors which will be sufficiently high to keep them away.

In Precinct 1 of Ward 1 most of the residents are working people. A large number of them must make considerable sacrifice to go to the polls and vote on election days. The percentage of voters in this precinct who do their civic duty on election days is far larger than in those precincts of Newton where the wealthier residents live. Our indifferent, prosperous folks should emulate their less fortunate fellow citizens in the matter of voting.

Henry Tibbets, clerk at police headquarters, is getting much exercise these days acting as a reception committee of one for the many dogs which are being brought in for detention until they are taken to the dog pound at Newton Highlands. Henry would appreciate co-operation by persons who are careless about restraining their pet canines. It is no joke to handle some big police dog who is "a one man dog."

LODGES

The Golden Rule Association, composed of Hudson, Framingham, Waltham, Milford, Natick, Allston and Garden City Encampment of Newton, I. O. O. F., held the monthly meeting, which was a "Ladies Night," on Friday evening, Dec. 2nd.

Garden City Encampment I. O. O. F., paid a social visit to Somerville Encampment on Monday evening, Dec. 2nd. P. C. P. Gillis W. Stark of Garden City is Deputy Grand Patriarch over Somerville Encampment.

Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., held a Christmas party in Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, Monday evening, Dec. 12. There was a large number of children present 9 months to 70 years old. A large Christmas tree, well decorated with electric bulbs and filled with presents for old and young. Will Sweatt was master of ceremonies as Santa. A most wonderful entertainment was given by 12 children whose ages were from 4 to 10 years.

Newton was well represented at the annual meeting this week of the grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Massachusetts. Joseph T. Paul was appointed district deputy for District 1 and Charles E. Hatfield for District 13. Joseph B. Ross was appointed grand lecturer and Arthur H. Burdick grand master of the second veil. O. D. Dickerman was captain of the guard at the installation.

DOGS MUST BE RESTRAINED

The 90 days restraining order on dogs in Newton went into effect yesterday. All dogs in Newton must be kept tied up, or if a dog is taken out on the streets it must be on a leash. The restraining order this time is unusually strict. A dog, even though wearing a muzzle, cannot be allowed at large for the next 90 days. All dogs found at large will be taken by the police to the dog pound at the City Home grounds in Newton Highlands. The owner of a dog wearing a collar with the address of the owner, or the license number, will be notified. Otherwise, unless the dog's owner calls for it within 48 hours, the animal will be turned over to the M. S. P. C. A. for disposition. Each patrolman is provided with a chain leash to enable him to capture dogs. Reserve Patrolman Davis will operate the closed auto truck which will take the captured dogs to the pound.

XMAS PARTY

Auburndale Group of Women Hold Children's Party

The Auburndale Club was the scene of a merry party on Monday evening, Dec. 12, when the members of the Business and Professional Women's Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club held its first Christmas party. The festivities took the form of a children's party, enlivened by the presence of Miss Muffet, Little Red Riding Hood, many other nursery favorites, and boys and girls in every period of growth, in whom it was hard to recognize the business and professional women of Auburndale. A lighted Christmas tree lent a real Yuletide touch, and this tree was surrounded by the dolls, stuffed animals, fancy articles and other gifts which the members of the club had made at a previous meeting, and which will be sent to crippled children and friendless old people in time for Christmas.

Mrs. Lorraine Foat Holmes, a club member, read Christmas stories and legends, after which carols were sung by the entire club. Games and stunts, including a Mother Goose guessing contest, balloon races and forfeits were enjoyed, after which refreshments dear to the heart of children were served.

The prize for the best dressed girl was awarded to Mrs. Mariette Nudd, while that for the boys went to Miss Louise Wood.

Music was furnished by Miss Agnes Strang, Miss Dorothy Grant and Mrs. Walter Davis.

Arrangements for the evening were in charge of Miss Agnes Strang, chairman, and the following committee: Mrs. John F. Brown, Jr., Mrs. Albert L. Puffer, and the Misses Mary Butler, Sadie A. Dooley, Evelyn D. Keyes, Ruth C. Obermeyer, Sallie E. Turner and Louise Wood.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

At a luncheon bridge on Wednesday the 14th, at the home of Mrs. Cameron Guiler, 25 Sumner street, Newton Centre, the engagement was announced of Miss Ruth D. Litchfield, daughter of Mrs. William E. Litchfield, formerly of 75 Bellevue street, now of 150 Washington street, Newton, to Mr. Robert J. Dunkle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dunkle of 133 Salisbury road, Brookline.

OVER THE TOP

Newton Chapter of Red Cross Passes Quota of Members

On Thanksgiving Day the Eleventh Annual Roll Call conducted by the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross came to a close with 6723 members. The quota set by National Headquarters for Newton was 6000. Memberships are still being received and letters such as the following indicate the spirit with which enrollments are made:—

"This remittance is a little late but expect it will help a little just the same. We have relatives in the Vermont flooded district and they are enthusiastic in their praises of the wonderful work done by the Red Cross."

Those who enrolled were not urged to do so but voluntarily accepted the invitations to join extended to every man, woman, and child in Newton. In this respect the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross gratefully acknowledges the co-operation of the Clergy, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the moving picture proprietors, and the newspaper editors.

The Newton Chapter wishes that it were possible to acknowledge each and every membership and gift and refrains from this procedure only because it is the policy of the Red Cross to spend as little money as possible upon administrative expenditures. It will interest those who may not be aware of it already to know that every penny donated for disaster relief is used for that purpose alone—all costs of administering relief are paid by the National Organization from the Roll Call receipts.

The people of Newton will be faithfully served locally, nationally, and internationally during the coming year through the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross. All contributions have been promptly dispatched to the flood area. Christmas bags have been sent to our soldiers and sailors in foreign countries, the production of garments and knitted goods for servicemen, for foreign, insular, and refugee relief work is under way, and plans have been made to carry on our regular activities for the year.

Your membership in the Red Cross makes all this work possible.

TRACK AND FIELD CANDIDATES OUT

Track and field candidates for the Newton high school indoor track team are working out daily on the track in the old gymnasium building under the direction of Coach Donald Enoch and assistant coach Herbert Tisdale. Indications are that Newton will have an excellent team this fall, unless injuries and unforeseen incidents occur to rob the squad of the promising material on hand. The initial practice of the indoor season was held Monday afternoon and this week the runners and jumpers have been taking it easy. Next week and during the Christmas vacation they will buckle down to work in preparation for the opening meet of the season with the Alumni on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 31, at 2:30 o'clock.

It is expected that a number of the star veterans of recent years will be on hand in an attempt to take the measure of the undergraduates. Any alumnus of the high school is eligible to compete and the more that are on hand the greater test can be given this year's invitation to compete for the graduates is not necessary as it is practically impossible to get in touch with all of the runners and jumpers of recent years.

For this year's team there are six letter men available with a number of other more or less experienced men who were entered in the various events last year but failed to make the points required for a letter. The six letter men are Captain Malcolm Reed in the relay and 300-yard run; Edward Ebelharc in the high and broad jumps; James McCrudden in the 1000-yard run; Hamilton Kollmyer in the 600-yard run and dash; Dick Reynolds in the 600-yard run and relay; and Romaine Cole in the dash and hurdles.

Wallace Fullerton, captain of last year's team, was the fastest man in the dash, the orange and black had, but Coach Enoch expects John Mullen to fill Fullerton's shoes in this respect and it would not surprise him to see Mullen running in lower figures than Fullerton. Mullen is probably the fastest man in school this year and with the experience he picked up last winter and as a backfield substitute on the football team he should score many points for Newton this winter. He gets away off the mark like a flash. In addition to Mullen, Cole and Kollmyer in the dash there are several likely looking prospects in Kinraide, Fowler Cole, a brother of Romaine Cole, and Spencer deMille. The latter by the way is attempting to win honors in three sports this year. He is captain-elect of the baseball team, is expected to hold down the centre position on the basketball five as well as trying out for the track team. Being the tallest lad in school, standing six feet five, he should have little difficulty in getting the tapoff on the basketball court the majority of the time. As a member of the track squad little is known of his ability but he is working at the hurdles, dash, and broad jump.

In the 300-yard run Newton should be well off with Captain Reed, Earley Bearsto, and James Silley. The two latter are good looking prospects and with Captain Reed to lead them should come through with points in many of the coming meets. The relay team is largely picked from 300-yard runners but Bearsto and Silley will have a step to beat such runners as Romaine Cole, Dick Reynolds, Hamilton Kollmyer and possibly Mullen. With such prospects to draw from the relay quartet should hold its own with the best of its opponents.

Dick Reynolds ran several fine races in the 600 yard run last year along with Kollmyer and this pair will show their heels to many opponents in the dual meets as well as in the interscholastic affairs. Other prospects for this event are Richard Gibbs and Silley.

Jimmie McCrudden should have a great year in the 1000 yard, last winter being among the three best in the state along with Walter Langley of Lowell and Dave Barrie of Brookline. Barrie has graduated but Langley is again a member of the Lowell team. In the coming interscholastic meets this pair should put on some great duels. There is no gamier high school runner in the state than the Newton lad. In one of the home meets he lost his shoe early in the race while in the lead but continued on and though greatly handicapped finished in third position. Gilbert Adams, the son of a Harvard half-miler a quarter of a century ago, and Richard Gibbs are also trying out for the 1000 and are considered unusually fair prospects by the Newton mentor, who was himself a star miler on the Pennsylvania State track team not very many years ago.

In the hurdles Coach Enoch expects Romaine Cole to have a good year. He really is a sensation in this event and the year of football he has just finished should put him right up with the bigger fellows. Last year at the Andover interscholastic he nosed out Eugene Record for a place in the finals. The Judges picked Record but the Brookline boy turned the medal over to Cole on his own initiative in one of the most sportsmanlike acts in the history of schoolboy athletics. Spencer deMille is showing fine form over the barriers and if his speed on the even stretches is good enough he will make a fine running mate to Cole. Other promising hurdlers are Nathan Pearson and Edgar Warren. Warren ran in a number of races last year and has had more experience in the event than Pearson and deMille.

In the field events the coach is doing little worrying with the exception of the shot put. It is some years now since Newton has had a man who could heave the shot far enough to score many points. Several football men are considered possibilities. Among them are Creighton Gatchell star centre, William Lovely, Philip Andres and Stanley Brown. All of them are strong broadshouldered boys and if they can develop form will be well able to take care of this event.

Coach Enoch is looking to Edward Ebelharc to win five points in the high jump in all of the dual meets this winter and expects him to score heavily in the all-scholastic meets. He is doing five feet ten inches consistently in practice and has cleared six feet in competition. It is quite possible that Ebelharc will set a new high jump record for Newton high sometime this year. At Medford last winter he won the event with a jump of six feet and his winning leap lifted him clear of the bar by a clear margin of two inches. He is a natural athlete, nimble and well-balanced and his main trouble is to keep down his weight. Plenty of work, however, is expected to solve this problem. Along with Ebelharc are two other lads of prospective ability on the high jump. They are Mike Fine and Marshall. Fine had some experience last year which should aid him in his efforts this season.

Fine is the best prospect in the broad jump. Wednesday afternoon he consistently leaped nine and a half feet and with more practice and in competition should add five or six more inches quite handsly. If he does he will be right up among the point-winners. One candidates who may do well in this event are deMille and Ebelharc.

With such a bunch of promising material Newton high should do well despite the stiff schedule which has been arranged. The first dual meet after the Alumni affair will be with Coach Pidgeon's strong Medford high outfit. Following this will be meets with B. C. High, Brockton, home and home affairs with Brookline and Houghton, as well as the four interscholastic meets staged by the B. A. A., Andover, American Legion, and the State association. It is possible that Newton may on invitation send a relay team to the Harvard high school championships at the Commonwealth armory but the athletes will not compete oftener than once a week.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING

The faculty managers and coaches of the schools holding membership in the Suburban League met Wednesday evening at the University Club. Representatives from each of the six schools were present for the dinner and the business session which followed. But three important matters were taken up in the course of the evening.

Discussion of the method of selecting football officials resulted in a change in the policy which has prevailed for the past few years, namely, selection by the home faculty manager. Hereafter football officials will be chosen at regular meetings of the organization. A tentative list has already been drawn up for next year. Five names have been selected for each game, three of which will be appointed within the next few weeks. Dissatisfaction for the system in vogue the past few years was responsible for the change which came about at this time because of the fact that in one of the three league games on Thanksgiving Day one of the officials was from the same city as one of the home teams.

A change was also made in regard to baseball umpires when it was voted to appoint two men to work in each game. A number of such appointments were made Wednesday night but the list is not ready for publication. The baseball assignments will be made by Secretary M. C. O'Neill of Everett.

The second important matter was the awarding of the league football championship to Cambridge Latin. Newton won the title after Everett had forfeited three of its games because of DiMott's ineligibility because of being over age but Newton in turn had a player not taking sufficient credits and had to forfeit three victories also. The Cantabs representatives at first seemed reluctant to accept the title but it was brought out that there was nothing in the by-laws by which a team was allowed to refuse to accept a forfeited game.

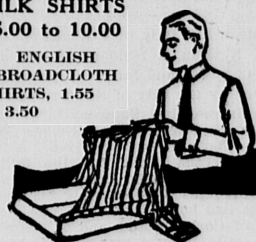

A new rule regarding persons eligible to sit on the bench during the baseball games was also adopted. Only coaches, managers, doctors, trainers and members of the squad will be permitted to occupy the bench.

The third important matter was the adoption of the 1928 football schedule which will open as it did this season

COLLEGE NEWS

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

The season of Christmas is drawing very nigh, or so one would be led to believe if he had his feet stepped on a few more times in the big city. This is the time when one is led to the worship of the light footed half back that has been described as slippery, so slippery in fact that no one can get their hands on him, and it also is the time when the big city college wishes that it were far off in the country, for then they would not have to dive to the infirmary in order to recuperate from the lacerations on mind and body that take place in order to make Christmas a real holiday. As one book says the test of a gentleman is that he still bows ladies into the store first on Christmas week. Last of all the writer realizes why Christmas is so joyfully received by all living undergraduates because it is the one day in the year when examinations can absolutely not be passed out, but the week before college closes is an open season for professors to bag innocent students who have been diverting themselves in various ways all year.

The rushing season at Brown has just closed and the results are just ready to be published. The Newton fraternity, so-called because of the number of Newton men that have joined it in the past managed to gain three members from the Garden City in the persons of E. Kent Allen of West Newton, E. Granzer Hapgood, Junior, of Newton Highlands, and William Korman of Newton Centre, all of whom became pledges of the Eta Sigma Chapter at Brown, where Hal Carver and Elmer Curtis are also brothers. The Theta Delta Chi pledges Cory Snow of Newton Centre and the other two Newton boys have not as yet definitely signed up, but are expected to within a week. Korman and Allen have reported for the ineligible team in hockey that will practise the Varsity throughout the coming winter, while Hapgood has been on the verge of being one of the members of the dialogue team that is part of the variation to the strict musical program that the Brown Musical Clubs offer. Snow is the budding journalist, and he has had numerous promotions on the staff of the Brown Daily Herald.

Since many of the graduates or non graduates of college disappear beyond the ken of men and women generally after their taking their degree this would be a good time to bring to mind where some of these erstwhile students are. Harvard always attracts many of its students to more deeply involved courses, consequently has a following from other colleges as well. In their second year at Harvard graduate school are Ralph Thompson, and Carl Schipper. Ralph is intending to carry on his father's work as a dentist, and spends his time in the laboratories connected with that end of pain killing, while Carl spends many weary hours over torts and deeds in order to be able at some future date to hang out his shingle saying that he is a full fledged lawyer. While at Dartmouth they both were popular, and had an enviable reputation on campus, Carl being head of the Phi Gamma Delta House, while Ralph had a deal of interest in the affairs of the Zeta Psi Chapter up there. Another Zeta that since his departure from the wilds of Hanover has taken up business as a profession is Russell Clark whose present occupation is that of being a banker in Boston, or rather an embryonic banker since he still is in the making in at the First National Bank of Boston. Hamilton Oakes, who dropped out of college in order to go to work this winter has been selling radiators to big, but cool buildings, and has been successful according to last reports. Two of the other members of the Bowdoin graduate society have turned their intellects over to the teaching profession and are doing their level best to force upon young and innocent minds the very things that they abhorred when they were young. Bob Olmstead is teaching English at Andover and coaching hockey on the side, while Julius Kohler is teaching and coaching down on Long Island at Saint Joseph's School. Roger Case, a new alumnus from Brown, is busy learning why we get the wrong numbers when we pronounce them plainly enough, since he is working for the New York Telephone and Telegraph Company, and is busy learning the ins and outs of the business. According to the last word received from him he believes that he is out more than anything. Charlie Brown is learning the why of paper making in Fitchburg, and has come to the conclusion that there is not much reason but pretty fair money which counts he believes. In the insurance business there is Mike Gulian and at the same place Alan Dunlop, both of them eager to make sure that you will be taken care of, something they used to be able to do very well on the football field. Bob Savory is traveling through New England in a Ford, and stopping everywhere that he knows a Newton man, hence all the news travels via his mouth, and he also sells starch as a side line. George Barker is working out in New York, where he has some connection with the heavy board style of construction. That is about enough concerning some of the graduates of Newton that have gotten down to the task of earning their bread and butter. There will be more later.

In Miss Sacker's School in Boston one of the best girls in the art of making home seem artistic is Ruth Pearson who, before she left Newton, was easily one of the best painters, and color designers that the High School had. Ruth has been forging steadily to the fore, and her work has caused considerable comment. Along with her but at another school is Evelyn Jackson whose work at the Vesper George School has been highly commended by those who have studied her work with care. Dorothy Frost when she can spare the time from her more pressing work in a doctor's office is another of the artistic geniuses that Newton seems to be full of in recent years.

One of the leading girls at Vassar this year is Bobbie Kendorfina, whose scholastic, and whose athletic rating is about as high as it is possible for anyone to have. She has always been a popular girl and her work has brought her in one scholarship after another, while she has been elected to various offices in her class. While at Newton she was the leading person in her class, one of the best scholars, and one of the most respected girls in the graduating body.

Edited by ENMA D. COOLIDGE

Waban Woman's Club

On Monday, December 19, E. E. Clive, manager and producer at the Copley Theatre, will talk on "The Drama of Today," following the business meeting of the Waban Woman's Club at 2:30 o'clock. Statements from such a source on the topic will have tremendous value for accuracy and for viewpoint that is different through practical experience. Tea will be served after the "talk."

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Children's Christmas Party of the Newtonville Woman's Club will be given on December 20 this year. Fifty needy children from all parts of Newton will be the guests of the Club for the afternoon. The Choir of Perkins Institute will sing carols. Mr. Edwin O. Hoadley, of the faculty of Massachusetts Normal Art School, will entertain with feats of magic, and Santa Claus is scheduled to appear with gifts in his pack. The thrill of both demonstrations of the impossible will be a delight to members as well as guests, it may be safely prophesied, for all humanity loves the magic, and the further magic of a kind deed, not made by sleight of hand, is warming to the heart of the doer. Club members are urged, therefore, to attend, and to take their children with them, so that all may share in the Christmas joy the Club hopes to give these youngsters.

State Federation

BROADCAST. Next Wednesday, December 21, Mrs. Paul A. Peters, chairman of Co-operation with War Veterans, broadcasts a Christmas message, at 10:30 a. m., over WNAC. "Touring in District Two," will be described by the director, Mrs. J. H. Libby. Mrs. Stanley Rose Fisher, of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club, is to sing Christmas carols, accompanied by Belle Conant Marden, pianist, of the Orange Woman's Club.

Community Service Club of West Newton

On Wednesday, the 21st, the Community Service Club of West Newton gives its annual delightful party for the children in the Community Room of the Library at 3:30 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. Robert H. Grosz and Mrs. Sumner Robinson. A Christmas Tree, with presents and charming decorations, a moving picture, and the "real party" that means refreshments, with other plans that may surprise as well as make happy receiver and giver, make up the afternoon. The Welfare Bureau is co-operating with the Club in bringing the children who will be the guests, and Club members are calling for them in their automobiles, not only a courtesy, but an added bit of pleasure.

Boston Woman's Civics Club

On the same afternoon, the Boston Woman's Civics Club will enjoy a lecture by John Clair Minot on "What Shall We Read This Winter," in the Jewel Room of the Hotel Brunswick, Boston. Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton, of Newton Highlands, the president, will preside. Mrs. George M. Hayden, also of Newton Highlands, will lead the Current Events discussion, and Mrs. Mina del Castillo will have charge of the music. The Club is most generous in liking to share all its good things with interested Club women who may have been so careless or foolish as not to join this most worthwhile Club, and they will find a welcome if they care to attend.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The postponed meeting of the Travel Class which would have been held on the 12th if the important Conference at Waban had not conflicted, will be held on Monday, the 19th, at the home of Mrs. Wilson C. Dort, 342 Otis street, West Newton. A paper will be read by Mrs. John R. McLean, a former president of the Club, on "Geology of the United States." The delightful custom of this Club in appreciating, and showing honor to, those who have served them as first officers by requesting them to appear before them as speakers, as "pourer," as the hostesses upon all occasions, in receiving lines, and in at the tea tables, is exemplified in every meeting of the Club.

The next meeting of this Club to be held in the Unitarian Parish House, on December 23rd will be in the form of a Christmas Party, in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham. Twelve Newton children will be entertained. The entertainment will consist of carol singing, readings by Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis and dancing by Miss Dorothy Brackett. There will be a Santa Claus, tree, gifts and refreshments.

The Clubwomen of Newton certainly have cause to be proud of the many parties given for children at this season throughout the district, and the festivities of the West Newton Educational Club will not lag behind in attractiveness the others planned, for their parties in former years have been most fascinating, and their Santas notoriously entertaining.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The hospitable and delightful custom of keeping Open House on New Year's Day—a custom that is so prevalent in the warm-hearted south, and that might well become more prevalent in the north—is to be joined in by the Newton Centre Woman's Club, co-operating with the Village Improvement Association and assisted by Girl and Boy Scouts in welcoming the community at 7 o'clock on Christmas Eve. There will be carol singing directed by Mrs. Hitchcock and assisted by members of the Highland Glen Club. Miss Priscilla Ordway has in charge the plans for a very beautiful entertainment appropriate to the Christmas season. The Club hopes to welcome a large group to join in this village celebration and certainly no Club could be more fortunate in having an attractive home for such entertaining.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Community Club

The fourth meeting of the Newton Community Club was held on Thursday afternoon, December 8th, at the Underwood School Hall, with Mrs. Harry W. Fitts presiding. Professor Kirtley F. Mather, our fellow townsman, a geologist of international reputation and a professor of geology at Harvard University, lectured on "The Path of Life." By means of lantern slides he showed representations of fossil remains, petrified shells and footprints embedded in rock, picturing for his audience the creatures that have inhabited the earth up to the present age.

Following the address, the Junior Choirs of the Eliot Church, made up of about fifty boys and girls, sang Christmas carols. The service was very impressive as they moved up the aisle, in colored vestments, carrying torches and lighted tapers and singing the old familiar songs. Tea was served with Mrs. Robert G. Howard and Mrs. Arthur J. O'Connor pouring.

The Opera Talks Under Mrs. J. A. Moyer will begin Friday morning, January 6, at ten o'clock. There will be a meeting every Friday morning for five successive weeks. Each talk will last for an hour, or an hour and a half. The story of the operas will be told fully, with illustration of the music, and a copy of the story of each opera will be given those who attend. The following operas will be included in the Talks: La Gioconda, Lohengrin, Tosca, A Witch of Salem, Pagliacci, Aida, Tannhauser, Martha, Samson et Dalila, Rigoletto. Club members should note the change from Wednesday as listed in the Club Bulletin to Fridays, for this interesting course.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on December 9th was in charge of the American Home Department, Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, chairman. After the business meeting Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., spoke briefly on the non-endorsement of bills. This was followed by a group of songs by Mrs. Hugo Sharpe, a Club member. The program of the afternoon then opened with the stage set and arranged as a home service station.

Electrical problems were presented by members of the Home Economics Class and explained by Miss Hunter of the Edison Company. Many other home problems were brought up and explained by members of the Class. Mrs. J. Porter Russell spoke on the organization of the American Home Department by the Greenery Federation. The program closed with the recitation of Edgar Guest's poem "Home," by Mrs. Otis while "Home Sweet Home" was played on the piano by Mrs. Malcolm Warren. Tea and a delightful social hour followed.

Auburndale Review Club

On Tuesday morning the home of Mrs. George St. Amant on Hawthorne avenue was opened to the members of the Review Club and their guests for the last meeting of the old year. During the business hour there were reports from the committee chairmen who had attended the Conference of the 12th District the day previous at Waban. The morning's program was in charge of Mrs. Dean Hanscom whose topic the charm of Scandinavia, has been most beautifully told by Dr. F. E. Clark in his "Charm of Scandinavia" and Mrs. Hanscom read some of his most delightful descriptions. Mrs. Charles Valentine told of the origin of the Sagas quoting from a few of the best known. The last paper was on Hans Christian Andersen, written by Mrs. S. W. Dike and presented to her hearers a description of that king of fairy tale writers who has endeared himself to so many youthful readers.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

The Christmas Social of the Monday Club, held with Mrs. Murt S. Wallace on Monday, the 12th, was a most pleasurable affair. The program was in the hands of Mrs. C. D. Miller and Mrs. F. S. Fairchild. The program began with singing of two hymns by the Club, led by Mrs. Fairchild. This was followed by solos by Mrs. Fairchild and the reading of two stories and a poem by Mrs. Miller. The guests, Mrs. Leon E. Ryther and her daughters Janet and Nancy played several trios for piano, alto, and violin. Refreshments were served.

(Account written by the Club Press Chairman, Mrs. H. E. Child)

The one meeting in December of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, held Monday evening, the 12th, was one to be long and well remembered by those in attendance, for it was President's Night with a decidedly "Christmas flavor." The presence of the State Federation president, Mrs. Arthur Devons Potter, added much to the joy of the occasion. The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, in the chair. The business was of short duration, the principal business being the presentation by the Hospitality Committee of twenty-five dollars in gold, for the first five months' payment to the Co-operative Bank, toward a reserve fund, which may eventually be a building fund, shares for which had been voted by the Club at a previous meeting.

Mrs. McLaughlin welcomed most graciously the guests—presidents and secretaries of the 12th District. Mrs. Potter brought greetings from the State Federation and spoke at length on Club work in general. Mrs. Joseph Congdon, district director, gave the meaning of the Christmas decorations and their significance.

Mrs. H. E. Childs, chairman for the evening, announced the program, to open with Christmas carols under the leadership of Miss Madeline Cobb. The first group was introduced by the complete darkening of the Club room, and from a distance came the caroling voices in "Silent Night, Holy Night." As the verses were sung, one after another, the carollers stroled through the darkened corridor toward the Club room, and clustered in the doorway, holding candles and lanterns to light their way. Then followed in the same group, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and the glorious "First Noel."

Emma Downing Coolidge, an author of note throughout New England was the guest artist of the evening. As she stepped upon the platform Mrs. Potter rose and paid tribute to Miss Coolidge most graciously, saying that the State Federation had taken pride and pleasure in presenting a copy of her book "The Dreamer" to the General. NEWTON SPORTS

vard and Boston University hockey teams will meet in a game of more than usual interest to Newton sport fans. Gyp Lawless of West Newton, captain of the Terriers, and Guy Holbrook, one of Harvard's two centres, will face each other part of the time. Lawless is the B. U. ace and although very light in weight, is one of the leading college players at his position. Both Holbrook and Captain John Chase of the Harvard sextet are better than the average centres and will make the going hot for him. The outcome of the game is uncertain to say the least but it will no doubt hinge upon the ability of the Crimson players to stop the speedy, shifty, a dexterous stickhandler and, under the college code, will be able to retain all of his speed without having to take a severe bumping.

Our Lady High Wins

Our Lady High School basketball team defeated the St. Mary's high school of Waltham Tuesday afternoon at the Our Lady gym, 39 to 16. Lane, left forward and McLean, right forward, featured for the winners with 18 and 14 points respectively. Burke at center added the other seven points. Morris and Lally with six points apiece were St. Mary's best.

GIRL SCOUTS

All the Girl Scout Troops in Newton have been very busy during the past week making final preparations for their health rally which will take place in the Newton High School auditorium on Friday evening, December 16th. The rally will consist of two parts, the first to be an opening ceremony and awarding of merit badges and special awards by Mrs. Frank A. Day, Commissioner of Newton Girl Scouts. The Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps, led by Drum Major Armada Lemont of Troop 13 Newton Centre, will play during this part of the program. The second part of the rally will be an "Adventure in Health" in which a Girl Scout introduces her friends to the health family to a girl whom she meets in front of the gate of health. The gate itself is the outstanding feature of the scenery, and is loaned for the occasion by the Hodgson Portable House Company of Dover. This pageant is the one that the Boston Council of Girl Scouts enacted so successfully last spring at the Dorchester High School.

The third monthly meeting of the Newton Girl Scout Officers' Association was held at the West Newton Unitarian Church on Wednesday evening. After dinner, which was prepared by officers from Auburndale, a Christmas party was held. When all the presents had been opened and the guests had had a most riotous time, moving pictures of the circus which the Girl Scouts held in June were shown along with a film of Colonel Lindbergh's flight to Paris.

Christmas parties are in order for next week for almost all the troops and in the midst of the general rejoicing the girls of Troop 25, West Newton, are glad to receive this letter from the Captain of Troop 1, Becket, Mass., to whom they recently sent a Thanksgiving offering to help restore the community centre swept away by the flood. "Your thoughtful letter with check just came and I surely appreciate your kind gift. Our little troop was very hard hit and I am afraid that some of our girls are going away, as about half of them were employed in the only industry, a silk mill, which was swept away and is not to be rebuilt. Those that remain will strive hard to carry on our little work here in Becket and with all the help that we have back of us I am sure we will succeed."

At the last troop meeting 2 members of Troop 25 were invested as tenderfoot Girl Scouts. They were Deborah Yorke and Frances Timble.

The last meeting of the craft class was held on Wednesday afternoon. This class has had a very successful season so far and it is hoped that it will continue its activities after Christmas in the new Headquarters rooms at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville. The work done by the girls during these early season meetings has consisted of block printed scarves and table runners, leather purses, wool pocket books, leather belts, and hat decorations in the shape of animals.

For a comfortable winter. AUTOMATIC GAS HEATING

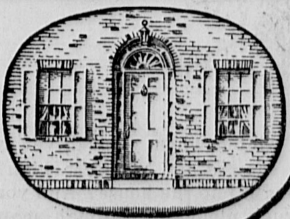

No furnace tending!

Wherever Gas is available people are making it their Home Heating Fuel. The modern Gas Furnace automatically maintains even, healthful room temperature, regardless of weather conditions. Once started, it is self-adjusting. Another appealing point is absolute cleanliness. And the price of all this comfort is surprisingly reasonable, as your investigation will show. Hundreds of Boston Homes are now heated by Gas. Why not yours?

EDITORIAL

The result of the city election on Tuesday, once more shows the tremendous hold Mayor Childs has on the electorate of Newton. His majority of over 6000 votes is approximately what he has polled at the last two elections.

One feature of the election this year was the entrance of the Republican city committee into the fight by way of a post card endorsement of candidates for mayor and aldermen at large. While there is certain to be some criticism of this action, it is undoubtedly true that many voters were glad to have some advice in making a choice between candidates who were wholly unknown to them. One of the most serious conditions in our city elections in the past has been the lack of knowledge of candidates for alderman at large and school committee, most of whom are not known outside of their ward or precinct.

All of the candidates endorsed by the committee were elected except Alderman Wakefield in Ward 2. Mr. Wakefield was running against a "candidate for re-election," an endorsement which is always a powerful factor in any election.

The preferential ballot was in force for election of an alderman at large from Ward 5, and Mr. Temperley with the committee endorsement was successful, even though about half the voters failed to express a choice for any candidate, evidently being fearful of making a mistake.

We hear from many directions sharp criticism of the school committee for not taking appropriate action to retain Mr. Francis L. Bacon in the service of the city. In the five years Mr. Bacon has been here, he has impressed everyone with whom he has come in contact, with his splendid personality and his manifest ability in educational matters. We have heard him mentioned as one of the three outstanding men in his profession in the entire country. We regret exceedingly that his connection with the Newton schools is to cease.

Newton stands number 28 in the list of Massachusetts municipalities in the amount of its per capita deposits in savings banks our figure being $324.32, Newburyport the highest, being $1,032.24. Possibly if the deposits of Newton residents in Boston banks could be allocated properly, Newton would stand considerably higher in the ranking.

There is justified indignation among the merchants of the city over the itinerant dealer in Christmas trees and novelties, who gets a location on a vacant piece of land and under sells the man who is in business the year around with taxes and rents to pay. Deal with Newton storekeepers this year and do not patronize the transient.

Owners of dogs should thoroughly understand that the order restraining dogs in this city does not allow them to run at large with a muzzle. Dogs at large should be always on a leash.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Edward Carter Burrage, a resident of West Newton for over 50 years died Monday at his home on Highland street at the age of 86 years. Mr. Burrage was born in Boston, the son of the late Johnson C. and Emeline (Brigham) Burrage. Mr. Burrage attended the old Quincy School, later going to the Allen school in West Newton, upon graduation from which he toured Europe for a year, entering the employ of J. B. Beebe & Co. in this city for a brief period on his return. During the Civil War he went to the front with the 44th Massachusetts Regiment.

At the end of the war he became a partner in his father's firm, J. C. Burrage & Co., woolen merchants, and was later connected with Abram French & Co., one of the leading china houses of the city at that time. He then went to the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, where he remained more than 30 years, retiring as assistant manager of its vaults. He also was vice president of the West Newton Savings Bank, but retired from active life some years ago.

Mr. Burrage was a charter member of The Players, and was active in the affairs of the Unitarian Church of West Newton.

He is survived by one son, Prof. Severance Burrage of Denver, Colo. and two daughters, Miss Caroline S. Burrage of West Newton and Mrs. James H. Barnard of Norwell. There are three sisters, Mrs. B. J. Lang of Boston, Mrs. John W. Carter of West Newton and Miss Emma Burrage, also of Boston. In 1866 Mr. Burrage married Julia Long Severance, daughter of T. C. and Caroline M. Severance of Cleveland and later of Los Angeles, Calif.

Funeral services were held from his late residence yesterday afternoon and Rev. Paul S. Phalan officiated.

DEATH OF MRS. FLORA DREW SAMPSON

Mrs. Flora D. Sampson, widow of the late Albert DeW. Sampson of St. James street, Newton, died Tuesday, Dec. 13th, at Watertown, Mass., where she has been sick for more than a year.

She was born in Duxbury in 1840 and was of entire Pilgrim ancestry. Mrs. Sampson has lived in Newton about sixty years. She was a graduate of Lasell Seminary and during her life in Newton has been active in club and church circles, being at the time of her death a member of The New England Woman's Club, The Woman's Press Association, The Appalachian Mountain Club, The Dickens Fellowship Club, The Founder and a member of the Boston Woman's Civic Club and a member of the Channing Unitarian Church. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Parker Fields of Cambridge and Miss Florence W. Sampson of Hartford, Conn. Funeral services conducted by the Rev. Chester A. Drummond were held Thursday at Mount Auburn Crematory Chapel and burial was at Duxbury.

"A PRINCE THERE WAS"

On the evenings of Dec. 7th and 8th the Newton Centre Woman's Club presented "A Prince There Was," by George Cohan. There was a large and enthusiastic audience on both nights. The play was full of humor and clever situations which call forth mirth and applause. The story concerns a wealthy young man, Martin, who finds no interest in life. His friend, an editor, tries to dissuade him from his careless living and says, "You used to be such a Prince." Martin is stung to self analysis and later listens responsively to a little poor girl Comfort who tells him about Mrs. Prouty's boarding house on 97th street. He decides to go and live there and meet the interesting boarders he hears about. Act II discovers him in the midst of the boarding house environment and in love with the authoress who has gone there to get material for her book. The last act discloses the denouement of the drama and of the book simultaneously when the authoress puts into her book, "A Prince There Was," the happy ending.

Prof. Kirtley Mather of Harvard gave a very forceful and intelligent interpretation of the leading character. Mrs. Ford gave charm to the part of the authoress. Little Alta Maloney won all hearts with her simple and naive acting of Comfort. The part of Caruthers, the editor, was taken by Dr. Harold Frost, who gave naturalness and force to the characterization. Norman Powers made a great hit as the old lawyer, Crickit—enacting the part to the slightest detail in a sincere manner.

Mention should be made of the excellent work of Mrs. Lewis as Mrs. Prouty, the boarding house mistress, her flapper daughter taken by Molly Draper and of the other characters in her house, Miss Vincent taken by Miss Wilkins and Short, a typical East side movie super, taken admirably by Samuel Fuller. Walter Holmes gave a careful presentation of Bland and the minor parts of Eddie, Dulla, and messenger were well done by Richard Cummings, Barbara Crosley and Hugh Newcomb. Miss Crosley's mannerisms as drudge, eliciting praise.

The furnishings for the First Act were loaned by Allen Hall & Co. Mr. E. W. Varney made the rose panels. Mr. Marx Noble loaned desk and chair for Act III. Mrs. Steinbeck was properties chairman. The play was coached by Mrs. Everett W. Varney. The smoothness of performance and perfection of lines and business showed her careful oversight and secured a satisfactory performance.

LINEMAN THROWN OFF LADDER

A truck driven by John Lyons of Allston hit a ladder at the corner of Chestnut and Woodward streets on Wednesday morning and hurled John Barr, 55, a lineman, living at 360 Langley road, Newton Centre, to the ground. Barr was taken to his home by a passing autoist and the extent of his injuries was not known by the police. Lyons stated that in trying to avoid a collision with another auto his truck struck the ladder which was propped against a pole.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

The canines and the candidates
Are in our minds this week.
The candidates have sought stray votes.
The canines stray bones seek;

The bark of one has been quite loud,
The other's bite quite deep,
Some candidates have done some things
"Twould make a canine weep;

For both a period of rest,
Restraint and living mild
Is now in order, and they both Must cease this running wild.

Well, the campaign isn't over yet.
As far as Newton is concerned we have already elected those who will figure at City Hall and in the School Board next year, but there is another candidate in the running.
There are no party lines drawn for him and he will get every vote there is and more.

Who is the wonderful person?
Where is the individual who is confident of unanimous choice and yet keeps everybody, young and old, on edge? Who can have general support, with no thought of political views on this, that or any subject?

Who can find people in the stores, struggling to do him honor? Who can find all kinds of organizations working day and night to pay him proper tribute? Whose name is the talk of street crowds and whose arrival December 25 is keenly expected in so many homes?

No matter how many there are who seek re-election, year after year, he is the only candidate who doesn't have to do any campaigning himself, but may sit back and get all the votes he wants. And somebody else pays all his campaign bills!

But where will you find a better friend than Santa Claus in this world of material things? He fills us with a spirit of generosity, good fellowship and goodwill and because of that deserves all the attention he receives.
No wonder Santa Claus wins!

By the way what has been your experience in the street crowds? Have you dodged going to Boston as long as you could and then finally found yourself compelled to get mixed up in the throngs? Have you thought that by going in early in the morning you could beat the others to it, only to find that about everybody else seemed inspired to do likewise?

Well, sir, I can testify that I have tried every scheme of which my mental processes were capable and I am still in doubt as to whether there isn't some better way. I would gladly receive any tips, suggestions or advice.

Now this idea of walking in the street! Well, that to me is better than the sidewalk. I don't like being shoved and if you insist upon your right to remain on the sidewalk you may be certain that there will be those who will prove they have an equally strong case. Not only is their case strong, but so are their muscles and they will poke you both back and front to demonstrate that fact.

No, I think that the street pavement is the best place for making progress in these busy Boston crowds. Until I have the contrary proved to me as the more desirable way I shall continue to hang on to the rear of a slow-going taxicab and make my journey in this fashion. It takes nerve, but I am brave enough, especially in a crowd in which the women far outnumber the men.

There is one thing for which I am grateful and that is the number of free blotters I manage to acquire from one source or another. I know of nothing else on this earth of any considerable value that we may sit still and have placed in our hands with no expense and no effort on our own part. These blotters, things we could not possibly do without, are showered upon us from various places.

It doesn't seem quite fair to look at a gift horse in the mouth, as the saying goes. And as far as that is concerned I have not the slightest intention of expressing ingratitude. No, indeed, I am willing to accept all the blotting paper that is handed to me as a gift. But there is something I believe I should say. It is, in the form of advice to the people who provide us with these very serviceable articles.

It is the wish of all us, when we are generous, to feel that whatever gift we may bestow is thoroughly appreciated. We like to be informed that it has proved its worth; that the recipient was pleased and satisfied.
Naturally, if the contrary is true we want to learn that, too, and we hasten to correct conditions which may not be absolutely perfect.

It is in a friendly mood I approach this subject of blotters. I want to thank the donors and to encourage them to even greater displays of generosity. Furthermore, I hope they may read this and feel so inspired that they will put me on the free list for life. So much for my personal interest.

Now my impersonal interest is judicial. I don't think that some of these business concerns who buy blotters to give away are getting their money's worth. The blotters do not seem to blot as well as they once did.
They seem to be harder. The printing is all right, which makes the blotter look well, but the paper is not thick enough. It doesn't seem to soak up the ink. I am one of those who do considerable blotting in the course of a letter and consequently I scatter ink quite freely.

Now what I need when I have completed a splash of ink is something that will blot, rather than a colored picture of a snow scene. I can dispense with a beautiful view, as much as I admire art, if the blotter is thick and absorbs the ink quickly. In other words I am stronger for the practical rather than the artistic side of these free blotters. I do hope that those who so kindly and regularly distribute blotters will not misunderstand me, but realize that I work in their interests first and my own second when I say "Let us have more, but better blotters—and let us have free of cost as usual."

In a New York club last week I found something extremely practical and inexpensive. You see that it was not a night club, or the contrivance that doesn't sell at one thousand per cent profit is wanted in New York night clubs, which are the scene of revelry and tomfoolery. Therefore, the club I happened to visit as a guest was a sedate and sane institution of which there are, as is well known, comparatively few in that gay city.

I found that the members were great newspaper readers and that the club subscribed to numerous daily journals. What had been their experience in the past I can only guess.
It must have been the same as that of many a quiet and respectable home here in our beloved city. There, there, what am I saying, as if all homes in Newton were not quiet and respectable!

Well, I could imagine how in the unhappy long ago a newspaper would be taken by the first one to reach the reading table and the first section separated from the second; the third from the fourth and so on. Then another member would come along and say, "Where in blazes is the financial page?" or "Who Has Carried Off the editorial section?" or "What's become of the radio section?"

Well, anyway, this club has all papers bound together with wire clasps as soon as they are received. It may be a little awkward in the handling until you get the swing of it, but once you get possession of a paper you surely have the whole of it, which is half the battle, or would be if any battle was necessary.

I don't see why it could not be done in a home, particularly on Sunday morning. Of course you couldn't expect to have the entire Sunday newspaper bound together but you could do a lot to prevent a large paper from being dissected and mutilated before half the family had read it.

Some people have gone as far as to telephone me to see if any action has been taken toward preventing any postoffice centralization scheme from being carried through. This column has apparently started something. I am glad if individuals have been aroused, but would prefer to see definite action on the part of the city government and some of the civic bodies.
I hope that somebody will take the trouble to observe the handling of the Christmas mail this year in the various Newton postoffices and thereby obtain material with which to argue a case of protest. The acid test of our postoffice facilities comes at Christmas time. When you observe what a terrible job it is for the present force, just ponder on conditions that a centralization scheme would bring about in Newton or rather Newton Centre.

Let us discuss the proposition in our racial, paternal and civic betterment organizations and fortify ourselves. If we don't somebody in Washington will slip something over on us before we know it.

It would be perfectly lovely and too sweet for anything if we could run all our public affairs by the soft-voice method, but if we attempt to do it we will find that we have been imposed upon. It is the duty of the Mayor and city government to protect its citizens from any action by the postal authorities at Washington which will reduce the efficiency of our mail handling system in Newton.

eral Federation at Washington for the library of books from State Federations. Miss Coolidge replied by expressing how honored she felt in having the State Federation and its president present her book.

Miss Coolidge holds the copyright on all her works and reserves the rights for public readings. "The Dreamer" was greatly appreciated, and the statements made of her literary ability by two of the most notably severe literary critics in the United States were corroborated that Miss Coolidge is master of the literary art in her writing of "The Dreamer" was proven to all who heard her. The Springfield Republican said of the book: "The little story is a tonic for men tempted to scoff at idealism in the business world." A second critic said of it: "Its character can be known only by reading it. It is an exquisite bit of writing." Of another of her books the critic of the Boston Herald said this tribute to her literary ability: "The author has succeeded in writing an entertaining story of the period of Louis XII of France, in a manner at once distinctive and dignified. The narrative excels in clearness and naturalness and there is not a moment's loss of interest. How love finds a way cleverly revealed." The Newton Upper Falls Club had reason to realize that there appeared before them an author who had received this high acclaim from those best fitted to know!

There followed a second group of songs, in which the Chorus gave some less familiar carols. Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas "Tonight," by Ethelbert Nevin; "The Month of December," by Franz Reiter, and "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly," an old Welsh melody.

By special request the last song was repeated, which put everyone into a receptive spirit for the second one of Miss Coolidge's readings "Christmas Presents," which was a comedy, enjoyed by all, if the hearty response of the audience was a sign.

The Club and friends and guests were received by Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Congdon and Miss Coolidge, after which refreshments were served in an adjoining room. The hospitality chairman, Mrs. Raymond Capobianco and her efficient committee, consisting of Mrs. Schuyler Smith, Mrs. Percy Marden, Mrs. Elmer Atwell, Mrs. Albert Proctor and Mrs. Michael Wiczorek continued the Christmas idea of the evening with a table whose center piece was a tiny tree surrounded by candles and other appropriate decorations. The ice cream with a tiny green (pistachio ice) tree hidden within was a surprise and with its accompaniment of cake, coffee and nuts was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Ernest Cobb and Mrs. T. E. Lees "poured." The three honor guests, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Congdon and Miss Coolidge were presented with beautiful bouquets of red rose buds, with green, and sprays of white, that carried out the Christmas colors.

The Club was delighted that $21.30 was collected in Santa's Pack for Christmas stockings for the ex-service men in hospitals.

Twelfth District

In the Union Church, Waban, on Monday an all-day Department Conference of the Twelfth District, was held under ideal conditions for inspiration. Mrs. Marion Miller Fernald, organizer, presiding at the new $10,000 organ that the women's efforts paid for, gave enjoyment before the formal opening by Mrs. Joseph Congdon, the district director in charge. Mrs. Congdon's ease and wit upon the platform made all pass off smoothly and interestingly. The various leading officers carried bouquets of yellow, pink, or rose marguerites that gave attractive color to costume and platform. Usher: serving most helpfully throughout were Mrs. Edward H. Woods, Mrs. Charles Brooks, Mrs. R. J. Fyfe, Mrs. R. R. Cowen, Mrs. G. S. Hamlin, Mrs. L. A. Linscott, Mrs. H. C. Robbins, Mrs. H. W. Robbins, and Mrs. B. D. Miller. The page for Mrs. Congdon was Mrs. Harold O'Leary, daughter of the president of the Maine State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The invocation was given by the pastor, Rev. Joseph MacDonald, this being followed by the singing of "America the Beautiful" with Mrs. Louis Estes leading, and the salute to the flag, the flag being brought on by a scout leader and her aides, Mary Jane Tobey and Barbara Cutting.

In the absence of the president of the Waban Club, the first vice-president, Mrs. Chester I. Churchill, acted as hostess for the Conference, giving the welcome, stating that the Club has co-operated with the State Federation since its joining in 1899 which they did three years after their formation as a Club, and paying gracious tribute to Mrs. Congdon, as one whom they are proud to see presiding over the Conference, since she was their former president.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs spoke inspiringly, as always. He said that Newton was not only the "garden city," but he had heard his pastor speak of it recently as the "celestial city." With a delightful bit of humor he said that he didn't know that he would go so far as to say this, but that he could well understand how his pastor did, as he served through the World War—and came from Kansas! He paid tribute to the Women's Clubs as foremost in every forward movement for growth and education. He was glad to see the girls scouts there, this being one more sign that the Clubs were proving their tremendous belief in youth—their slogan being "stop slandering youth"—in furthering everything of mental, moral, and spiritual value. "Education matures and enriches personality," was his striking summary. He ended by wishing a merry Christmas and happy New Year, and with the remark that Christmas meant to him four things—a fir tree, a stocking, a stable, and a little baby—the simple, fundamental things of life making for understanding and friendship.

Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, State president, brought another inspiring message, given with the sincerity and high character that is so distinctively hers. "Conferences make for an alert social conscience," she stated, and Clubwomen should cultivate a bi-focal mind, to learn of what is going on near at hand, and to use this knowledge to look into the future, in far sight of "vision."

Mrs. Congdon called attention to the retention of three Indian names for Clubs in the 12th district, Quinsigamont, Natick, and Waban, and referred to John Elliot, whose sole Indian assistant was the kindly Chief Waban. She led up to her excellent point of the underlying note of friendship in the Conference saying Waban meant wing, thence spiritual that the Church in which we were meeting was happily and significantly called Union; and the city of our meeting was "celestial."

Mrs. A. A. Packard, first vice-president, spoke on International Relations. She, too, referred to our forefathers, as to their courage in rebelling against ecclesiastical, social and political relations, and made the analogy that similar courage must accomplish world understanding through overthrow of prejudices and false beliefs.

In introducing the various Department chairmen Mrs. Congdon referred herself many introductions, at the same time cleverly paying them tribute by stating that she could not take the time to tell all the nice things she knew about them!

Mrs. David Nickerson, Education chairman, stressed character building. She bade Clubwomen "take a peek at pre-school clinics and classes," where dangerous habits were nippered before forming for the children, and which minimize viciousness, insanity, and other evils. She hoped that parents would still keep the truth of the cartoons that father was the best in this or that, and see that children did not become disillusioned as one physician found his son had become. The boy called his home on the telephone, and when asked if it were a certain number, the father, for a joke, answered, "This is the best man in the world," whereupon the lad answered seriously: "I beg your pardon, I have the wrong number!"

Dr. Anna C. Palmer, chairman of Public Health, hoped that the day would come in this country when it would be as in China that a doctor was paid to keep people well, and fined if one of his patients became ill. She appealed for books for the nurses at the Pondville Hospital, Wrentham, the cancer hospital—not Emerson or Browning. She realized that the more educated the individual, and the more trying their task, the more they have need of relaxation and amusement in leisure hours. It is hoped Newton Clubwomen will heed this appeal!

Miss Marion C. Nichols, Civil Service chairman, stressed "know the characters of men in public service." Mrs. Henry Chamberlain, Art Committee, flattered Newton's Clubs in the status of art, and warned against trying to make young people do certain things, even if correct, but to coat our pills with any sugar that would attract, such as that a thing was not good taste, not aesthetic, and most effective of all, perhaps, not fashionable!

Mrs. F. Otis Drayton, Music chairman, reported 60 members in the Federated Choral Club, and invited singers to join in the rehearsals Friday mornings, at 10 o'clock, in the Pierce Building, Copley Square. She asked that the Clubs give an "American Composer" program, or better yet, an "American Woman Composer" program for the musical part of their entertainments.

Mrs. Charles E. Marshall, speaking for Friendly Co-operation with the Veterans, bravely declared she had no complaint to give our city, no sugar coated pills, as only six of our 15 Clubs had her humble committee whose work was so worthwhile. She asked for victrola records for "the boys."

Mrs. Congdon relieved the situation of Mrs. Marshall's scolding by sighing saying she was glad we had had so much adulation earlier, and the fact was even worse than Mrs. Marshall said, since there are not 15 Clubs affiliated with the Newton Federation, but 23. She hoped the bitter pills would prove a tonic!

Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, Community Service chairman, bade us not be like the ostrich, with head in the sand, and considering all defects destroyed, but to awaken to the destroying element of newspapers that are being published that are tearing down all that we have so painfully built through generations of high ideals. She bade the ostriches of mental indifference get in line with the elephant and the donkey and do something!

Miss Frances B. Mayer, Social and Industrial Relations chairman, stressed the need of our helping those "who have failed to be able to take care of themselves."

Frederick Glazier Smith, General Federation director, brought out the information that may be new to many Clubwomen that there are 66 Clubs outside of the confines of the United States affiliated with the General Federation. Its scope is worldwide, a fact possibly not realized by many.

Mrs. Gladys Jones talked on the American Home Department emphasizing the unorganized home—the home of 1927 trying to keep up with the whirl of modern activities on 1840 methods, the idealistic picture of "grandmother's day." She announced a Conference on the Ethics of Family Life as planned for January 17, to which Clubwomen interested are invited.

A Period for discussion at Round Tables followed, each Department chairman having her own cozy quarters allotted by the farsighted hostess Club in the spacious church rooms.

A most appetizing luncheon was served, the tables being attractively decorated with Christmas wreaths, holly, and tall red candles—a truly Christmas scene making for good will and friendliness.

At 2 o'clock the afternoon session opened with two musical selections, Miss Emily Piser playing the cello, and organ accompaniment by Mrs. Harold Fernald; an adagio by Thome, and an adagio from World Symphony, by Dvorak. The State song was sung by a chorus of Waban members.

Mrs. Carl L. Schradner, second vice-president of the State Federation, told of Federation Headquarters, Boston, where there is kept much good material in the way of various Club programs, and of the work of Mrs. Chamberlain and her committee for finer headquarters in an artistic way. They have had several gifts from different Clubs, including a Windsor chair, new candle lights, and money for a lamp.

Mrs. Frank P. Bennett told of the work with Junior Membership Clubs, and suggested that the girls be given full responsibility, elect their own officers, collect dues, arrange programs, but have an adviser from the Senior Club. She also thought a junior conference would be a splendid thing, and is planning for one some time in April.

Miss Carolyn J. Peck, on "Press and Publicity," spoke of the publicity value of Club bulletins. She recommended that each Club keep a scrap book. The first "party" for this department will be on January 18, when it will entertain Miss Vella Winner of Washington, D. C., editor of General Federation News, at a dinner at the University Club.

Mrs. Harlan F. Stetson, Literature chairman, mentioned the best of new books in their several groups—novels, historical biographies, the Concord group, Boston group, the sea stories, psychology, and poetry.

The Americanization chairman, Mrs. Benjamin D. May, told of the need of real human interest, and the personal element, and illustrated with an account of a party given at her house by a group of young girls to a group of foreign-born girls of the same age.

Mrs. George O. Jenkins defined Mothercraft. She stressed, also, work for safety on the street for children, and the help that supervised playgrounds give.

Mrs. John M. Kimball, Legislative chairman, spoke of the coming discussion as to the policy of the Federation; whether we shall endorse, or merely study bills, which will come up at the Mid-winter meeting. The force which a body, like the Federation, of intelligent women can put behind a bill is tremendous, and is so regarded by legislators; therefore we should be careful to study measures before endorsing them.

The chairman of Conservation, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, told which greens should not be purchased at Christmas time. Laurel is now grown commercially, to some extent, and so may be purchased in moderation. Ground pine or holly should not be bought. She suggested study groups on conservation, and emphasized the need of nature study for both the younger and older people. She made a plea for the preservation of Franconia Notch, and hoped the members would support this.

Miss Alice F. Titus, editor of Federation Topics, showed a very attractive Christmas number and told of the contents. The January issue will contain a story of Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole which has never appeared in print, and the members are all agog to buy a copy, as, of course, Miss Titus hoped.

The last speaker was Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, secretary of the General Federation. She described the wonderful growth and progress of the Federation. She referred reminiscently to the first time she had been asked to speak before the State Federation when she was a vice-president of the Brockton Club, and Georgia Bacon was State president. She wished Miss Bacon could see how much the Federation has improved now. She called attention to the current number of the General Federation News, which is in a new dress, and improved along all lines, and complimented Miss Winner as responsible for the improvement.

Mrs. Poole also gave some good advice about the desirability of taking whatever one does in Club work seriously, of getting all one possibly can out of conferences, and best of all of cherishing feelings of friendliness. "If the spirit of Christmas could last all the time, we could do anything," she said.

The Conference ended with a rising vote of thanks to the Waban Club.

DEBATE FILLING STATION

Petition For Gas Station In Lower Falls Cause of Acrimonious Debate Among Aldermen

The announcement by Chairman Hawkins of the License Committee at the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night "that the committee recommended leave to withdraw on the petition of Cashman & Ginsberg for a permit to run a gasoline filling station at 2235 Washington street, Lower Falls, started an argument that lasted for about an hour. Cashman & Ginsberg are two residents of Newton Upper Falls who for some years have conducted a market at that place. They also have conducted markets at Cedar street, on the Wellesley side of Lower Falls, and at Washington street, Newton Lower Falls. In 1925 they erected a business block on Washington street, Lower Falls, and on January 14, 1926, they presented a petition to the Board of Aldermen for a permit to start a gasoline filling station at 2235 Washington street, adjoining their business block. This petition met with decided objection from a number of residents of Lower Falls and it was given leave to withdraw on April 5, 1926.

On September 29, 1926, Cashman & Ginsberg presented another petition to the aldermen for a gasoline station at 2239 Washington street. When the hearing was held before the Board of Aldermen on this petition, some of the Lower Falls residents who had opposed the first petition, appeared at City Hall and stated that they had changed their minds and favored the second petition. In the meantime Henry C. Bourne had petitioned for a filling station permit at 2268 Washington street, about opposite from the location sought by Cashman & Ginsberg. Those Lower Falls residents whose opinions on Cashman & Ginsberg's petitions had been changed, opposed Mr. Bourne's petition. Cashman & Ginsberg's second petition was turned down by the Board of Aldermen on December 20, 1926.

On April 29, 1927, Cashman & Ginsberg presented a third petition for the filling station to the Board of Aldermen. This petition was not reported upon by the Franchise and License Committee until the meeting last Monday night. Chairman Hawkins of the committee stated that of the seven members on the committee, only Aldermen Grosvenor and Noone favored the granting of the permit.

Alderman Hodgdon asked Mr. Hawkins, "Why, at the last meeting of the year does the committee bring in this report recommending leave to withdraw on this petition?" Alderman Hawkins replied, "Because the proposed location of this station is at the foot of a grade and the street is narrow there." Alderman Hodgdon said, "There has been a lot of talk about danger in regard to filling stations. It has yet to be proven that any serious accident has occurred at a filling station or a garage. A year ago the proximity of the Hamilton School was given as the reason why this permit should not be granted. Now, the school is to be moved to another site. We can do no harm by granting this permit." Alderman Hodgdon was one of several members of the Board who manifested a change of attitude regarding the Cashman & Ginsberg matter. When this matter was being argued at the meeting on April 5, 1926, after Alderman Heathcote had attempted to have it referred back to the License Committee for a second time, after it had been reported adversely, Mr. Hodgdon protested against the effort to override the License Committee, and asked, "Are we to be a License Committee, or a bunch of rubber stamps?"

Alderman Noone remarked, "This is a peculiar situation. Three aldermen on the committee favor this petition. Three oppose it. The people of Lower Falls who formerly opposed this station, now favor it. With the school there will be no danger. The fact is the community favors this station should cause the permit to be granted." Alderman Noone also had changed his views on the Cashman & Ginsberg matter. At the meeting of April 5, 1926, he said, replying to the argument offered by Alderman Heathcote that Cashman & Ginsberg were the city as a site for a portable school, willing to donate a parcel of land to change their minds and favored the second petition. "Donating a small parcel of land to the city, to obtain a permit, is flouting the issue. The question of public safety is paramount. The site is at the bottom of a 12% grade leading from the Hamilton School. It is on a curve, and it would be a menace to the children attending the Hamilton School."

Alderman Heathcote asked Chairman Hawkins of the License Committee, "Did you not tell me that the only objection to the granting of this permit was because of the proximity of the school?" Alderman Hawkins replied, "that he did not recall making such a statement." Mr. Heathcote then told about his youngest child being a pupil at the Hamilton School to show that if he thought any danger would be caused by the station that he certainly would object to it. He argued that inasmuch as the school authorities of Newton can't see any danger resulting to the school children by allowing the station at the Ginsberg are willing to donate a small piece of land, and inasmuch as these proposed site, provided Cashman & two men have improved the business section of Lower Falls by building a $40,000 block there, they should be given the permit. He added that should be the only filling station permit granted in Lower Falls, and as all three aldermen from Ward 4 favored it, the Board ought to grant it.

CENTRAL COUNCIL

Health Division of Local Organization Meets

The Health Division of the Newton Central Council, together with the members of the Welfare Conference, had the privilege of meeting at the Nurses' Home of the Newton Hospital for a luncheon conference on Thursday noon, December 15. The subject of discussion was the "Prevention of Communicable Diseases," and the speaker was Dr. Clarence L. Scamman of the State Department of Health.

During luncheon, when about 30 guests representing all kinds of health and welfare work in Newton, and a large delegation from the Hospital itself, sat down together, a group of student nurses gave great cheer and enjoyment by singing familiar songs between the courses.

After luncheon student nurses joined the group, and Dr. Scamman was introduced by Dr. J. Mace Andrews, Chairman of the Health Division of the Council.

Dr. Andrews gave a glowing tribute to the science of medicine which has brought to an almost negligible point the mortality from small pox, and has cut down cases of diphtheria and tuberculosis toward a minimum.

Dr. Scamman talked of a group of diseases, some of which are considered of minor importance, but which are nevertheless harder to control than the group of which Dr. Andrews spoke because they are more difficult to diagnose and so are more isolated in time, or are discarded in some German measles, whooping cough, mumps, measles and scarlet fever, pointing out that it was often not possible for a health department to know of cases of these diseases until it was too late to control them in the community. The period from "nothing to three years" was the most dangerous, Dr. Scamman said, the greatest number of deaths occurring during that period. The only thing for parents to do was to use extreme caution about the contacts of their children with other children up to three years old. It is impossible to keep children from dangerous contacts after this age, when early diagnosis and isolation of the patient are the only solution of the problem. Boards of Health are frequently criticised because a child is one on the streets in some stage of a contagious disease. But if the case is not reported to the Board of Health they are helpless because they cannot quarantine a case of which they know nothing.

A question period followed Dr. Scamman's talk. He was asked if he approved of closing schools during an epidemic. He said it might be necessary on account of public opinion; but that he did not personally approve of it because the children were sure to meet in groups out of school; early diagnosis and control being then far more difficult than when they were in school.

The meeting adjourned at 2:15 after what everyone felt to be a very worth while session.

BENEFIT BRIDGE

A Benefit Bridge was given on Friday afternoon, Dec. 16, in the audience hall and parlors of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The purpose of the party was to add to Newton Centre's contribution to the maintenance fund of the Newton Welfare Bureau. Use of the club home was generously given by the club.

Weather was most discouraging, but there was an unusually large attendance and every one pronounced the affair a success socially as well as financially.

The candy table was gay with Christmas decorations and a charming little tree stood in the center of many attractive packages of sweets.

There were no prizes but generous and delicious refreshments were served. At least $400 was realized and will be presented to the Newton Welfare Bureau.

Committee members in charge of the sale of tickets and general management of the affair were: Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Mrs. Howard O. Winslow, Miss Edith Gammons, Mrs. C. B. Bishop, Mrs. C. H. Cobb, Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, Mrs. H. W. Ross, Mrs. A. H. Shannon, Mrs. W. S. Radway, Mrs. Helen F. Taylor, Mrs. Harry Anderson.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Last Regular Meeting of 1927 Aldermen Held Monday

The last regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen for 1927 held on Monday night was enlivened by some tart repartee between some of the members. The cause of the near friction was the recommendation of the Franchise and License Committee "that leave to withdraw be given on the petition of Cashman & Ginsberg for a gasoline filling station at 2235 Washington street, Lower Falls." When the debate commenced to become rather too personal, Alderman Grebenstein stopped further wrangling by moving the "previous question."

The meeting was not called to order until 8:35. The absentees were Aldermen Ball, Collins, Fitts and Hinkley.

The first hearing on the docket was on the petition of Vincenzo Casarone for a permit to keep 500 gallons of gasoline for private use at 342A Elliot street, Upper Falls. No person appeared to oppose this petition.

A representative of the Jenney Oil Company appeared to explain why this concern desires the storage capacity at its station on the corner of Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton Centre, increased from 4000 to 6000 gallons. Another grade of gasoline for high compression motors is to be sold at this station. It must be stored in a separate tank.

The man who appeared for the Security Mills of Newtonville, must also be designated as a "representative," because he was not asked to identify himself by the presiding officer. He stated that the Security Mills wishes to erect four 3 car steel garages on Monroe street to replace some old wooden sheds which now serve as garages. There was no opposition to this petition.

A "representative" of the Edison Company asked that a permit be granted for a pole on Cummings road, near Homer street, Newton Centre. This will be a standard pole to carry wires from underground to the air.

James A. Waters, as attorney for Hannah E. Murphy, whose property abuts the proposed pole location, opposed the petition. He stated "that there is now a pole at the corner of Cummings road and Homer street. Also a sign post and a tree. To allow another pole there would cause a forest of poles and posts." He suggested that the Edison Company extend its underground cable to the next pole on Cummings road which would render unnecessary the extra pole.

No opposition developed to the petition of the Edison Company for a pole location on Lowell avenue, Newtonville, 40 feet from Prescott street. A letter of protest from a resident of Algonquin road was read against the petition of the Edison Company for two pole locations on that road.

When the hearings were announced on taking land for sewers on Columbus Terrace and Fordham road, no persons appeared either to favor or oppose. Thomas Parker of 8 Whitney road and Joseph Crandon of 2 (Continued on page 4)

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS. Your Editor wishes all Clubwomen a Merry Christmas. Especially does she take pleasure at this time in expressing her appreciation of the courtesy shown her by Club presidents, who have bidden her as honored guest to their gala meetings, who have sent to her their cards that she may attend all their activities, who have seen that their secretaries supplied her with Year Books, so that she has been able to follow more readily the dates of such activities; and have shown her the further courtesy of seeing that Club activities appear in their prescribed place—the Club Column. Especially, too, does she thank the press chairmen who have co-operated so willingly in supplying her with the data that makes the Column of interest to all members of the Clubs. The appreciation she feels for the courtesy shown by such co-operation can not be said in words, but she nevertheless here makes attempt to say a wee bit of it.

In the midst of Christmas happiness of secret plans, in the hurry and flurry of gathering in the gifts for beloved families and friends, there is an accounting of stock that can be taken by Clubwomen apart from these material gifts accumulating. Through the year they have been giving gifts, and receiving them. They have been giving in their Club work their loyalty, their strength, their friendship, their tact, their self-control, their sympathy, their pity, their admiration, their support, as occasions have arisen to awaken each, with fellow-members or officers whose abilities and character, or weakness and self-centeredness have given life to these qualities or thoughts. Have they always given as they should? That is a question that can well be considered in this season of heart searching. Have they always been as courteous, as considerate, as understanding of another's rights as they should have been, or has some selfish motive of self aggrandizement or advertising sometimes led them to ignore the rights of others? If so, it is of no harm to the one injured, consciously or unconsciously. The harm has been done to themselves—to their own lowering of self-respect, and the lowering of the respect of others who have viewed the selfishness or heard the unjustified criticism and sharp word. Let them ponder upon this truth, and in the next year profit from that pondering.

They have been receiving. And have they appreciated that receiving? They have received the faithful service of Club officers, who sometimes have struggled against odds of misunderstanding, of jealousy, of stinging word, even of deliberate refusal to co-operate. They have received able efforts for Club success; they have received the educated thought, talent, genius even, co-operation in every field—from officers personally, from the harassed president down through the striving press chairman, who has attempted to put their Club's activities in worthwhile fashion into publicity. A bit of thought about these gifts they have received may bring to attention that the usual word of "thank you" for the gift may have been omitted. "Thank you" can be said silently now in mental acceptance and acknowledgment of all good received since the beginning of the Club Year in the fall. And this "thank you" will place the heart and mind in receptive tone to start once more upon Club life, after other Christmas gifts have been exchanged, to the great uplifting of spirit in the Club World! The searching of the heart, and acknowledgment of short-comings, will also make Christmas merrier.

General Federation

GENERAL FEDERATION NEWS. The December issue is here in its new dress, which we have been hearing so many delightful boostings by members of the family! And the boostings is justified—sometimes boasting isn't, you know!—and we do not wonder that the child just had to go about among neighbors and tell of the wonderful frock that mother was making. Grace Morrison Poole got members quite agog over the affair at Waban at the Conference, and we imagine that all the other States have been hearing of the matter at their district meetings of the Executive Board who reside therein! The mother, Vella Winner, editor, has certainly created a most fashionable and attractive garb for her favorite child. The color is deep blue, and it is decorated with a most charming picture of Headquarters, that will make all Clubwomen desire to visit Washington, just for the sake of spending a few happy hours in this building. Now a dress isn't often so decorated, but this one is, and it is most suitable, however, peculiar it may seem. And as one turns the material one discovers other pictures—of the first lady of the land, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, with the first lady of the Federation, Mrs. Mary Sherman, and both pictures are especially pleasing ones. There is the picture of a handsome man—but do not be excited, as beside him is his handsome lady!—the young and debonaire Governor of Texas, Hon. Daniel Moody, who will receive the Clubwomen in their next convention.

Then as one continues to examine the flaments there are many and more beautiful modeled, many trimmings of gay allure. For example, there is the sparkling announcement of the meeting of the Board of Directors at Washington, for the week January 9-13. There is the deep, therefore, heavier message from Mrs. Sherman. There is the light and airy description of a summer in Europe by Grace Morrison Poole—a most fascinating drapery upon the side, and we all know members of the Federation who are quite the style. There is the weighty outline of the various State Conventions, and the peep at the Texas meeting in the spring. There are the delightfully intimate touches from the Federation leaders as to their fads, fancies, favorite books, recreations, amusements and hobbies. That of the president, Mrs. Sherman, is preceded with the editor's outcries, "Why, Mary Sherman!", which proves the material therein has become gauzy in allure of disclosure. Oh, the garment has all manner of artistic and intellectual appeal, and all Clubwomen who do not yet subscribe are missing much! The dressmaker, Vella Winner is to be congratulated upon her model creation for Clubwomen.

MOVING PICTURES. Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler, chairman of this Committee, has urged Club members and their families not to waste their time upon the following motion pictures: "Secret Studio," "White Pants Willie" which she characterizes as "absurd," which means enough certainly, "Ritz," "Joy Girl," "Eyes of the Totem," "Singed," and "Winning Oar." She might have added to these, for she calls them "disappointing," and surely no one goes to the movies to be disappointed. "We're All Gamblers," "Hula," "Prince of Head Waiters," "Three's a Crowd," "What Happened to Father," and "Hard Boiled Hagerty."

She recommends as among the best of the current films for adults and youth: "Cat and the Canary," "Chang," "College Widow," "Mockery," (a grim story, however), "Soft Cushions," "Paid to Love," "Patent Leather Kid" (a thrilling for children), "Quality Street," "Ruled Stockings," and "Way of All Flesh."

State Federation

RADIO BROADCAST. Clubwomen are warned that the time allotted for the Women's Club broadcast over WNAC has been changed. Instead of an hour, it will on and after next Wednesday, the 28th, be a half hour, beginning with 10:30 promptly. The next program is Press and Publicity Day. Our own delightful Alice Gwendoline Albee, former chairman, and now third vice chairman of the press department of the General Federation, as an honored guest, will speak on "Newspaper Cafeteria." Any one who knows this "peppy," humorous news writer, knows that this is just the title she would pick, and in presenting the menu she will concoct some interesting dishes, with side-lights on the mishaps of a press cafeteria life. Alice F. Titus, who gives us such a splendid Club organ in Topics, will follow in "Spreading Federation News," which will also be palatable in pleasing things. Carolyn J. Peck, press chairman, and known especially by us of the 12th district for her ability, her wisdom, her patience, and her ever-ready friendly helpfulness, will introduce the speakers. Besides orchestra music which will be featured before and after the broadcast, there will be a musical program, with John H. Query, cellist, and Miss Helen Handy, accompanist, at intervals.

Newton Federation and Newton High School Alumni

Clubwomen, and in fact, ALL CITIZENS of NEWTON, will be glad to learn that there is to be an OPEN MEETING at the High School Auditorium where they may hear Mr. Francis Bacon speak, greet him, and wish him Godspeed before he leaves our city. The Newton Federation whose educational department, and all departments, has worked with Mr. Bacon in the interests of these vital methods, was most desirous that some opportunity be given to the Clubwomen, and to all others, to express to him their appreciation of his co-operation, to say how sorry they are to lose him, and to wish him every splendid advancement and all happiness in his new work in Illinois. The problem was to find an evening when citizens could do this at this busy Christmas season, and the Newton High School Alumni Association gallantly came to the rescue, glad to join in this event, and offered to throw open their meeting scheduled for High School graduates on Wednesday evening, the 28th. Needless to say the Federation seized upon this opportune time and place so courteously offered.

After the Alumni banquet, which takes place at 6:30 p. m., the doors will be thrown open to the public at 7:45, and seats in the balcony will be available, also all seats remaining on the floor after the Alumni are seated. The program as planned for the evening by the Alumni Association will proceed with its music, entertainment, and address by Mr. Bacon, after which there will be a short period when the Newton Federation will have charge of their addition to the evening. Dancing will then proceed as arranged from ten to twelve o'clock. The many, many people who would like to hear Mr. Bacon, and speak with him, will therefore be given this privilege, although keen regrets are abroad that it has been occasioned.

Two Clubs in the district are celebrating Christmas eve by keeping "open house," a pleasure that all in thuminate localities should be glad to share.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

Saturday evening "open house" is to be maintained at the Workshop by the Newton Highlands Woman's Club from twilight on through the evening, and should the night prove cold and stormy, the cozy Club quarters on Columbus street will prove a haven of warmth and cheer for the carolers and all others who avail themselves of the opportunity. The yule log is to be kept brightly burning on the hearth and members will be in attendance throughout Christmas eve to extend the hospitality of the Club building.

The concluding event of the calendar year is to be the second of Miss Avery's "extra" Current Events lectures, which she will deliver before subscribers, in the Workshop, Wednesday afternoon, December 28. Daughters of members may attend this meeting upon the payment of a small admission fee.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On Christmas eve, also, the 24th, at 7 o'clock, Mrs. Hitchcock, assisted by members of the Highland Glee Club, will direct carol singing. The Village Improvement Association, the Boy and Girl Scouts and the Newton Centre Woman's Club act as joint hosts for this happy festivity of the season. An entertainment in charge of Miss Priscilla Ordway will round out the holiday plans.

On Thursday preceding, December 29th, the regular business meetings will be followed by an attractive entertainment for the daughters of members, who are guests on that day. The film, "Dress Parade," a West Point picture, and one admirably chosen, therefore, for the pleasure of the guests, will be given, followed by tea. The hour for getting acquainted with friends' mothers and daughters should be much enjoyed.

The Junior evening assembly scheduled for December 29th has been given up for this year.

Juniors of Auburndale Woman's Club

December 29th is the Red Letter day for the Juniors of the Auburndale Woman's Club. Miss Dorothy Estabrook, in charge of the plans for the dance, is arranging a most pleasurable evening for the Juniors and their fortunate escorts. The girls themselves are dating up their programs in advance, so that no dances will be left for a claimant on the evening of the affair, and even the escorts are not permitted to take possession of but three dances. The affair begins at 9 o'clock, to last until 1 a. m. The matrons include Mrs. Wycliffe Spaulding, Mrs. John Holmes, Mrs. Walter F. Hall and Mrs. George F. Nudd.

Newton Community Club

Club members who are planning to attend the opera this season are welcoming the opportunity offered by Mrs. J. A. Meyer of the Newton Community Club to learn or review the stories of certain of the operas that will be sung and to hear some of the outstanding musical portions played by the same enterprising chairman at these morning "talks." The first is scheduled for January 6th, at 10 o'clock, and on each successive Friday thereafter La Gioconda, Lohengrin, Tosca, A Witch of Salem, Pagliacci, Aida, Tanhauser, Martha, Samson et Dalila, and Rigoletto will be made more poignant to those Club members who apply for the course. They should do so at once, by the way, so that Mrs. Meyer may know for how many to provide.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club enjoyed their whist party at the home of their president, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, 69 Walcott road, on Wednesday evening, the 14th, with a goodly attendance in spite of rival attractions going forward on that same evening. The fund realized is to be for the benefit of Club equipment. One of the delightful bits of sociability and hospitality, of which the party was well made up to the enjoyment of all, was the refreshments of hot coffee, appetizing sandwiches and dainty cakes.

The hostess president has made an announcement that is most pleasing to Club members—the securing of enough funds on the evening of the meeting of the 12th to furnish nine Christmas stockings for the disabled veterans in hospitals. The cost of the contents of each stocking is $2.50, so that the achievement of this Club is a bit of Christmas cheer that is well worthy of Newton.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Auburndale Woman's Club made their meeting of December 15th, a celebration of the Christmas season. Near the platform, in the place of honor, as should be given to a work of art, stood a large tree, trimmed and loaded with toys and various pretty articles, which are to be given later to ill or lonely folk. The Canton Hospital for Children and the ladies of the Stone Institute were among some to be remembered. This creation was the work of the new group of Business and Professional women, who had their own Christmas party on the evening of the 12th, and exhibited their tree for the general Club, with whom they join for certain evening lectures, having their meetings certain evenings besides.

After the business meeting a short time was taken by the Art chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine introducing some interesting types of ornaments and handwork which a representative of Dennison's brought, with suggestions for a class in making many varied articles for use and beauty, at no cost other than the actual materials used.

The program for the afternoon began with a procession of some of the school children singing carols. They had been training under the direction of the Music Committee for several weeks, and were most charming in their black and white choir dress. They were directed by Mrs. Dana Kendall, Music chairman, and they filed upon the stage to chairs set in front of a church door back-scene, which was very effective with the white pillars and green wreaths decorating the portico. This scene was one that had been used in the performance of Shaw's play "Pygmalion" given by the Auburndale Club players earlier in the week.

After the small singers were seated Miss Margaret Munsterberg, writer and lecturer gave a talk on the "History of Christmas Customs," telling of the early observance entirely religious which gradually became a festival for feasting and "fun" in England. She described the distinctive dishes of food peculiar to various countries used in the religious or secular celebration. The musical forms, noels from France, carols from England, the lovely "Silent Night," from Germany, and our own "Little Town of Bethlehem," by Bishop Brooks, were sung by the children, as the different lands were referred to.

In closing, Miss Munsterberg read a few verses of Christmas for children, written from a child's point of view, that were most charming.

Shakespeare Club

The Shakespeare Club last Saturday afternoon, the 17th, met at the home of Mrs. E. P. Hatch, 275 Mill street, Newtonville, and heard a most able presentation of the "Leading Motives and Character Traits" shown in three plays studied last year, Othello, Taming of the Shrew, and Timon of Athens.

among others, by Mrs. A. L. Pratt. The theme that Mrs. Pratt especially desired to bring out was the power of evil in wrecking life and happiness. She brought home the fact that the same forces portrayed so graphically by Shakespeare in his day hold the same potent power today, where material instead of the spiritual governs the human mind. The study also gave convincingly the development of Shakespeare as a writer in comparing his earlier plays with his later ones, spiritually and ethically. Timon's reaction to the ingratitude and unkindness of his friends, utterly disillusioning him in humanity, because of their materialism, was compared with the similar disillusionment of Hamlet in his mother's weakness, and with Troilus' discovery of the peridy of Cressida. The dramatic's powerful treatment of slander was brought out in discussion of Don Juan, in Much Ado About Nothing, and the ruin of Iago in Othello through this horrible human method of attack. The presentation was a strong portrayal of the war between material and spiritual, and was one long to be remembered by these students of Shakespeare.

Waban Woman's Club

Mr. E. E. Clive of the Copley Theatre gave the members of the Waban Woman's Club a most interesting afternoon on Monday, when he talked to them of "The Drama of Today." He asked his audience not to blame the producers for the present lack of good plays, as the fault is with the public; they demand a play with thrills or something amusing, rather than a play with literary value. He says that New York audiences are the standards when producing new plays—that if a play goes well there, it will succeed all over the country. He spoke of "The Ghost Train" which has come back to the Copley. The first week it was played it was not at all successful, but at the end of the first week it was broadcast for the benefit of shut-ins, and the next day after the broadcast and until the close of the play, the theatre was crowded at every performance. He thinks that moving pictures have reached their peak of popularity, as there is hardly a moving picture house which does not combine with the pictures a vaudeville act or something of that sort, in order to attract patrons. He had a word to say for actors; they are not a bad lot; they are trying to please the public all the time, and are playing what the public is demanding. He thinks Boston people are not very keen of the theatre, and that because they are known to possess better libraries in their own homes than perhaps any other city hereabouts, they prefer to do their "studying" there, rather than go to a serious play; in fact he quoted a theatre patron as so expressing himself—when he goes to the theatre, he wants to be amused. He finished with a plea for disabled veterans. After the talk Mr. Clive answered questions from the floor.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met on Monday afternoon, the 19th, at the home of Mrs. Wilson C. Dorr, 342 Otis street, West Newton, and Mrs. John R. McLean read a paper on "Geology of the United States" that held her audience, because of the thrill of romance and adventure of the relentless changes wrought by time, that she infused into her choice of geological wonders. While all may have learned these things in geography, or in wide reading, they fade from memory, or perhaps they are always penetrated thought with their real charm, until they are reviewed by one who is clever enough to bring this out, and set imagination awhirl, or recall visions once engendered.

She led her hearers into the weirdness of the Petrified Forest; along the river beds whose waste material is surely and slowly forming new deltas and islands of beauty or usefulness; she inspired a bit of awe in the data at the Mississippi river that annually deposits 100 million tons, to some such end; she aroused a bit of terror in the wonder of her story of the hunting grounds near Los Angeles of wild animals of other days, where now are being found the skeletons of what must have been ferocious tigers, because of the horrible length of their teeth that so far exceed these weapons of defense and offense of today, and the skeletons of elephants which indicate that these creatures were then ten or twelve times the size, with correspondingly menacing tusks, of the elephants we know of in our time. In telling of the lake where they wandered to drink, and where they became imprisoned and slowly, relentlessly sank by their own weight, the pity and pathos of this was mingled with something of relief that so they had vanished from the experience of man! The beauty of the Grand Canyon, the changing course of rivers, the appalling changes of the sea line, all became magically real beneath the writer's touch, and her history of old Boston brought near, indeed, how water and land has changed since the stirring days of its settlement and of the Revolution when Red Coats competed in courage and war tactics with our Minute Men. Mrs. McLean showed to her audience, also, pictures taken from magazines illustrating her points, and making them more vivid. Interest and information were in the subject read.

West Newton Community Centre

Once more the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., was glad to welcome to its annual Christmas Carol Service and Christmas Tree the members of the West Newton Village. The tree this year was placed at the foot of Putnam street, so that more people might enjoy it during the Christmas season.

A very simple Carol Service was held at the Tree on Thursday night, December 22, at seven o'clock. Mr. A. Thorndike Luard led the singing of the older and better known carols. We hope that everyone present felt that he or she had a very definite part in the program.

SAVE ALL THE YEAR FOR NEXT CHRISTMAS

Did it ever occur to you that it is easy to save money through taking advantage of the opportunities that are offered to buy economically those things that one uses every day. Take gasoline for instance—If you had used HIGHLAND GAS exclusively in your car during the past year—the difference between our price and the posted price for the same quality gas elsewhere would have provided the price of several Christmas presents.

GAS AT 14c

Figure it out for yourself. Determine your average travel per week and your mileage per gallon. The rest is easy. If you had saved 3 cents on every gallon of gas used—and enjoyed a similar saving on lubricants—your Christmas problem would be much less troublesome. Think it over.

Although the Community Christmas Program is perhaps the best known of the Christmas activities at the Centre, it is just one part of the whole activities program for the season, which includes a party for each group meeting at the Centre. These small parties began with one for the Americanization Class last Friday, and have continued daily during this week before Christmas.

Say Merry Christmas with a Maytag

SAY Merry Christmas in terms of extra hours of leisure—of increased health and beauty—of life-long happiness. Give a Maytag for Christmas.

Here is a washer that does an average washing in an hour. With its new, silent power-drive it produces a water action in the scientifically-shaped cast-aluminum tub which forces dirt from garments with astonishing speed. Its New Roller Water Remover expels both water and soap evenly from all fabrics—from pockets and seams as well as from sheets, thus drying the clothes quicker than ever before. An automatic feed still further hastens the water-removing process. Buttons pass easily under the soft rubber roll.

Say Merry Christmas with a Maytag. You will then be expressing the ancient Yule-Tide wish in a manner that will be appreciated and pleasantly remembered for many years to come.

If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

EDITORIAL

In view of the fact that Senator Borah intends to present a plank at the coming Republican national convention calling for an endorsement of the prohibition act, the candidacy of Mr. Thomas W. White as a delegate to that convention from this district is a direct challenge to the dry element in this district to nominate a man who would surely support Senator Borah's proposition.

Our attention has been called to one angle of our editorial of last week, which we had overlooked. Our criticism was intended to cover the itinerant pedler who used vacant land to display his wares and was not intended to apply to persons who are doing business in property which pays substantial taxes into the city treasury.

We congratulate Moore & Moore on winning the prize for the best dressed window at Newton Corner. This is the second time this progressive firm has won first place in this line, and their exhibit has certainly attracted more than the usual attention by the public.

The proposal to send all the mail of the city to Newton Centre of the city means a slowing up of service which is none too good at the present time. Newton is not located right geographically for one central station.

Another automobile accident at the corner of Centre and Church streets. How many more will occur before the authorities take the necessary steps to protect this dangerous corner?

Make it a Merry Christmas for yourself by providing a Merry Christmas for those who are not as fortunate as you are.

These are the shortest days of the year whether measured by the sun or by the pocketbook.

SCHOOL NEWS

The School Committee met Monday night to take action on the school budget for the coming year which will total over $1,000,000. Mayor Childs will recommend to the aldermen that this budget be accepted.

A special sub-committee was authorized to consider the demand of the school janitors for a substantial increase in wages. The janitors state that they are receiving less than men doing this work in other cities.

A committee of Oak Hill parents appeared before the School Committee and asked that bus transportation be provided nontimes to carry the Oak Hill children who attend the Mason School and from their homes so that these pupils may obtain warm lunches rather than be obliged to carry their lunches to school. The city now provides a bus to carry these children to the Mason School mornings and to return them to Oak Hill afternoons.

A protest was received from Waban parents asserting that the school bus which carries Waban children to the Levi Warren Junior High School is overcrowded.

ALDERMANIC MEETING

Whitney road asked that the city lay out and grade that street as it is in bad condition. Daniel Irwin as attorney for Clara Dumas of Upland road opposed the improvement. His client contends that the work should not be done until a sewer is placed in that street and she gave notice that she will not contribute land for the laying out of the street.

F. W. Chamberlain, Jr., protested against the prohibition of parking on the southerly side of Union street, Newton Centre, next to the B. & A. property. He stated that the merchants of this street do not favor this restriction as there is not enough room on one side of Union street to furnish adequate parking facilities for their customers. He suggested that Union street be made a one-way street and that parking be limited on it to 30 minutes or one hour as some persons park their cars there all day while they are at their offices in Boston. Alderman Pratt inquired as to the taxes which now have stands on Union street, adjoining the railroad station. Chairman Grebenstein of the "traffic committee" informed Mr. Pratt that the taxes would not come under the parking restrictions. This matter was referred to the Committee on Street Traffic.

Other proposed traffic regulations referred to the committee included: Restricting traffic on Boylston street, from Woodward street to Boston line, viz.:

Cars going easterly on south side of Boylston street only.

Prohibiting parking on Beacon street, Ward 6, south side, opposite A. & P. store, near triangle, Union street. Prohibiting parking on southerly side of Homer street, Ward 6, from Centre street to Furber lane.

The committee on Franchises and Licenses reported favorably on the following petitions:

Albin F. Rosene, for Nelson J. Peabody, change of location of garage, 1670 Commonwealth avenue, Ward 5. Bruno Calliguri, amended petition for permit for two-car garage in basement of house instead of separate building, 15 Fordham road, Ward 3. Edison Co., pole location, Langley road, approximately 60 feet south of Beecher place, Ward 8, one pole. Edison and Telephone Companies, joint pole locations, Rosalie road, northerly from Dedham street, Ward 5, five poles.

William J. Doherty, Jr., permit to keep store, and sell gasoline at 903 Washington street, Ward 2, in connection with outside gasoline selling station. Maximum quantity of gasoline at one time, 2,000 gallons. Two 1,000-gallon underground tanks, two pumps, with conditions.

Auctioneer licenses as follows: Samuel J. Ginsburg, 887 Chestnut street, Ward 5. J. Pearl Roberts, 11 River street, Ward 3.

Chas. F. Dow, 10 Church road, Newton. Dorothy M. Barry, 304 Lexington street, Ward 4, common victualler license at 2110 Commonwealth avenue, Ward 4.

Edison Co., wire attachments to pole of Telephone Co., Cherry street, near Nos. 80-82, one pole.

Edison Co., pole relocation, Hawthorne avenue, at Aspen avenue, set one pole and remove one pole. John T. Burns was given leave to withdraw on his petition for a gasoline station at 59 Waltham street, West Newton, adjoining the Waltham line. The reason for this adverse action was because the abutters had not been notified of the hearing by the petitioner. Another petition will be considered by the incoming Board of Aldermen.

Appropriations made by the aldermen included—sewer in Columbus terrace, $745; sewer in Fordham road, $238; Street Department, care of horses, $1000; maintenance of streets, $1500; new curbs, $350; maintenance of drains $800; maintenance of sewers $800. A recommendation from the Mayor that outstanding bills of the Water Department totalling $25,965.37 be paid, was referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication from the executive committee of the Newton Business Associates endorsing the petition of Rose Dearborn of Cochituate, for a permit for 10 bowling alleys in the proposed new block at Washington and Bacon streets, Newton, was referred to the 1928 Board of Aldermen. Other petitions received and referred to committees were:

FALSE ALARM HAS TRAGIC RESULT

Thomas O'Rourke, of Prospect street, Wellesley, was killed Monday night, as a result of a false alarm pulled from Box 551 at the Hamilton School in Lower Falls. O'Rourke, who was a chauffeur by occupation, was a "Spark," or volunteer fireman, who responded to alarms with Hose 3 of the Wellesley fire department. This apparatus is located on Walnut street, Wellesley, and answers boxes located in Lower Falls. As the hose truck was backing around on Hamilton street, returning from the false alarm, it backed over a high embankment which separates Hamilton street from Washington street. O'Rourke received a fractured skull and other injuries which caused his death a few hours later at the Newton Hospital. He was 29 years of age, a native of Ireland and unmarried.

Edward Tangney, 18, of 540 Grove street, Lower Falls, was arrested yesterday by the Wellesley police charged with setting fire to a shed on the Wellesley side on Monday noon. The shed was owned by C. H. Spring Company, dealers in building supplies. Tangney admitted to the Wellesley police that he had pulled the false alarm which was responsible for O'Rourke's death. The youth had been found guilty several weeks ago in the Newton court of pulling another false alarm and was given a suspended sentence to the Lyman School. He was tried in the district court at Dedham yesterday, and was committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation.

CHANGE ZONE AT NEWTON CENTRE

The Petition of Mr. Crowley for a change of zone on Commonwealth avenue near Read Court from single residence to private residence was allowed. Chairman Madden of the Claims and Rules Committee explained that adjoining the property in question are five two family houses and stores are across the street.

CITY TO PAY DAMAGE CLAIMS

Several claims for damages were ordered paid by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. Ruth Wing was awarded $100. She suffered injuries because of stones on the sidewalk at Centre street near Iversia road. City employees had been working at this point and the stones rolled onto the sidewalk. Florence Bakewell was awarded $50 because of injuries received from a defective sidewalk on Peabody street. Charles K. Jonah was reimbursed to the extent of $14 to pay for two auto tires ruined when his car hit a filled-in trench at Waban.

Several claims were refused. These included a claim for $4000 from the Boston Gardening Company at Waban because of surface water ruining garden truck. Chairman Madden of the Claims and Rules Committee stated that the city is not liable for damage resulting from surface water, and the Boston Gardening Company has not taken precautions to properly protect its land from the drainage off the newly developed residential district surrounding it.

The claim of Richard J. Clancy for $12 to pay for medical attendance for his daughter after she had cut her hand on a broken pane of glass in a door at the Levi Warren School was refused. The City Solicitor ruled that the city is not liable for this, and that the school teacher who summoned the physician to attend the child had no authority to obligate the city for payment.

The claim of E. L. Thomas for damages to two auto tires when he had to turn out for another automobile near the corner of Centre and Franklin streets was denied. Thomas steered his car into the side of the road and hit an old fashioned stone culvert. The city contends that either the contractor who was doing the construction work on Centre street at that time, or the operator of the other automobile was liable.

The claim of Howard Sanderson for damages to his car when it ran over a filled in trench was not allowed. The city contends that the condition of the street where this damage resulted was not unusual.

The claim of Walter R. Burns for injuries resulting when he was jounced off a truck on Indiana terrace was refused. This terrace is a private way and the city is not liable for its condition.

DEATH OF GEORGE B. WARREN

On Dec. 14th at his late residence in Allston, Mr. George B. Warren, who was a resident of the city of Newton for the years between 1894-1919, died after nearly a year's illness. He was a native of South Danvers (now Peabody) being born there July 21, 1848.

He was the son of the Hon. Daniel Warren and Mary Elizabeth (Goodridge) Warren. His early boyhood was spent in the West End of Boston where his father was active in business as well as the politics of the old Ward 5 and also served for two terms as State Senator. His father was also one of the Twenty Associates, pioneers who settled Hyde Park, where he took his family when Mr. Warren was only 8 years of age. Most of his simple schooling was at a little district school on a hillside in Milton and lasted only until his 16th year when he went to work in Boston in the old Suffolk Bank.

As his father died when he was about 19 in '67 he carried the support of his widowed mother and younger brother largely on his shoulders for a few years, changing about that time to the employ of the State Bank. He spent the best of his life, 41 years with this bank filling the position of Cashier for the last 29 years until 1912 when it was absorbed by the Merchants National Bank of Boston. The very last few years he had been employed in a private office as an accountant still happy in the work he always loved. His was a familiar face on State street and his many business friends as well as a host of friends in private life knew him to have been a man of strong character faithful to every duty and with a fine sense of honor and justice and kindness.

His life in our city was spent largely in Newton Centre, his home being for 16 years on Ward street, but before that his family had boarded a few years, also had a home for six years at Newton Highlands. In his earlier life in Hyde Park he was very active in town affairs, church work and in fact all social and musical life, and though he was connected actively with the Methodist church at the Highlands and always with "The Singers" at Newton Centre his life on the whole was more quietly a home life while living in Newton. He had also been a member of the old musical clubs, the Boylston Club and the Boston Singers, was active in the Peace Jubilee chorus work and did much male quartet singing.

He was a member of the Bank Officers' Association of Boston serving as its President for two terms 1894-5.

In 1873 he married Miss Mary Francis Cook of Hyde Park who died in 1911. His only survivor is his daughter Miss Elsie G. Warren, who has always made her home with her father, and his younger brother James L. Warren now of California. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Edward MacArthur Noves of First Church in Newton and the music was furnished by the Pilgrim Quartet.

MT. HOLYOKE CAROLS

The Misses Charlotte Towle of Newton and Katherine Rand of Newton Centre are members of the Mount Holyoke College Glee Club which gave a most interesting concert of Christmas Carols on Saturday, December 17th, in Jordan Hall, conducted by Dr. William Churchill Hammond.

There was a most enthusiastic audience which filled the hall while many were turned away. Dr. Hammond is noted for unearthing little known carols of the early centuries and of many countries and the choir did great credit to his training. The interspersed the carols with organ numbers. The concert was held under the auspices of the Mount Holyoke Club of Boston.

Christmas carols were sung under the direction of Karl Switzer and an ovation given Francis L. Bacon, who severs his connection with the club at the end of the year.

Alderman Gallagher stated several reasons why the permit should not be granted. One reason he offered is—"the aldermen have repeatedly refused an old native of Lower Falls a permit for a filling station, because her land is not properly zoned, although it is the best location for a filling station in that village." The second reason is—"because the Cashman & Ginsberg location would cause danger to the general public." The third reason is—"because Washington street is very narrow at this point, it will have to be widened and if the filling station permit is granted, the city would have to buy this property at a much higher price."

Alderman Heathcote contended that the filling station would be set back far enough from the street so that it will not have to be taken in case of a widening. He also said that Cashman & Ginsberg agreed to give the strip of land even though the school will be removed.

Alderman Gordon, who at the meeting on April 5, 1926, stated "the temporary offer of a small piece of land (by Cashman & Ginsberg) for two years, is a poor argument to offer as a reason for granting a filling station permit," also had changed his view on this matter. He favored the granting of the permit now that the school will be removed, provided that Cashman & Ginsberg are still willing to donate the land which will allow for the widening of Washington street at their property. He asked that the plan of the lot be shown to the aldermen.

Alderman Gallagher asserted that Washington street must be widened 20 feet for a distance of a quarter of a mile east of Hamilton street. Alderman Hodgdon replied "that there is more danger at the squares in Waban and Newton Highlands by cars backing out, than there will be at this filling station." He recalled that he had opposed the petition when it was first presented and that Alderman Gallagher was one of the only aldermen who had favored it. He continued, "If most Lower Falls people and the three aldermen from Ward 4 favor the granting of this petition, it looks bad to refuse it. Last year when the three aldermen from Ward 6 favored the granting of a permit for a filling station at Newton Centre, the Board of Aldermen granted this permit over the Mayor's veto."

Alderman Hawkins read from the record of the meeting of the aldermen on July 25th, 1927, to show that those residents of Lower Falls who now favor Cashman & Ginsberg's petition, at that time objected to the petition of Henry C. Bourne for a station directly opposite on the grounds that the location is dangerous. Alderman Heathcote called on Alfred Murray of Lower Falls, who had led the opposition to the Bourne petition, to ascertain if he had been correctly quoted in the minutes of the meeting. Mr. Murray answered in the affirmative, and explained that the objection to the Bourne petition was based on the danger caused by the nearness of the footbridge over the Charles River, and because there is only one sidewalk on Washington street. At this point Alderman Gallagher asked City Engineer Morse, "If Washington street is widened at this point will it be necessary to set back the block built by Cashman & Ginsberg?" Mr. Morse replied in the affirmative, whereupon Alderman Heathcote commented that the City Engineer's Department should have anticipated this and objected to the erection of the building at that point. Alderman Gallagher and Heathcote engaged in a little acrimonious repartee, and Alderman Hodgdon did not tend to soothe the troubled atmosphere when he remarked to Alderman Gallagher, "Perhaps the aldermen from Ward 1 will agree with me, after looking at the plan, that it will not be necessary to take the station site to widen Washington street." At this point Alderman Grebenstein stopped further wrangling by moving the "previous question." President Weeks then put the motion on the acceptance of the report of the License Committee recommending leave to withdraw from Cashman & Ginsberg's third petition. The aldermen voting to sustain the committee were Earle, Madden, Gallagher, Wakefield, Weeks, Leahy, Holbrook, Bliss, Pratt, Worth and Hawkins. Those voting against the committee were Alderman Baker, Gordon, Grebenstein, Heathcote, Hodgdon and Noone.

Alderman Hawkins then reported that the License Committee recommended "leave to withdraw" on the petition of Henry C. Bourne for a filling station at 2268 Washington street, Lower Falls, which is almost opposite Cashman & Ginsberg's site. Alderman Hodgdon, as he had done in the case of the adverse report on Cashman & Ginsberg's petition, asked why the committee brought in this adverse report at the last meeting after waiting months. Alderman Hawkins gave the same reason, namely, "that the location is on a grade, and the street is narrow." The aldermen voted to sustain the report of the committee. Alderman Hodgdon being the only member voting in the negative. And so, Lower Falls will continue to be without even one filling station.

FIRST SYMPHONY CONCERT OF SEASON

The Newton Symphony Orchestra presented its first concert of the 1927-28 season on Thursday, December 15, in the Newton High School Hall.

I have had opportunity recently, to hear more than one amateur orchestra give its opening concert, and there is no question but that this group of keen musicians does more justice to the average work than is generally found. Newton will do well to attend more of these concerts.

As it was the hall was well filled, and a more than pleased audience left the building after the closing numbers—the always popular "Irish Rhapsody" of Victor Herbert.

Mr. D. Ralph MacLean, as usual, ably led the orchestra, and deserves much credit in bringing it to its present state of perfection.

Humperdinck's overture to "Hansel and Gretel" is by no means an easy work to "put across." In fact the average body of amateurs will usually shun such a work in favor of something, not perhaps easier in technique, but something which does not demand such intensely delicate interpretation.

Another number not very often attempted was Caesar Franck's "Valse" Symphonique for pianoforte and orchestra.

The soloist was Miss Olivia Cate and it can be truthfully said that it is not often that such a talented artist in a High School Hall is heard.

Her technique was unquestionably fine, and I was sorry that we could hear her but this once during the evening's entertainment.

Toward the end of the performance, the orchestra gave a very spirited rendering of one of Strauss' Waltzes—probably its best effort during the evening, and appreciated equally by those listening.

Space forbids mentioning every number in detail. It was, on the whole, a well balanced and highly entertaining program—a program selected for the lover and not necessarily the connoisseur of music. Newton should feel proud in possessing such a talented body of players.

The next concert will be given in the same hall, at a date to be announced later.

DOG POUND AT CRAFTS STREET STABLE

Many dog owners have been traveling to the City Home at Winchester street, Newton Highlands, looking for their pets when the latter have escaped from restraint. Because of lack of proper facilities at the City Home grounds, the dog pound has been removed to a building on the grounds of the City Stable at Crafts street, Newtonville. Patsy Gregorio of Nonantum is in charge of the pound.

MRS. ELIZABETH HAHN

The passing into eternity on December 12th of Mrs. Elizabeth Hahn of 23 Nonantum Place, Newton, terminated the earthly career of a mother who had been singularly blessed by the extraordinary filial devotion of a large family.

Mrs. Hahn was born at Weiler, Baden, Germany, on November 15, 1831. She came to America in 1852, and in 1854 was married in Boston to John Hahn. The young couple settled in Newton. Their children were born to them, one whom died in infancy. The other eight children grew to maturity and with their parents composed an unbroken family group until the death of Mr. Hahn about 30 years ago. Mrs. Hahn and her eight children resided together until John W. Hahn, the eldest son, died on July 17th last, in his 72nd year. The surviving children are Rev. Andrew Hahn, who is pastor of the Unitarian Church at Duxbury, Arthur L. Hahn, William F. Hahn, Charles A. Hahn, Francis C. Hahn, and the Misses Amelia B. Hahn and Susanna E. Hahn, all of Newton. Two grandchildren also survive, Miss Elizabeth Hahn of Newton, and Miss Ethel Hahn who is a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago. The unusual attachment manifested to Mrs. Hahn by all her children was striking proof of the beauty of her character. Her funeral was held on Wednesday, December 14th, at her late residence, Rev. Chester Drummond of Channing Church officiated. Mrs. Hahn had been a member of this church for about 70 years. She was buried in the family lot at Newton Cemetery.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The policemen and firemen of Newton are sure that there is a Santa Claus. Yesterday every member of the two departments, 130 in the Police Department and 96 in the Fire Department, was the recipient of a $5 gold piece from a prominent Newtonville resident.

Alderman Benjamin S. Hinkley, who retired this year, has given most freely of his time in preparing the very detailed report on the proposed contributory system for the employees of the City of Newton. The printed report covers 106 pages, which shows the tremendous amount of work done by Mr. Hinkley on this matter, assisted by his colleagues on the special committee, Mr. Collins and Mr. Madden of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Hinkley, who is one of the most conscientious men who has ever been a member of the Board, has observed the injustice of the present methods of pensioning certain city employees and not pensioning others. He also realized the probability that the rapidly mounting costs of pensions might react disadvantageously in the future to municipal employees. To guard against this, and to secure pensions for those classes of city employees who now are discriminated against, he has been giving freely of his time to place the pension system of Newton on a sound and equitable basis.

If so called civilized countries follow the "Golden Rule" instead of being actuated by selfishness, wars would not be fought and submarines would not be necessary. But, since the undersea boats will continue to be constructed, why not take reasonable precautions to protect the lives of those who man them. Accidents to the "subs" are apt to happen at any time. Sufficient salvaging pontoons, which cost little, compared with the least expensive of naval boats, should be built so that they can be stationed at convenient points all along the coast, ready to be rushed wherever a submarine may be sunk. And, following the recommendation of a submarine expert, rings, or loops should be placed on the outside of submarine hulls so that hawsers may be attached.

If any person thinks that District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell of Middlesex County is a "cream puff," that person should get the opinion of Hon. John P. Foehey or Hon. James H. Vanehey. These two gentlemen, noted for the polite way in which they have treated witnesses under cross-examination, are quite indignant over the rude manner of Mr. Bushnell in the Coady-Pelletier case at Cambridge. Mr. Bushnell, who is a resident of Waban, is gaining an enviable reputation for the competent and aggressive performance of the important office he holds.

Autoists are complaining of the fact that the newly installed traffic signals on Commonwealth avenue do not display the cautioning amber colored signals on the sides facing Centre, Walnut and Washington streets. The signals on their sides facing these three streets change from green to red, or vice versa, without passing through the intermediary amber warning signal. The result is—that autoists approaching the signals on the three streets mentioned frequently must jam on the brakes of their cars when the signals change quickly from green to red, and many near collisions have occurred because of the lack of the amber light being interposed between the stop and starting lights on the beams.

Mr. Francis L. Bacon read a Christmas story donated by President John B. Park of Wheaton College, entitled, "The Man Who Missed Christmas," at the meeting of the Fellowship Club last Monday evening. The tables were appropriately decorated by Walter S. Bruton, with red candles and Christmas greens. The fine reading of the story by Mr. Bacon added much to the enjoyment of those present. The club will not meet during the holidays but will hold the first meeting of the new year on Monday, January 2nd.

Five teams are tied for first place in the house bowling league at the Newton Y. M. C. A. The tournament is so close that almost any one of the twelve teams has a chance to win.

A young man walked into the General Secretary's office this week and said, "Here is a $10 bill to be used for some poor family for Christmas." It doesn't look as if the present generation of young men were as thoughtless as some people seem to think. This is not the first time that such an incident has occurred.

Invitations are being sent out to members and friends of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association for an Open House and New Year's Reception on Monday evening, January 2nd. There will be drills and games in the gymnasium, exhibitions of swimming in the pool by members of the Association, a concert in the lobby at seven o'clock by the Newton Constabulary Band, and a concert in the hall by the Boston Jubilee Singers the latter part of the evening. An invitation is extended to all those are interested in the Newton Y. M. C. A. to be present with their friends.

Christmas Parties take first place this week at the Y. W. C. A.

On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, The Triangle Club will conduct their party at the Rooms. This party will particularly interest the younger children.

On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, there will be another Christmas Party to which are cordially invited the Junior High School Girl Reserves, the Watertown Groups and the Arroyo Club from East Watertown. And on Friday evening, at 7:30, there is still another Christmas Party for the Grade School Girl Reserves. A very happy time may be anticipated at any one of these parties and all girls will find a hearty welcome.

The Watertown Girl Reserve Group meets every Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Union Church at West Watertown. On Friday, January 2nd, at 2:30 P. M. the Arroyo Club meets in the Armenian Centre in East Watertown. A hearty welcome ever awaits all girls interested in either of these groups.

On Saturday evening, January 7th, from 8 to 11 o'clock, there will be a Dancing Party, conducted by the Blue Triangle Club, at the Y. W. C. A. with music furnished by "The Melodians." Plan to come to this dance for a good time is assured one and all.

The Blue Triangle Club, consisting of business and professional women and girls, held their Christmas Party on Monday evening with a gayly trimmed Christmas tree. For their service work this month, the B. T. C. adopted a Christmas family of Mother and three little kiddies and are aturing them a really happy Christmas with a dinner, clothing, toys, and a dazlingly decorated tree. It is to be noted that the Y Rooms will be open Christmas week from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., but there will be no activities.

Aldermen Adopt Resolution To Ask Legislature For Pension Act

Lengthy Discussion On Contributory Pension System For City Employees Takes Up Large Part of Special Meeting

The report on the proposed retirement system for employees of the City of Newton presented by the special committee on pensions was virtually accepted by the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night. Following a long discussion in which Alderman Heathcote vainly attempted to secure postponement of action on this matter, the aldermen voted to pass the following resolve:

"Resolved:—That His Honor, the Mayor, and the City Solicitor petition for legislation to improve the efficiency of the public service of the City of Newton by the retirement of disabled and superannuated employees by means of an act in substance like the act proposed in the report of the Special Committee on Pensions."

This act proposes the establishment of a retirement fund which will be raised by contributions from both the city and the employees of the city. The proposed pension system will not be retroactive. Present employees of the city now eligible for pensions, such as policemen, firemen, school teachers and certain classes of city employees, will not be compelled to come under the provisions of the new system, unless they so desire. Persons who will enter the employ of the city in the future, will, if the act is authorized by the Legislature, become members of the retirement system and shall receive no pension or retirement allowance from any other pension or retirement system supported wholly or in part by the city of Newton. The school teachers will not come under the proposed new system as they are pensioned under a system controlled by the state.

Employees Contribute 4%

The retirement system will be financed by the employees contributing four per cent of their salaries or wages.

These contributions with the interest which will accumulate on the investments made therefrom will form an annuity fund.

The city will contribute to a pension fund amounts which will permit the accumulation of pension benefits which will equal the contributions of the employees and the interest thereon. The total pension allowable to any employee will not exceed 50% of the average salary for the last five years of service, nor in the case of an employee with 15 or more years of service shall it be less than an amount which added to the annuity shall equal $300 per annum.

An employee who has served twenty years may be retired for permanent disability with a pension equal to 90% of the pension he would receive had he continued in the service without change of compensation to age 60. If an employee is killed as a result of accident received in the performance of duty his beneficiaries shall receive the entire amount of his contributions and the interest thereon and a pension equal to one-half of his salary or wages. If an employee leaves the service of the city prior to retirement, the amount of his contributions, with interest will be returned to him. The city will bear the cost of administering the retirement system.

Mr. Whidden Not Opposed

When the matter of the pension report came up Tuesday night, Chairman Hinckley of the committee read a letter from ex-Alderman Stephen Whidden who had been quoted at a previous meeting as being opposed to the proposed retirement system and who had been invited to be present at the Tuesday night meeting. Mr. Whidden's letter thanked the aldermen for inviting him to be present, but as he had no detailed knowledge of the retirement system in operation in Boston, and his alleged objection to it was based on second-hand information, which had resulted from criticism by Elijah Alloway on the supposed large cost of such a system, he did not care to appear. Mr. Whidden expressed his full confidence in the work done by the special committee and he does not desire to be considered as opposing the proposed retirement act.

Wishes Further Study

Alderman Heathcote, whose Charter objection against the passing of the resolution favoring the report, while overruled at a special meeting on Thursday, December 22nd, was responsible for the matter being postponed for further consideration on Tuesday night, again objected to the adoption of the resolution. He urged that a matter of such importance should be referred to the Legislative Committee of the aldermen for detailed study.

Alderman Hinckley replied that several months ago he had asked City Solicitor Bartlett as to the necessity of the Legislative Committee of the aldermen passing on the details of the proposed retirement act and Mr. Bartlett had told him that it would not be necessary. Alderman Heathcote asked for a ruling from the City Solicitor, Vice President Madden of the Board, who had taken the chair (Continued on Page 4)

Committee Reports On Central Post Office

Interview With Postmaster Baker Brings Out Salient Points

Mr. Ernest G. Haggood, Chairman, Civic Division Newton Central Council.

Dear Mr. Haggood:

The committee appointed by you to investigate proposed changes in the handling of mail for Newton, reports as follows:

An interview with the head of the Boston Postal District, Roland M. Baker, and his Assistant in charge of Mails, Herbert N. Hanson, brought out these salient points:

1. No one of the ten post offices in Newton is to be discontinued or materially changed.
2. The carriers will go out on their routes from these ten post offices as heretofore.
3. Mail deposited in one of Newton's villages for delivery in that same village will be held in the post office of that village for delivery on the next trip of its carriers. For instance, mail collected at Newton Corner for distribution in Newton Corner will be held as at present in the Newton Corner post office until the next trip of its carriers.
4. Mail deposited in one of Newton's villages for distribution in another of its villages will not be delayed in delivery, i. e. mail deposited in Newton Corner for distribution in Newton Highlands will be delivered in Newton Highlands as soon as under present methods.
5. No mail coming into Newton from outside sources will arrive at the several Newton post offices later than by the present methods and much of such mail will arrive earlier.

The changes proposed by the postal authorities appear on the surface to be simple and not adverse to the best interests of the people of the City of Newton. They contemplate bringing all incoming mail to Newton Centre where it is to be sorted by Newton experts. These experts will be familiar with the streets of the entire city and know at a glance to what post office in the city a piece of mail should be dispatched. It is believed that for mail incorrectly or incompletely addressed, there will be a saving of from six to twenty-four hours. Also, all mail collected in the Newtons for distribution in some village of Newton other than where deposited, will be sorted at Newton Centre. Under present methods much of such mail goes into Boston and is sorted there and then returned to the various Newton post offices.

After sorting at Newton Centre the mail will be bundled ready for the carriers and taken by truck to the several Newton post offices. There the carriers will find this sorted and bundled mail awaiting them when they arrive to start out on their trips.

We are told by the postal authorities that methods such as are contemplated for Newton are being used with entire satisfaction throughout the Boston Postal District as well as the country at large. Such methods, therefore, will not be an experiment. The post office people firmly believe the service in Newton will be improved. Postmaster Baker authorizes your committee to say to the citizens of Newton that if on a sixty days trial, the new methods, which are to go into effect about May 1st, are not satisfactory to the Newton people, the "old order" will be restored. The authorities are endeavoring not to interfere with, but to improve the service in Newton by using methods tried and approved in other similarly located communities.

Your committee's suggestion is to co-operate with the postal authorities, having in mind Postmaster Baker's assurance that if, after a 60 days trial, it is shown to the good people of Newton that there has been an interference in service, changes will be made forthwith.

The report is signed by Sinclair Weeks, Edward A. Andrews and J. Earle Parker.

Postpone Changes In Building Laws

Chairman Madden of the Claims and Rules Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen made a progressive report at the meeting of the Board on Tuesday night on the matter of proposed changes in the Newton Building Code which will tend to lower the cost of construction in this city. The changes suggested are largely to permit the erection of apartment houses in this city. The report is opposed to any changes which will allow Newton to be overrun with apartment buildings. Mr. Madden moved that the matter of amending the Building Code be referred to the 1928 Board of Aldermen, and his request was agreed to by his fellow aldermen. He suggested that before any changes be made which will make it easier to build apartment structures in Newton, that the Zoning Law be changed so that the general residence zones will be abolished and shall be placed under the same restrictions applying to private residence zones. Under the existing Zoning Ordinance apartment buildings may be erected in any general residence zone. Mr. Madden suggested that this feature of the zoning ordinance be abolished and the erection of apartments be restricted to business and manufacturing zones, and to such parts of the city as may be expressly designated as apartment house zones.

Joint Meeting Of Two Civic Clubs

Rev. John Nicol Mark Speaks on "Touchstones of Success"

Over 150 members of the Newton Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs met Tuesday at the Woodland Golf Club in a "get together." President Cecil Clark of the Rotary Club welcomed the Kiwanians and President Clem Colburn of the Kiwanis Club extended greetings to the Rotarians. James P. Gallagher, the president-elect of the Kiwanis Club, was presented to the Rotarians.

The speaker of the day was Rev. John Nicol Mark of Arlington, who, before his address, had his listeners in roars of laughter with the many witty stories he told, most of which were at the expense of his own race, the Scotch. He took as the topic for his address "Touchstones of Success." Rev. Mr. Mark cited as real examples of men who, by wonderful self sacrifice, have achieved real success, Dr. Beecher, the X-ray expert of Johns Hopkins University, and a former service man named Bonnar, signally honored last year by the United States Congress when he visited the Capitol. Dr. Beecher has undergone almost unparalleled suffering because of experiments made for the benefit of humanity. Bonnar, who lost both arms and both eyes in the war, has despite the tremendous handicap, succeeded in his studies at the University of Maryland so that he will graduate from that institution the coming year.

The touchstone, Rev. Mr. Mark explained, is a black siliceous stone, used to test the purity of gold or silver by being rubbed against these metals. Great men who have attained notable success, his address showed, have not been those who merely accumulated much wealth, but men with visions, who gave their lives in rendering service to their fellows. He stressed the importance of attention to trifles and lauded service clubs such as Rotary and Kiwanis for striving to aid society and in promoting the brotherhood of mankind.

Highland Glee Club Carolers Tour City

Following its custom of many years, members of the Highland Glee club met early Christmas morning at Newton Highlands square and under the leadership of Mr. D. Ralph McLean and President George White made a tour of the city singing Christmas carols at numerous stops on the way. The principal places were the Peabody Home for Crippled children at Oak Hill, where the young folks were up at five o'clock to greet the singers. A beautiful breakfast was served at the home of Mr. William P. Underhill on Monadnock road, Chestnut Hill, followed by singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Liggett. At Newton carols were sung at the Pomroy Home and at other places in Newtonville and West Newton, the trip terminating at the Newton Hospital.

Francis L. Bacon Honored At Well Attended Reunion Of Alumnae

Mayor Childs and Mr. Bacon Principal Speakers at Second Gathering Under Alumni Association Auspices on Wednesday Evening

The reunion of the Newton High School Alumni Association on Wednesday evening in the new High School administration building was a huge success, over 400 past members of the school being in attendance. The gymnasium was attractively decorated with Christmas greens, and large banners bearing numbers indicated the location of the various classes. Mrs. William H. Park of Waltham, the oldest alumna of the school, had a booth to herself bearing the figures 1864. Mrs. Park was greeted by many of the older alumni. An enjoyable supper was served by the school cafeteria, the various classes being seated in numerical order.

After supper the party adjourned to the auditorium, where the High School band under the direction of Spaulding rendered a splendid program of music.

This was followed by a series of pictures of well known teachers, prominent alumni, groups of class teams in tennis, golf, track, baseball, basketball, football and hockey. There was also a series of statements showing what Newton graduates had done in college scholarship and athletics.

A vaudeville sketch in black face by Stanley Lyon '20 and Henry Pinkham '19 made quite a hit, a topical song of Newton High in '49 meeting with high favor.

Miss Florence Owen '21 accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Owen, then sang several selections and responded to a deserved call for an encore.

"Jake" Stafford was given a great ovation as he came on the stage for a fine demonstration of magic and legerdemain. He certainly had the audience guessing on his mind-reading stunt, in which he gives the correct answer to four different sums of figures apparently taken at random in the audience.

The more formal exercises of the occasion followed, with Mr. Maynard Hutchinson presiding and Mr. Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education, giving a short talk on the Newton High School of today.

In the course of his talk Mr. Bacon said that in 1859 when the Newton High School came into existence there were only 75 pupils and 3 teachers. There is no comparison with today's figures of 2300 pupils and more than 123 teachers and directors. The first ten years the school's curriculum consisted of Mathematics, Latin, Greek and Ancient History. As the years have gone by, more and more have been added until we have the present varied program. Mr. Bacon estimated the Newton High School as the best in New England. The situation is ideal because it is a residential and suburban district, because the intelligence of the people is better and their desires and ambitions are greater. In closing his talk he said that the Newton High School needed many things, but the thing it needs most is the abiding interest of those who have received the best it had, The Alumni, so that in the years to come it will be a greater and better school.

Mayor Childs was then introduced and presented Mr. Bacon with a beautifully decorated testimonial which had been written by Mr. S. Warren Davis and prepared by Mr. Ralph C. Henry.

Mayor Childs said in part: "I think that Mr. Bacon has been an ideal citizen. His public spirit, patriotism and honesty have stood among the highest. He came here to unify our high school and he has done it and he has shared the glory of it with those who helped." Turning to Mr. Bacon he said, "For all these things we thank you. All the clubs will miss you. I believe that there is a call in education as in the ministry, it comes from God and I think some day you are coming back to Newton. We all appreciate the influence of your friendship and the power of your life. I wish for you an abundance of love and wealth as that is what you have poured into the hearts of the people who have known and loved you."

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLEBOM

PROPOSE SCHOOL TENNIS TOURNEY

A State interscholastic tennis tourney for high schools is being contemplated some time during the month of May 1928 by the Newton High School Athletic Association. Wendell F. Smith, coach of Newton high tennis for the past few years has written many of the leading high schools regarding the tournament and is awaiting replies so that preliminary plans may then be made.

For several years past there have been a number of so-called interscholastic tennis tournaments held each spring, notably the Harvard and Yale events. But all of these tournaments are participated in by players and teams representing various preparatory schools with the result that many high schools do not enter their teams because of the competition they must meet from far more experienced racket wielders. This is one of Coach Smith's reasons for believing that the exclusive high school affair will be much more popular. Inasmuch as Newton has entered its team in the Harvard tournament yearly and the players have usually ranked well up in the standing both as individuals and as a team the proposed tourney will probably be staged so as not to conflict with that at Cambridge. Last year the Newton team was in a triple tie with Columbia Grammar School of New York and New Preparatory of Cambridge in the Harvard tourney.

May Form Tennis League

The Newton high mentor has also written the high schools in Greater Boston in an effort to obtain the general opinion upon the formation of a High School Tennis League. It is expected that inside of two weeks it will be determined whether or not this plan is feasible. The league suggestion has been offered to Brookline, Waltham, Everett, Cambridge Latin, Medford, Malden, Melrose, Arlington, Stoneham, Belmont, Watertown, Quincy, Winchester, Lowell, Concord, Dorchester, Boston English, and Jamaica Plain high schools. The Boston high schools, went into tennis recently on a large scale and have developed a number of promising players. Whether or not the three last named schools would consider extending the sport into a league with the others is not yet known. Leading exponents of tennis in the state are unanimous in their opinion that such a league for high schools would be an excellent thing for the participants as well as the game. It cannot help but build better players for future senior competition. While there are a number of present junior tennis players who rank high in the game the number of youthful stars who are coming out of the middle and far west is mounting with surprising rapidity.

In scholastic competition Newton high ranks high in tennis just as it does in hockey, track, football, golf and other sports. It numbers among its alumnae several former titleholders of more or less prominence. The present Massachusetts state singles champion, Lawrence B. Rice, of Newton Centre, who won that honor in 1926 and repeated this year, formerly represented the orange and black on the courts.

Malcolm Hill, captain of the Harvard freshman team last spring and member of the Harvard-Yale team that played in England and France last summer is a Newton high graduate. Henry L. Johnson, Jr., a cousin of Hill's, and another Newton high athlete, has also won several titles. Hill and Johnson, as a doubles team, are present holders of the Men's State Doubles title which is but one of the long list of honors they have held in the past five years including the national junior championship. Johnson is now at Dartmouth and should make his name in collegiate tennis circles.

Donald Martin, Boston University captain last spring, won the City of Boston men's singles title last summer and paired with Abbott Gotshall, still another Newton high graduate, won the City of Boston doubles a few days later. In the singles Martin defeated Gotshall in the final match for the title. Karl Hartzell of the 1924 Newton high team played a prominent part in winning the Little Three title for Wesleyan University last May as a member of the Connecticut tennis team.

The orange and black team which made such a creditable showing last spring was composed of some of the best schoolboy players in the East. Arthur Noble was the foremost member of the team. He won the Canadian junior championship at the Ontario lawn tournament this summer and was a finalist on the North Shore event for juniors. In this latter tourney he met John Richardson of New York for the third successive year in the finals which the New Yorker won in five sets. Charles Parker is another leading member of last year's school team along with George Scott and Robert Turner, a cousin of Malcolm Hill and Henry Johnson, all of whom played in several junior tournaments. Donald Broughton, Edgar Warren and Gordon Naylor were also members of the team. Naylor won the school title last spring by defeating Arthur Marshall in the finals. He also won the championship of the summer colony at Megansett. With a number of these star players still attending Newton high prospects for another stellar season are excellent.

SPORT NOTES

Expect Fast Game

At the Arena tonight George Owen will lead his University Club sextet against the University of Toronto varsity hockey team, holders of the Canadian collegiate championship since 1915. The visitors always furnish thrills when they swing into action and their wide-open style will be an interesting change from the defensive style of the professionals. George Owen, Clark Hodder, Sam Ferguson, Horace Cole and Ted Learnard all local youths, will have their work cut out for them in attempting to penetrate the Canadians' defense and in stopping their speedy attack.

Stubbs Playing Centre

Frank Stubbs, Jr., is playing centre ice on the New Preparatory School hockey team this winter. Wednesday afternoon the Cambridge team battled with the Concord Town hockey club at Crosby's Pond in Concord for 45 minutes with neither team caging the puck.

Our Lady High Wins

The basketball team of Our Lady High School hung up its fourth straight win of the season Wednesday afternoon on the local court by trouncing the St. Anselm's Prep school freshman five, 76 to 31. Burke at centre was the individual star for Our Lady with ten baskets from the floor. Lane, left forward and McLean, right forward, followed closely with nine field goals each. The local players did not cage a single goal from the foul line. Barry, who relieved Lane, scored five goals while he was in the game. Callahan, right guard for the visitors, was the leading scorer for St. Anselm's with six goals from the floor and two on free tries for a total of fourteen points.

Coming of Famous Russian Choir Is Creating Much Interest

Two Concerts to be Given Next Week in High School Auditorium

The two great concerts already noticed in these columns, by the Russian Symphonic Choir, are already commanding much attention through the Newtons. Many prominent people are on the list of patronesses, and these report a great deal of interest among all kinds of people. This is very natural, since the programs of this great chorus appeal not only to the musician but also to the simplest music lover. Who will not wish to hear the lovely Russian folk songs (especially that familiar and beautiful Song of the Volga Boatmen) sung by the famous Russian male voices? Many another song, familiar, and also many new to us, will be given. This choir is famous throughout Europe and recently is becoming known in our great cities. And while there are other fine choirs, doing lovely work, the Russian Choir has its own quality, very different in its effects from any other, and not to be missed by anyone who desires to experience the best in all artistic and interesting.

The date of the choir's appearances in Assembly Hall, High School, Newtonville, is Friday the thirteenth—a lucky day for once, at least. Do not let your young people fail to hear the hour of beautiful music to be given them (at a very low rate) in the afternoon at 4 o'clock. And do not yourself miss the evening concert, at 8:15.

Y. M. C. A.

The members of the Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. held a bowling tournament Friday morning, December 23rd, with results as follows—Highest average won by William Barba, Second highest average by Edwin Weidig, highest single string by Jean Fredey. The prizes were furnished by several Newton Corner business men, namely F. H. Franklin, grocer, National Market, Wilson Bros., Manhattan Tailoring Co. and Newton Public Market.

The Boys' Division Christmas Social was held on Friday night with an entertainment furnished by members of the Junior B class consisting of a short play entitled, "When Calvin Joined the Y," also several humorous dialogues and finally the Christmas picture in tableaux. Refreshments were served at the close.

The Employed Boys' Christmas social was held on Saturday night in front of a fire in the open fireplace. The program consisted of stunts, stories, anecdotes and refreshments.

At each of these socials the boys brought in a small gift and instead of receiving a gift from the basket the boys voted to give their gifts to the Red Cross to be sent to the children in the Vermont flood district.

On Wednesday members of the Boys' Division went on an educational trip to the Boston Manufacturing Co. at Waltham where they were very courteously shown the entire manufacturing of cloth from the raw cotton. On Friday, December 30, the boys are going to visit the plant of Ginn & Co., publishers of school text books, in Cambridge.

REAL CHRISTMAS SERVICE

The band of the Newton Chapter Order of DeMolay rendered a real Christmas service last Sunday by giving the inmates at the Newton Hospital a program of Christmas carols. Later they played from the steps of the Newtonville Methodist Church and then visited the John A. Andrew home on Washington park, Newtonville. The weather was cold for outdoor playing but the boys stuck to their work to the very end.

Progress Made In Improvement Of City Water Supply This Year

Alderman Bail, Chairman of Special Water Committee, Presents Report at Meeting Tuesday Night

Alderman Bail, who has been chairman of the Special Committee on Water, had a report prepared to present to the Board at its final meeting on Tuesday night. This report told of the progress made the past year in improving Newton's water supply. It was 11:40 Tuesday night before Mr. Bail had an opportunity to read his report and when he started his fellow members on the Board of Aldermen looked startled at the probable prospect of remaining at City Hall until the wee hours of Wednesday morning. But it took Mr. Bail less than ten minutes to read his report, which is reprinted here, and no discussion followed.

At this time it might be well to give the Board a short synopsis of what has been done this year in the program of better and more water supply. As you are aware the 48" wooden conduit on the water lands was given a thorough cleaning out and results shown at the pumping station have proved that this undertaking was worth while. It, of course, did not remedy the evil, but the large amount of residue, which had accumulated in this conduit for the last thirty years, was all taken out and since that job was completed the amount of material caught on the screen at the pumping station is very much less than previously. Before this work was done, it was found necessary to pull these screens every few hours, now that is not the case. The wells at the pumping station have been given a thorough inspection and new cement work done where found necessary. These wells have also been covered over with a heavy matched timber flooring eliminating any possibility of dust or dirt settling into the wells from above. The new well on the water lands was put into operation in August and is working satisfactorily although we are not getting as large a supply from this well as was anticipated. It was hoped that we might get 2 to 3 million gallons a day but tests show about 1½ millions. It must be borne in mind that this amount of water is not an increased amount over what we were getting before, as we were getting a part of this same supply before but it was through channels which were not satisfactory. How much real increase this well is giving is hard to determine, but it is known that the water now furnished is of much better quality and that the program so far carried through has been warranted. The old cement conduit carrying the water from the old well to the junction manhole has been replaced by a new cast iron tight line, which line joins the tight cast iron line running from the new well so that now all water coming to us from above Kendrick street is coming from these two wells and is being pumped through tight lines, each joint in these lines being tested to 30 lbs. pressure. The employees of the Water Department deserve praise for the part they have taken in this work especially, that work which had to do with the cleaning of the wooden conduit, for they worked under very trying conditions.

About 60 thousand feet of street mains were cleaned during 1927 using the same method as was used in 1926; results have proved conclusively that this program should be continued until all lines in the City, practical to clean by this method, are cleaned.

70 hydrants have been installed, 35 of these at locations on old streets as recommended by the Chief of the Fire Department and the balance on new streets.

With the $500 appropriated by the Board this year for test wells the eight tests taken were disappointing and results at these eight points would not warrant the driving of a new well at any of these points.

The Board is familiar with the fact that work is now going on with hopes of increasing our present supply but at this date your Committee has no report to make. The result from this test will determine part of the program for 1928.

The following matters will without doubt have to come up for consideration during the next year. Eliminating the 48" wooden conduit, replacing same with a tight iron line, building one or two new wells in the territory which now supplies the wooden conduit, installing one or two electrical driven units at the present pumping station or if considered feasible at a new location. As mentioned before more 6" and 8" street mains should be cleaned.

We, at this time, wish to thank the Board for the hearty support given the Committee on this program and also the hearty co-operation of His Honor the Mayor.

STUDEBAKER

The Great Independent

—asks those who appreciate the expression of genius in fine motor cars to read this story of

THE NEW PRESIDENT STRAIGHT EIGHT

100 Horsepower • $1985 f. o. b. Detroit

For seventy-six years Studebaker has worked for, and has pleased, a clientele appreciative of quality.

Quality plus Value

During the past ten years Studebaker has built and equipped new foundries, forge shops, stamping plants, machine shops, power houses, dry kilns, body plants, etc., to provide for the production of fine motor cars on a One-Profit basis. Studebaker quality has been made available at prices genuinely low, and thus, to traditional quality, One-Profit value has been added.

Quality plus Value plus Genius

During the past two years Studebaker's engineering department has become recognized as one of the most brilliant in the industry. D. G. Roos, Chief Engineer (formerly chief engineer for Pierce-Arrow, Locomobile, and Marmon), and W. S. James, Research Engineer (formerly section chief of the United States Bureau of Standards), lead a group of skilled engineers and scientists. These technicians have the use of research laboratories, mechanical facilities and a million-dollar proving ground. Phenomenal results accomplished are reflected in the performances of Studebaker and Erskine cars:

—the Studebaker Commander, the World's Champion Car, which earned the title by running 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes—nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast;

—the Studebaker Dictator, which established new endurance and speed records for stock cars listing below $1400 by running 24 hours at an average of 61.795 m. p. h.;

—the Erskine Six, the European type car which during 1927 invaded the export markets of the world with unprecedented success;

—the new American Edition of the Erskine Six now being introduced in the United States. In October this car established new 24-hour endurance and speed records for stock cars priced below $1000.

Studebaker holds every official endurance and speed record for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price.

Thus, to the traditional quality and to the One-Profit value of Studebaker cars, has been added—unsurpassed engineering and manufacturing genius.

All this quality—all this value—
—all this genius now finds its highest expression in the eight-cylinder President sedans with which Studebaker greets the new year.

It was two years ago that the development of an eight-cylinder car was begun by Studebaker. Orders were to design, if possible, the finest eight-cylinder car in the world regardless of cost. When satisfied that this objective had been substantially attained, preparation was made to produce this car of superlative luxury and power on a basis of One-Profit volume production never before enjoyed by a car of similar size and quality.

A One-Profit Car

The PRESIDENT STRAIGHT EIGHT is Studebaker made throughout—body, engine, springs, gears, axles, transmission, forgings, stampings, gray iron castings—all made by Studebaker in Studebaker plants.

Power at a One-Profit Price

The President Eight develops 100 brake horsepower. No car which equals it in rated horsepower (according to the ratings of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Society of Automotive Engineers) sells for less than double its price. So much value has been built into The President Straight Eight that it can be compared only with cars selling for $4000 and upward.

The President Eight, even the 7-passenger sedan, will exceed seventy miles per hour indefinitely in the hands of any driver.

Speed with Safety

The President Eight offers not only sustained high speed, but speed with safety, due to full vision, welded steel body, low center of gravity and amplified-action, four-wheel brakes.

After the first thousand miles oil changes and chassis lubrication are needed only at 2500-mile intervals.

The President Eight is so built and broken in that it may be driven forty miles per hour the first day it is on the road.

These features testify to advanced engineering and precision manufacture.

Why the Prices Are Low

And the prices—$1985 for the Regular Sedans (five or seven passenger), $2250 for the State Sedans (five or seven passenger), $2450 for the Limousine—testify to One-Profit manufacture and to the following operating economies which make Studebaker supreme in value:

Studebaker's overhead, commercial and financial organization and expenses are lower per car than those of most manufacturers.

All of Studebaker's principal officers, executives and engineers live in South Bend in daily contact with each other.

Studebaker's capital stock structure is lower per dollar of assets and its $5.00 dividend charge is lighter upon the Corporation's treasury than any but one of its principal competitors.

Studebaker never takes an abnormal profit of from 15% to 20% of the public's dollar but has been satisfied with an average of 10.6% profits for the past sixteen years.

You can pay double the price of The President Eight without receiving more in honest quality.

What Price Genius?

But no matter how much you pay you cannot match the genius which finds expression in The President Eight, the genius which made The Commander known as "the greatest post-war achievement of automotive engineering."

An illustrated booklet descriptive of The President Eight will be sent from South Bend on request, but only by seeing and driving these magnificent cars can you appreciate what beauty, comfort, safety and performance are offered at One-Profit prices.

The special committee on Pensions of the aldermen deserves the congratulations of the residents of this city for the thorough consideration it has given this important subject. With rapidly mounting appropriations for noncontributory pensions, now reaching the neighborhood of $100,000 annually, it is evident that the present haphazard method should be replaced by a system which would be fair both to the taxpayer and to the employee. Having had some direct experience while a member of the Legislature with drafting the present Boston pension law, the editor is confident that the plan proposed by the special committee is in accordance with modern scientific thought on this subject and we trust the city government will authorize its presentation to the incoming Legislature.

The reunion of the High School alumni gave excellent opportunities for meetings of old friends and stories of our school days. "Auld Lang Syne" was the keynote of the occasion.

The Highland Glee Club deserves the heartfelt thanks of our citizens for keeping up the custom of singing carols on Christmas morning. Long may it continue to do so.

May you all have a Happy and most prosperous New Year.

PENSION REPORT ACCEPTED

at the request of President Weeks, informed the Ward 4 alderman that Mr. Bartlett was not present. Alderman Weeks took the floor and stated that the rules of the Board distinctly cover the question which Mr. Heathcote desired to ask the City Solicitor and the rules can be suspended by the Board. He called attention to the fact that the alderman at their special meeting on December 19 understood that the Special Committee on Pensions intended to seek favorable action on their report at the meeting to be held on Tuesday. Any action to throw it back to another committee would tend to take it from this year's Board. The Special Committee on pensions had given thorough consideration to the matter, assisted by experts, and the Legislative Committee could not further clarify it. A number of hearings will be held for more mature study.

Rules Suspended

Mr. Heathcote averred he had no desire to unduly obstruct the passage of the proposed pension act but he was opposed to having it railroaded through. He claimed that the city employees had not been given the proper opportunity to study the proposed pension act and to offer suggestions. He expressed surprise that the City Solicitor was not present to answer questions and he criticized the Board for bringing on a high-priced expert from New York at the preceding meeting, and then using a large part of the meeting to discuss other matters without affording the members of the Board an opportunity to question this expert.

Alderman Hinckley refuted Mr. Heathcote's assertion "that the city employees had not been given a chance to be heard on the pension matter." He stated that notices had been sent to the employees inviting them to attend two hearings on the matter; that some had come and those who did not had no justifiable complaint. Alderman Weeks stated "that three meetings on the proposed pension act have been held within ten days." He expressed the opinion that the only object of the alderman from Ward 4 (Mr. Heathcote) was to prevent the passage of the resolution favoring the act by the 1927 Board. He asserted that Mr. Heathcote had ample opportunity to suggest at the previous meetings that the matter be referred to the Legislative Committee for consideration. He moved that the rules be suspended to allow action on the resolution and his motion was carried. Alderman Heathcote being the only member to vote in the negative.

Consider Each Section

The Ward 4 member then asked that each section of the proposed act be considered separately, and Vice President Madden, who was in the chair called for discussion on each individual section. Mr. Heathcote called attention to a number of sections which he found flaws in. Among these was the section which specified that pension payments will be paid monthly, instead of weekly, as desired by four-fifths of the employees now pensioned. Another contention by the Ward 4 member was "that all the funds of the proposed retirement system be deposited in a bank doing business in Newton rather than in Boston banks." Alderman Hinckley and Collins, while lauding the Newton Trust Company, stated it will be impracticable to deposit all the retirement funds in one bank because of the provisions of the proposed act.

Alderman Heathcote next advocated some provision being incorporated in the pension act so that any employee of some other city of town who might be sent to Newton to assist here would be protected or have his beneficiaries protected. He referred to the man from Wellesley who was killed while responding with Hose 3 of that town to a false alarm at Lower Falls recently. He stated that this man was a member of the Wellesley Fire Department.

Alderman Gallagher, who as associate medical examiner for this district, acted in this official capacity when the Wellesley man was killed, contradicted Mr. Heathcote and stated that the victim was not a member of the Wellesley Fire Department, that he was riding on the fire truck at his own risk, and legally was a trespasser, so that his dependents had no claim against either Newton or Wellesley. The Ward 4 member replied that he had been informed on good authority that the man was a member of the Wellesley department, and that his word was as good as Alderman Gallagher's. The latter retorted "that he had passed on this matter for the State of Massachusetts, that he had been informed by the Chief of the Wellesley Fire Department that the victim was not a member of that department, and he told Mr. Heathcote, 'your word is not as good as mine on this matter.'"

Other minor changes were suggested, most of which met with the approval of Chairman Hinckley, who remarked "that all the details will be thoroughly considered by the Legislative Committee of next year's Board of Aldermen and at hearings which will be held."

Alderman Pitts moved that the Board adopt the resolution and his motion was seconded by Alderman Grebenstein. The motion was passed unanimously.

GIRL SCOUTS

Christmas festivities held sway at almost all of the Newton Girl Scout troop meetings last week. Some troops gave dinner parties, others had just plain parties with ice cream and cake, but one and all were alike in one respect, they all had for their guest of honor Santa Claus himself with his bag of Christmas gifts.

Newton and Auburndale held forth on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Day the Newton Commissioner and Miss Freeman, the Newton Director as their guests as well as Santa Claus. The Nonantum seniors had their party on Monday evening. On Tuesday afternoon the West Newton junior troops filled Santa's pack to overflowing with presents for the children in the Newton Hospital and the Peabody Home and for the Newton Welfare Bureau. Tuesday evening Santa Claus appeared at the Upper Falls with presents for every girl in Troops 7 and 17 as well as useful and ornamental gifts for the new Girl Scout headquarters in Newtonville. On the way home from this party the visiting Girl Scout officials forestalled the fire department by extinguishing a lusty brush fire on Needham street. Thursday evening found 12 little girls from Nonantum enjoying supper and a visit from Santa Claus with Troop 10, Newtonville. The other Newtonville troops had their parties with stunts and Santa Claus on Monday and Friday. Waban Seniors and Nonantum juniors, having the same captain, combined their parties on Friday afternoon in Waban and every girl received a present from Santa's pack after an afternoon spent in playing games and watching a magician perform. Friday evening the Newton Highlands troops gave a supper party for their fathers and mothers at the Episcopal Church, and here again Mrs. Day and Miss Freeman were guests of honor as well as our hard worked Santa Claus.

Newton Girl Scouts had a very merry time during the week before Christmas, but they found time to think about others as well as themselves. Many troops carried Christmas dinners to those who were in poorer circumstances than themselves. One troop sent flowers and fruit to the flower mission in Boston and others took clothing and food to the Newton Welfare Bureau. A number of girls from Troop 1, Newtonville, and Troop 10, Newtonville, on Thursday and Friday afternoons helping to carry in the bundles of presents that were received there in such profusion. Other Girl Scouts loaned their motor cars for distributing presents to the Peabody Home and the Hospitals.

Mr. Bacon then held an informal reception and greeted many of his friends on the stage.

LARGE NEW BLOCK AT NEWTON

Excavation work is proceeding rapidly for a new building which will occupy the whole front of the Bacon estate on Washington street, Newton, between Bacon and Peabody streets. The new building will be 168 feet in length, two stories in height and will cost between $125,000 and $150,000. On the first floor it will contain about twelve stores, depending in number on the size required by tenants. One of these stores will front on Peabody street. Several desirable tenants have already leased stores in the proposed structure. On the second floor will be fifteen modernly equipped offices.

The building will be quite similar in appearance and construction to those built at West Newton by Bennett Rockman and it will be a very attractive addition to Newton Corner's business section. The purchasers of the Bacon estate, the Newton Mortgage Corporation, yesterday signed agreements of sale with a building syndicate who will take over the property. The Newton Mortgage Corporation will finance the building and thus assure that the plans to give Newton a fine new business building will be carried through.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Alderman John Madden of Ward 1, who retires this year after ten years of notable service on the Board, has established a record for intelligent, honest effort in behalf of his fellow citizens that will hardly be surpassed in the future.

The commendable practice of illuminating houses at Christmas time is increasing rapidly in Newton. Also the practice of illuminating living Christmas trees on grounds surrounding Newton homes. Many beautifully decorated evergreens twinkled with varied colored lights to spread good cheer to residents of this city and to persons who might be travelling through this community. Those who go to expense in thus emphasizing the season of Christmas deserve the appreciation of their fellow citizens. One of the most attractively decorated estates in Newton is that of Mrs. Florence K. Ross at 414 Walnut street, Newtonville.

The work on the Centre street bridge at Newton Corner is nearly completed. The structural work on the bridge has been repaired and replaced and new sidewalks laid.

The new number plates on automobiles are being received by many thousands who waited until the 11th hour to register. The plates are ornamented by a representation of a fish which is supposed to be the sacred cod of Massachusetts but which looks more like a minnow.

Mayor Blah of Lynn, according to the press, issued a proclamation to the dogs of that city. Perhaps the dogs will understand him.

Tenants in the Elliot Block have received notices to vacate by the first of the year and are preparing to do so. The Central Wrecking Company will start to tear down the big building right after the New Year.

"Keeping one's self physically fit" was the message which Miss Jennie Ireson sought to convey to thousands of pupils in the Newton schools for many years. If her former pupils had followed her instructions perhaps they might have to some degree, remained as youthful as Miss Ireson, although her unflinching good nature is to a considerable extent responsible for the fact that she refuses to grow old. Miss Ireson was one of those who attended the reunion of the High School alumni on Wednesday evening and looked on with interest and pleasure at the sight of the old Newton schools about a half a century ago."

SCHOOL NOTES

Warren Junior High School. Instead of the regular Bible reading, Miss Bragg told the Christmas story.

Miss Bragg told us the story "This Way to Christmas," by Ruth Sawyer. David, the little boy, went to a mountain to stay with friends while his mother and father were away. The few people that lived on the mountainside were not friendly. David became friends with them and by the Christmas spirit brought the occupants of the mountain into closer friendship.

Pupils of the Warren Junior High presented Dickens' "Christmas Carol." This was acted very well and enjoyed greatly.

Curtis Beach, editor of the Transmitter, presented banners to rooms 205, 204 and 203. These were the rooms that obtained 100 per cent. subscribers for the Transmitter.

COMING EVENTS

Christian Era Study Club

Miss Susie C. Johnson will give a paper on the subject "The Federalist Essays," and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew one on "Hamilton," at the next meeting of the Christian Era Study Club on January 9, continuing their study of the "Founding of a Government"—our own. Mrs. Drew is also hostess for that date, at her home 324 Central street. Members should note that the meeting has been postponed a week from the date listed, due to the New Year holiday.

Auburndale Review Club

"Poetry and Drama" is the interesting subject for the next meeting of the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday, January 3. The business meeting begins at 10 o'clock, with Mrs. Charles E. Valentine hostess at 362 Wolcott street. Mrs. W. H. Blood will read a paper on "Henrik Ibsen," Mrs. Susan F. Tuttle will give a reading from Ibsen, and Mrs. Robert H. Aborn will read a paper on "August Strindberg and Verner von Heidenstam. These continue the new study topic begun at the last meeting on "Scandinavian Literature."

Newtonville Woman's Club

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will give one of her popular lectures "Braids and Bobs" at the next regular meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club, which falls on Tuesday, January 3, at 2:30 o'clock, in Central Congregational Church. Music will be arranged by Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, and tea will follow. The Club is fortunate to claim Mrs. Palmer as one of their own members, and her topic is indicative of her delightful sense of humor. This is balanced always in her lectures by a keynote of inspiration that sends the hearer away satisfied in every way.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club

After the brief holiday recess, Club activities will be resumed Tuesday, when members will meet for a regular meeting and lecture—this time to gain scientific knowledge of the world we live in. Prof. Kirtley F. Mather, chairman of the Department of Geology and Geography at Harvard, is to be the lecturer, taking as his topic "Old Mother Earth."

During the business session preceding the lecture, there is to be an informal discussion of the Club's endorsement of legislative bills, although no vote on the matter will be taken until the following meeting, thus giving members ample time for due consideration of the matter.

Mrs. Herbert O. Steeves, chairman of the Music Committee, is to supply a musical program at the opening of the meeting and the Philanthropic Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. G. G. Sherman, is to conduct the third in its series of food sales.

Rehearsals of the Club Chorus are to be resumed Friday morning, January 6, when members will meet in the workshop at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Florence Hale Ginn is to conduct, as in former years, and the accompanist will again be Mrs. Lucy Simonds.

Social Science Club

The meeting on Wednesday morning, January 4, is a business one for the Social Science Club at Hunnewell Club, at 10 o'clock. The hostesses are Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett and Mrs. Louis Stoughton Drake. Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Twelfth District director, will be a guest of honor.

West Newton Community Service Club

On Wednesday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, the members of the West Newton Community Service Club meet for their annual sewing bee, and over their thimbles and baskets much needed articles for such public organizations as the Red Cross and the Hospital. They carry box lunches, and the Hospitality Committee adds to this hot coffee, which is served at noon. The Sewing Committee is made up of Mrs. A. J. Steadman, chairman, and Mrs. Gardner I. Jones and Miss Mary Elder, and the plans they have made for the usefulness of their generous fellow members on the date set will add materially to the comfort and provisions of various community needs.

On Friday morning, the 6th, at 10:40 o'clock, those who have purchased tickets for the popular Current Events Course, will once more hear Mrs. Claude U. Gilson present the latest in world news.

The Parish House of Unitarian Church is the place of both meetings.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Mr. John Herman Randall, a psychologist of note, has a most fascinating topic to present to members of the Auburndale Woman's Club at their next regular meeting which will be held on January 5, at the Auburndale Club House, at 2:30 o'clock—"The Development of Personality." The results of the instructions will be watched with interest. There will be songs by the Chorus as a further attraction to the program.

Newton Community Club

Mrs. J. A. Moyer's interesting course story and music of the various operas that will be sung in Boston this season is attracting members of the Newton Community Club. The first will be held on Friday, January 6th, and Mrs. Moyer will be glad to answer inquiries, and to learn how many she must plan to accommodate.

Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands

The next meeting of the Shakespeare Club will be held on Saturday afternoon, the 7th, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bicknell, 84 Erie avenue, at 2:15 o'clock. The program is in charge of Mrs. Mary C. Blakemore, who will review Macbeth, a stimulating and absorbing method of making one's own work of dramatic art and power.

State Federation

RADIO. Next Wednesday, at WNAO, is the State Federation's second birthday—a gala occasion when listeners-in may hear Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, General Federation director, who is the guest of honor, at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Smith's first broadcast was delivered just a year ago and her "Anniversary Reminiscences" are in anticipation.

A twenty minute musicale is to be given by the famous concert group from the Women's Symphony orchestra.

CLUB INSTITUTES. At the Hotel Vendome on Thursday morning, the 5th, a most interesting Committee meeting on Club Institutes is planned for 10 o'clock to which not only the committee is bidden, but all interested Club members. Over one hundred attended the last meeting of this sort, proving its popularity. In the illness of the chairman, Mrs. Walker, the vice chairman, Mrs. Nathaniel Smith, known to Clubwomen as the efficient chairman of meetings, will preside. The general topic for the morning will be "Co-operation of Women's Clubs with Other Organizations." Mrs. Edwin L. Pridie will present the subject "Girl Scouts." Mrs. Dexter Goodwin, president of the New Bedford Woman's Club, will present the "Y. W. C. A." Mrs. George F. Nudd, president of the Auburndale Woman's Club, will present "Junior Membership." Mrs. Charles Homer, president of the Quincy Woman's Club, will present "Visiting Nurse Association."

Mrs. Seldon E. Jaynes, president of the Brightelmstone Club, will present the "Forum," as a force. Mrs. Hollis Webster of Lexington will present "Parent Teachers Association." Mrs. George M. Hosmer, of the Somerville Woman's Club, will present "Co-operation of the Women's Clubs of the Same City or Town." Miss Frances Mayer will talk on her own Committee work—Social and Industrial Relations. Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett will speak on "General Community Work." The discussions, therefore, as can be seen, will be an all-around description of the many sources of community efforts, that should explain vague questions as to their interests, and give balance to the presentation.

MRS. POOLE. Clubwomen who have followed the career of Mrs. Poole, heard her always fascinating lectures on Current Events from a few years back, seen her upon the platform as chief lady of the State Federation, and now wished her Godspeed in her higher glories in the National organization, may find the following biography just sent out from the Department of Press, of interest.

In presenting Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole as candidate for first vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Biennial in San Antonio, Texas, in June, Massachusetts offers her "favorite daughter." As past president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, as past president of her home Club of Brockton, Massachusetts, as present recording secretary of the General Federation, Mrs. Poole has indeed proved herself. Born in Wakefield, Mass., in 1880, educated in the public schools of Manchester, N. H., and graduated from the Salem, Mass. Normal School, it is perhaps with pardonable pride that New England claims Grace Morrison Poole for its own. Before her marriage she taught four years. Then began her interest in Club activities. She served, too, on the executive boards of nearly all the civic organizations of her home city, as well as for six years on the school committee.

Upon the death of her husband she entered the lecture field, specializing in current history, her favorite subject. Now, in her fifteenth year, she averages 200 lectures a year, and well may she boast that in all these years she has missed but three engagements.

System is the secret of Mrs. Poole's success. Every minute of her waking hours is budgeted. There is a very definite place in her life for her profession, her housekeeping, her recreation, her music, her religion. Keeping fit for her job is a point of honor. In her own words—"Any server of the public must keep herself fit to serve the public; she has no right to take it out of the public." And so her daily life is ordered accordingly.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The West Newton Women's Educational Club's meeting on Friday, December 23rd, in the Unitarian Parish House was in the form of a Christmas Party, given to 12 Newton children. After a brief business meeting the program, in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Cunningham, opened with the singing of "Joy to the World" by all present. Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis then entertained the children with her stories. Her story of the farmyard and the imitations of the various barnyard animals amused them greatly. This was followed by several Christmas stories. Miss Dorothy Brackett entertained with two interesting dances, called "The Old and the New," which consisted of the old and ever beautiful "minuet" and the new and modern "Blackbottom." Mrs. Arthur Campbell sang most delightfully two little French Christmas songs which greatly pleased the audience. The program closed with the singing of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

Suddenly bells were heard and in burst Santa Claus with his hearty greetings of "Merry Christmas" to everyone. How happy everyone was to see him, especially the children to whom he brought gifts of toys, candy and useful articles! Everyone present was presented with a box of "Crackerjacks" which were donated by Mrs. George H. Jackson. After a great deal of laughter and fun, Santa Claus, played so successfully and enthusiastically by Mr. Fred M. Blanchard, departed for other regions. To complete the joyous occasion, refreshments were served to the children at an attractively decorated table, while the "grownups" were served tea and cakes.
